Couple (82) viciously attacked in security complex

A couple was viciously attacked and hit over their heads with a crowbar in their home on a security estate in Broederstroom last week.

Frans and Lies Tuinder, both 82, were surprised by an intruder in their home in Pebble Lane in Pecanwood around 22:00 on Wednesday night.

"They were watching television and my mother went up to the bathroom. My father heard a crash and my mother cried out. When he got to the bathroom, he saw her lying in a pool of blood on the floor and when he bent down to attend to her, he was also hit over the head with a crowbar," the couple's son-in-law, Ken Sharp, told Kormorant this week.

"The robber tied them up with cable ties and demanded that Frans open the safe, which he did. He then took his time going through and ransacking the house. According to Frans it was about two hours before the robber left with cash, jewellery, iPads, laptops, cellphones and a digital camera," he said.

After the robber left, Frans drove to the estate security for help.

"He had sustained a serious head wound, but he still managed to get to the security office and back," Ken said.

When the ambulance and police arrived, Lies and Frans were rushed to hospital.

"Lies sustained a fractured skull, haemorrhaging and bruising of the brain. She was in the intensive care unit until Tuesday. It is possible that her speech may be impaired as a result of the injuries," he said.

No arrests have been made.

Lies Tuinder in ICU after the vicious attack last week.

Another pedestrian robbed at gunpoint

Another pedestrian was attacked and robbed by armed robbers near the Village Mall on Friday. The man was walking home from work shortly after 16:00 when two men armed with a firearm approached him and told him not to move.

"They demanded money, which he did not have, and then took his cellphone and fled," said Hartbeespoort community policing forum spokesperson, Romano van der Spuy.

This is approximately the 10th incident the past month where pedestrians have been robbed while walking home from work.

In another incident on Monday, a motorist was held at knifepoint and robbed of his laptop by three men after he stopped to attend to a puncture.

Raaisel om Brits-man se moord

'n Nege-en-vyftigjarige man van Rashoop by Brits is Saterdag in die vroeë oggendure dood na hy glo deur twee of drie rowers drie keer met 'n mes in die longe en bors gesteek is. Andries Snyman, sy seun Stephan (29) en vrou Annetjie (52) het na bewering geslaap toe die rowers by die huis ingebreek het deur 'n venster uit te haal. Stephan het dié week aan Kormorant gesê hulle is ongeveer 03:45 deur die rowers oorval.

"Twee rowers het my en my ma aangehou, terwyl die derde na my pa in sy kamer is. Ons het gehoor hoe my pa skree om hulp, maar ek kon niks doen nie want die rower het 'n vuurwapen teen my kop gedruk. Ek het aanhoudend vir hulle gesê ons is werkloos en het niks," het Stephan vertel.

Die rowers het met slegs 'n selfoon gevlug. Volgens Stephan het hy en Annetjie vir Andries op die vloer vol bloed aangetref. Hy is drie keer in die bors gesteek.

"My ma het sowat 900 m na die dominee se huis gehardloop vir hulp en die ambulans ontbied."

Intussen het Andries glo gevra dat hulle hom moet skoon aantrek terwyl hulle wag. "Ons het vier ure vir die ambulans gewag wat eers na 08:00 opgedaag het. My pa was reeds dood," het hy gesê.

Volgens 'n verklaring van die Brits polisie na aanleiding van die gesin se verklarings onder eed, het die voorval egter reeds Vrydagaand 21:30 plaasgevind.

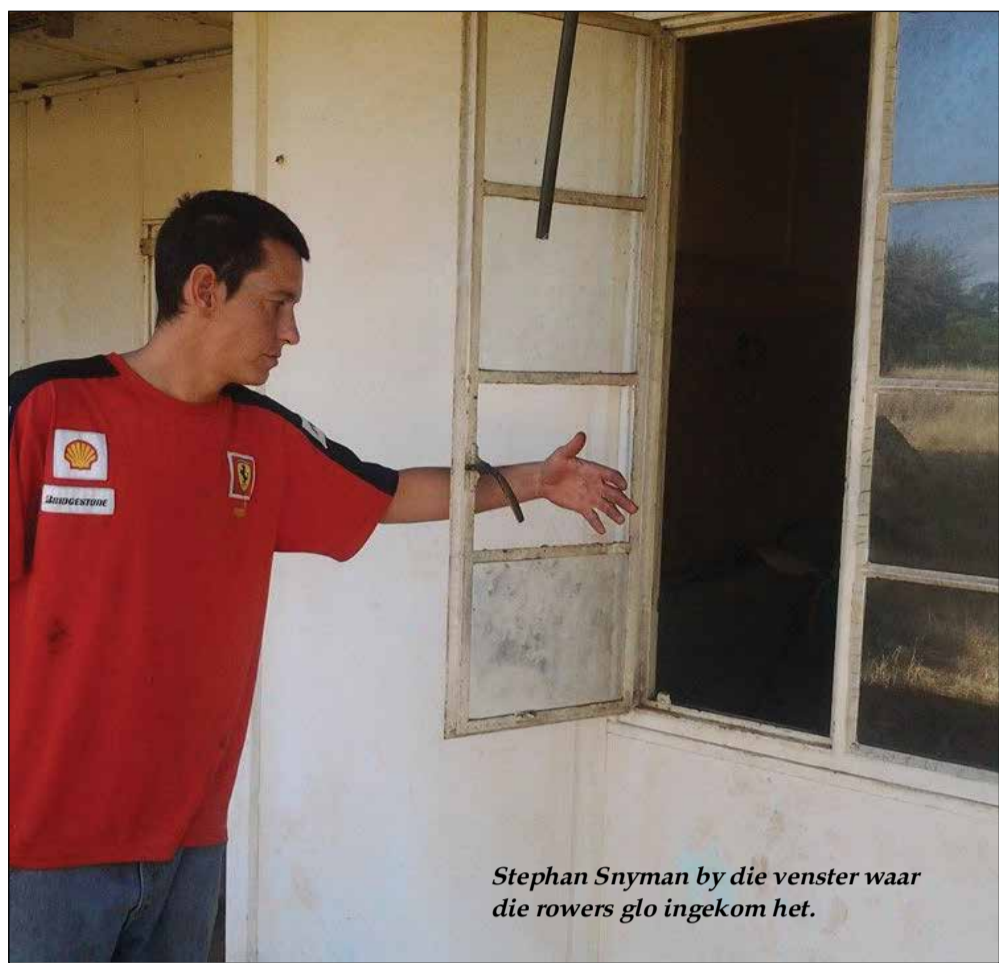

"Daar word beweer dat twee rowers die huis binnegegaan en die oorledene met 'n onbekende voorwerp in die bors gesteek het," het polisiewoordvoerder adjudant-offisier Mpeile Talane gesê.

"Volgens die seun kon hy nie hulp ontbied nie, omdat hul enigste selfoon deur die rowers gesteel is en omdat sy pa na bewering gesê het hy moenie uitgaan vir hulp nie omdat die rowers hom mag doodmaak," het Talane gesê.

"Die oorledene se vrou en seun het tot die volgende oggend 06:00 geslaap en toe hulp gaan soek."

Andries was reeds dood met die polisie en ambulans se aankoms op die toneel.

"Die polisie ondersoek sake van moord en huisroof. Niemand is nog in hegtenis geneem nie en die polisie vra dat enigiemand wat die polisie kan help met inligting om die skuldiges aan te keer, die ondersoekbeampte, konstabel Leonard Thoboka by 012 381 6034 kontak.

Ambulance robbed while attending to patient

An ambulance was robbed of medical equipment while paramedics attended to a patient in Schoemansville on Saturday.

"The ambulance was parked in the street near the Generaal Hendrik Schoeman primary school and para-

Jong man begin Brits-skoonmaakaksie

Wat begin het as 'n jongman se poging om die onmiddellike omgewing te beveilig, het nou in 'n grootskaalse skoonmaakprojek in Brits ontaard.

Die 24-jarige Kevin Pretorius het sowat 'n maand gelede alleen met 'n kapmes begin om die rietbos in Knoxlaan naby Hoërskool Brits en die Vinkelvoetjieskleuterskool af te kap, na hy gesien het hoe rowers 'n vrou aanval.

"Ek het die middag 'n geskree gehoor en uitgehardloop en gesien hoe twee mans 'n vrou takel en haar beroof. Hulle het die rietbos ingevlug. Dit was nie die eerste voorval nie en ek het net daar besluit dat die bosse moet waai om die omgewing veiliger te maak."

Kevin het aanvanklik sy voorneme op Facebook-groepe genoem en 'n klomp mense het aangedui dat hulle sou kom help.

"Toe ek die Saterdagoggend opdaag, was daar egter geen helpers nie en ek het maar alleen begin kap."

Verbygangers het Kevin se kappery opgemerk en kort voor lank het inwoners begin hulp aanbied.

"Al hoe meer mense het gestop en selfs koeldranke aangedra."

Twee sakeondernemings het ook van Kevin se projek te hore gekom en hulle hulp aangebied. Machinery Contractors en MMD Cleaning Services het een Saterdag masjinerie en werkers kom aflaai, wat die taak aansienlik vergemaklik het.

Kevin in die digte rietbos wat deur rowers gebruik is om in weg te kruip.

Skielik kon inwoners weer die stroompie sien wat deur die woonbuurt koppel en met meer geruste harte deur dié stukkie veld stap.

"Ons het plekke in die rietbos gekry waar die rowers as't ware blyplekke geskep het. Dit lyk soos huisies binne die rietbos."

Die bos is ook somer as 'n aflaaiplek vir rommel gebruik.

Die afgekapte riete is verlede naweek gebrand en Kevin voel die projek is nou mooi op dreef.

"Daar is nog heelwat om hier te doen, maar daar is darem nou lig in die tunnel. Die owerhede doen niks en ons moet nou self doen wat ons kan om inwoners se lewens te beveilig."

Kevin het onlangs sy werk verloor toe die myn waarvoor hy gewerk het, gesluit het. "Ek soek dringend werk en kan nie ledig wees nie. Die skoonmaakprojek help my om positief te bly en iets vir die gemeenskap te beteken."

As dié projek afgehandel is, is hy lus om ander gebiede in Brits ook beet te pak, sou inwoners bereid wees om daarmee te help. Nog hulp met die skoonmaakprojek sal waardeer word.

Kontak Kevin by 082 668 7043 vir meer inligting.

Violent protests over Illegal connections

Hundreds of Sunway residents staged a violent protest on Tuesday morning, barricading Van der Hoff Road with branches and stones and burning tyres after they learnt that officials of the City of Tshwane were on their way to remove illegal electricity connections.

Van der Hoff Road was closed from shortly after 06:00, forcing some motorists to take a 40 km detour to Hartbeespoort. The City of Tshwane requested police presence on Tuesday to remove the increasing illegal electricity connections in Sunway. However, Sunway residents learnt about the proposed removal and started the protest before officials from the City of Tshwane could get to the connections.

The assistance of the Public Order Police and air units was requested.

The residents demanded that the Madibeng mayor come and talk to them before they would end the protest. Mayor Jostina Mothibe visited the area and told residents that a committee would be formed to address their issues.

A number of Sunway residents told Kormorant shortly after her visit that the mayor said the illegal connections would not be stopped and that she will meet with the City of Tshwane on Wednesday. The municipality vehemently denied this claim on Wednesday. "We wish to refute these allegations. This is not what the executive mayor said to the residents of Sunway. This is what she said: The substations which are in Subway belong to Eskom and the City of Tshwane respectively. Madibeng Local Municipality does not have any arrangement with the City of Tshwane, nor Eskom to supply electricity in the area, however, she will urgently convene a meeting with Eskom to ascertain the possibility of Eskom supplying the area and bill Madibeng Local Municipality. The urgency of this matter is dependent on Eskom availability. At no stage did the executive mayor encourage residents to continue with the connections," (sic) Madibeng spokesperson Siphonkosi said.

Sunway residents however, insist that she has told them to go ahead. "We are making connections as we speak," a resident said on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, residents again used a grinder to cut another furrow over Van der Hoff Road on Wednesday afternoon. The City of Tshwane has not responded to Kormorant's enquiry about the situation.

Donderdag Wat sê die mense?

Die damwalrobot het inwoners nou almal al die duiwel in. Hier is wat ons lesers dié week te sê gehad het oor moontlike oplossings vir die probleem op Kormorant se Facebook-blad.

Rina Kersten die damwal moet of toegemaak of in 'n eenrigting verander word totdat iemand slim genoeg is om die probleem op te los

Iain David Gunn And where is our Traffic Department, this has been going on for months

Rosa Potgieter le Roux Ons het n nuwe brug nodig! Ek weet net nie hoeveel berg hulle sal moet uitskiet nie!

Riana Joubert Die brug was vir baie jare heel goed gekontroleer. Die fout le meer waarskynlik by ongedisiplineerde gebruikers, tipies van die huidige kultuur in ons land!

Willem De Bruin Daar was so 5uur se kant twee manne by die controller van die goed daar besig toe werk dit 100%. Hulle het dit seker manually gedoen.

Rosa Potgieter le Roux Ek praat net van die druk verkeer oor naweke! Die pad oor die brug is in n baie swak toestand! Mens moet so versigtig op daardie pad ry! Op n staduum moet daardie pad opgegradeer word! Dit beteken nie die brug moet vervang word nie

Benita van Wyk Ons het daar gestaan dit was n gemors taxi gaan staan in tonnel en karre kon nie deur en toe slaan robot groen vir ander kant en almal ry

Bessinger Marais Al hierdie probleme by die damwal is besig om al die besighede om en rond die damwal lelik te benadeel. Dis baie frustrerend. Eish man

Johan Senekal Bessinger Marais ek stem saam

Christa Grobler Greyling Ek gebruik daai pad die afgelope week. Of die lig groen is of nie, NW karre ry teen die rooi lig oor brug. Ek sal stop dan skiet 2 of 3 karre van agteraf verby. Swak swak swak!

Heloise De Bruin Daar moet maar mense aangestel word om dit permanent manually te hanteer.

Buks Meyer Christa, ek sien diet elke dag. NW registrasie skiet by jou verby wanneer die lig rooi is. Dit is vernaamlik 'bakkies' en taksies (*taxis) en groter voertuie. Dan wag mens en alhoewel die lig nou groen is vir jou, stroom hierdie spul uit .

Marthie Stander 'n Boom-gate oor die pad met die verkeersligte ja...

Carol van Rossum So many people need jobs and a few could be employed to count cars and control the flow manually, our lives are at risk at the moment!

Koos Fourie Ek het vroeër 'n boom voorgestel, maar ek is amper gestenig

Madibeng to have clean water in 2017

The Brits water treatment plant is to be upgraded from the current capacity of 60 megalitres per day, to 120 megalitres by June next year, the Department of Water and Sanitation said last week during a visit to the plant.

The department took over the administration of water from the Madibeng municipality earlier this year and minister Nomvula Mokonyane visited the area last week to get an update on the progress made. Magalies Water was appointed as the administrator.

Trevor Balzer from the department said construction is currently underway to enlarge the capacity of the plant to get water to more areas. "We are currently busy with a 20-megalitre expansion."

He said the plant that is supposed to deliver 66 megalitres of water per day, is not working optimally and because of a lack of maintenance over the past years, exact figures are impossible to measure.

"Water from the Brits plant should go to areas such as Jericho and Madidi, but currently it only supplies as far as Maboloka." Magalies Water aims to double the capacity from 60 megalitres per day, to 120 megalitres by June next year.

Balzer said sophisticated equipment will be brought in to "handle the bad water from the Hartbeespoort Dam".

"By 2017, Madibeng will have some of the cleanest water in the country due to sophisticated infrastructure and ozone treatment," he said.

He said the plant will have more storage capacity than output to prevent "that we become just another Eskom," he said.

Balzer said maintenance is a challenge and one that will have to be looked at seriously.

The department and Magalies Water have already addressed the water crisis in Majakaneng.

"This area already has its own system and is not dependent on the Brits plant any longer," he said.

Trevor Balzer from the department of water and sanitation explains the upgrading of the Brits water treatment plant to minister Nomvula Mokonyane.

Premier says he wants proof of corruption

Provide proof of corruption, North West Premier Supra Mahumapelo said this week after DA leader Mmusi Maimane spoke about corruption in the North West government at the DA's provincial congress in Hartbeespoort last weekend.

"Maimane erroneously contends that the provincial government's interventions in municipalities are allegedly confirmation of the existence of corruption," Mahumapelo said.

DA leader Mmusi Maimane spoke at the party's North West provincial congress, at Hartbeespoort Dam on Saturday where he said "North West have suffered for too long under a chaotic, corrupt and uncaring government". Maimane said the ANC government in North West has stumbled from crisis to scandal and it has failed the North West in just about every single aspect of service delivery.

Report elder abuse

Disturbing video footage showing an elderly woman, an Alzheimer patient, being physically abused in an upmarket Capet Town old age home made the rounds on social media recently after it was aired on an investigative television programme. This has once again cast the spotlight on the very important issue of elder abuse.

On Monday, 15 June, South Africa will be participating in World Elder Abuse Awareness Day through Age-in-Action, the SA Council for the Aged.

In addition, World Elder Abuse Awareness Day is in support of the United Nations International Plan of Action, acknowledging the significance of elder abuse as a public health and human rights issue.

The purpose of this day is to sensitise and educate communities around the world to have better understanding of abuse and the neglect of older persons. This is done through raising awareness of the cultural, social, economic and demographic processes affecting elder abuse and neglect. Many older persons around the world are being abused in their own homes, in relatives' homes, and even in facilities responsible for their care. South Africa is not excluded, in fact, abuse is rife but there are no accurate stats because it is not reported. If you suspect that an older person is at risk from a neglectful or overwhelmed caregiver, or being preyed upon financially, it's important to speak up. Abuse of older persons takes many forms, from intimidation, threats and neglect, to financial deception. Communities around the world are urged to report cases of abuse or neglect.

Do not hesitate to report the situation, assume that someone else will take care of it, or that the person being abused is capable of getting help if he or she really needs it.

If you are an older person who is being abused, neglected, or exploited, tell a doctor, a friend, or a family member whom you trust, or call Age-in-Action's national toll-free care line on 0800 333 231. You can also call the organisation if you would like to become involved in awareness campaigns.

South Africa will be participating in World Elder Abuse Awareness Day on 15 June to make the world aware of the plight of many senior citizens who suffer emotional, physical and financial abuse Dam wall: Are you part of the problem?

Over recent weeks there have been many reports of the malfunctioning traffic lights at the dam wall and residents have voiced their concern and frustration on social media.

The dam wall and the tunnel belong to the Department of Water and Sanitation (DWS), but Madibeng is responsible for the traffic lights and the road over the dam wall. DWS offered to control the lights manually during peak hours, which are mornings from 05:30 to around 10:00 or 11:00, and then again in the afternoons from 15:00 to 21:00. For the rest of the day, the lights are on automatic control. Over weekends, the responsibility for the control of the lights lies with the Madibeng Municipality.

A task team, consisting of representatives of DWS, the Madibeng Municipality, the Community Policing Forum (CPF), and other role-players have been investigating the problem. A number of issues has been identified regarding the situation. The behaviour of road users and the outdated equipment that battles to cope with the power dips that occur from time to time are two of the issues that have been identified.

According to photographic evidence supplied to Kormorant by a source (see photograph on the right), it is clear that locals contribute to the problem by skipping the lights. Just from 06:30 to 07:00 on Wednesday morning, eight cars were photographed in the act. In many of these photographs, mothers and fathers with school-going children in the car can be clearly identified. Most of these offenders have North West license plates. The biggest problem also seems to be from the Kosmos side. The excuse of one culprit, when confronted by an official and asked why he doesn't wait his turn, was that "his supper was getting cold".

Another issue that was brought to our attention was an allegation that Madibeng officials who control the lights over weekends, are in cahoots with the hawkers and allow extra time for them to sell their wares.

In its reaction to the problem, Madibeng Municipality's spokesperson, Siphon Kankosi said on Wednesday: "The age of the equipment cannot be disputed; however, there are other factors that affect the synchronisation of the traffic lights. The traffic lights use the loop to detect vehicles. It is programmed to count a number of passing vehicles at a given moment, while it closes on the opposite direction. Some vehicles just pass through without stopping, while bikers will deliberately stop just beyond the white line. This behaviour affects the synchronisation of the traffic lights and contributes to the problem.

"The replacement of the traffic lights forms part of the projects to be undertaken in the new financial year, starting on 1 July. To effectively deal with the problem, the municipality is considering deploying traffic officers on that spot and we have also approached Outsurance to assist with their traffic controllers.

A motorist clearly ignoring the red light with traffic still approaching from the opposite side

"Regarding the allegations that our officials are in cahoots with the hawkers, we are not aware of this behaviour and the municipality commits to conduct an investigation into this allegations and take corrective measures."

Come help clean-up

Carla Viktor, one of Hartbeespoort's Miss Earth 2015 finalists, together with the Division of Waste Management and Environmental Affairs of the Madibeng Local Municipality is hosting a clean-up in Schoemansville this Sunday, 6 June from 9:00 to 12:00. The starting point is the Schoemansville Public Library in Marais Street, and the finishing point the Oewerklub, where five trees will be planted. Contact Carla on 073 646 5556 for more information.

Uit die omgewing se geskiedenis

Fort Anderson

Inligting oor ons omgewing se geskiedenis is ook op CD beskikbaar van die Hartbeespoort Omgewings- en Erfenisvereniging (HOEV).
Vir meer inligting kontak Roel Jansen by 082 777 7299.

Nadat lord Roberts in Junie 1900 Pretoria ingeneem het, was sy taak afgehandel want, soos hy en die Britse regering gedink het, was albei hoofstede van die twee Boererepublieke toe verower.

Roberts is teruggeroep en lord Kitchener is in sy plek gestuur om die nodige "opruiming en afronding" te doen. Dit was egter 'n misgissing, want die Boeremagte het hergroepeer en die twee jaar van guerilla-oorlog het nog voorgelê.

Kitchener moes dus sy uitgebreide stellings en verbindingslinies vanaf Pretoria tot in die Kaap en Natal op een of ander manier teen gedurige aanvalle verdedig. Ook wou hy die Boere se beweging aan bande lê.

Die eerste stap was om op koppies en in passe of by brûe stewige forte of blokhuisse van klip te bou. Hiervoor het hy 'n magdom klipkappers en messelaars ingevoer en die eerste aantal forte is nogal indrukwekkende, netjiese bouwerke met dik klipmure, mooi houtvensters en stewige deure en luike van 12 mm dik staalplaat. Die forte was meestal dubbelverdieping, met 'n betonblad vir die boonste vloer en 'n sinkdak bo-oor die tweede verdieping. Baie het plankvloere op die onderste verdieping gehad en almal was van skietgate op alle strategiese plekke en skietgleuwe op die boonste verdieping voorsien, wat hulle soos middeleeuse Europese kastele laat lyk het. Hierdie romantiese voorkoms was egter nie die doel van die forte nie, maar wel hulle praktiese militêre waarde. Maar hierin het die klipforte gefaal. Hulle was te duur en het te lank geneem om te bou en daarby was hulle nie teen kanonvuur bestand nie. In dié opsig was die Boere se forte rondom Pretoria met hulle grondwalle beter.

Die tweede soort fort het dubbele sinkplaatmure gehad met 'n klipgruisvulling tussen die twee lae. Die konstruksie was netso bestand teen geweervuur terwyl die koste en oprigtingstyd baie minder was. Die eerstes van hierdie forte was vierkantig of agthoekig en later het ene Rice die sogenaamde "Rice Pattern" forte uitgevind wat rond was, en nog makliker om op te rig.

Die forte is per telegraaf met die hoofkwartier verbind wat in hierdie omgewing die Baden Powell-kamp op Rietfontein was. Verder is die forte deur 'n sig-sag gang met doringdraadversperring aan weerskante verbind. Aan die doringdraad is blikkies gehang wat 'n geraas gemaak het as iemand snags daarteen sou raak.

Daarop sou die troepe van weerskante met die gang af skiet. Die sig-sag het dus verhoed dat die wagte mekaar skiet.

So het die Britte oor die hele land uiteindelik 'n forte-en-draadheining-stelsel opgebou wat derduisende ponde gekos het, baie troepe in beslag geneem het en tog nie baie effektief was nie, want die Boere het óf 'n gekonsentreerde aanval op een fort geloods en dan met gebuite amunisie en voorrade deur die linie gebreek, óf net eenvoudig die linies vermy en hulle aanvalle elders uitgevoer.

Dis interessant om daarop te let dat in die vredesverdrag van Vereeniging ooreengekom is dat die Britte die forte en drade sou verwyder.

Dit is maar halfhartig nagekom.

Die plaaslike bevolking het egter na die oorlog die verlate forte geplunder en veral die sinkplaat gebruik om hulle afgebrande huise te herstel.

Die klipmure is nooit afgebreek nie, gelukkig nie, want dit is nogal glad nie 'n ontsiering van die landskap nie.

In ons omgewing is die fort bo-op die Kosmosberg die opvallendste.

Daar is ook op Kommandonek naby die pad 'n goed behoue klipfort en by Broederstroom naby Klipdrif. Die fort op Hekpoort is nie net skilderagtig en goed behoue nie, maar hy is beroemd weens sy verkeerde plasing en heet "Barton's Folly", omdat hy deur generaal Barton se toedoen daar gebou is.

Van die sinkplaatforte op Silkaatsnek, Baden Powellkamp, Witwatersberg agter Meerhof ens. het net nog swak herkenbare klipphoe oorgebly.

Take up the sleepout challenge

On Friday 19 June, a sleepout for the whole family will be hosted at French Toast Coffee Café on the R511 to give the privileged a taste of what a night out in the cold with little more than just a cardboard box for shelter, feels like. According to Anastasia Olivier, a member of the organising team, the proceeds of the event will be donated to the Opkyk Pathways Therapy and Educational Centre, a non-profit organisation in Brits that accommodates children with various disabilities and special educational needs. To take part in the sleepout, you need to bring your own cardboard box to sleep on and under, a sleeping bag, coats and blankets to keep you warm. These items may be donated afterwards for distribution to the homeless. Your entry fee of R120 per person, or R500 for a family of four or more, includes a mug of soup and coffee. You can also bid to sleep on the Eiffel Tower or in the café. Bidding will start at R1 000. Only 100 tickets will be sold for the sleepout. Sleepers may start putting up their boxes and claiming their spot from 17:00 onwards. Tickets are available at French Toast or contact Anastasia on 083 266 8567. (Picture: ocregister.com)

3. CAPITAL BUDGET

Section 18 and 19 of the MFMA were taken in to consideration regarding the funding of capital project. That spending on Capital Budget to be financed from grants and other external mechanisms would takes place after the funds have been received. With regard to the internal funding, the municipality could only fund Capital Projects with internal funding to the tune of R8 million. The amount is invested with various financial institutions through shares and policies. Table 5 (page 13) detailed the funding sources for Capital Budget over the medium term period.

Aloe Vera – the wonderplant

Aloe vera has its origins in the Barbados Islands and has been revered as far back as 3 000 years ago, as proven by hieroglyphics and paintings on the walls of Egyptian temples.

It is a storehouse of nutrients. The protein contained in aloe vera includes 18 to 20 amino acids found naturally in the body and the nutritional content is rich in vitamins A, B1, B2, B3 and B6, as well as C and E.

A perennial plant, it grows easily in pots, but needs watering daily. The plant is sterile and does not produce seeds. To harvest, reap base leaves when mature by cutting off with a sharp knife. Remove the bitter skin and you are left with a transparent fillet that can be sliced fresh onto burns or skin ailments, or added to animals' feed.

Uses

The gel is excellent for the treatment of skin ailments. It also helps in the healing of wounds, bile flow, acts as a tonic, is anti-fungal and contains sedative properties. The stabilised juice helps arthritis, rheumatism, stomach ulcers, diabetes, high blood pressure, circulatory disorders, indigestion and both constipation and diarrhoea. Gout, kidney stones and inflamed joints all seem to respond well.

Aloe vera restores the pH balance of both skin and hair, giving it a smoother and softer appearance and giving shine to hair. Aloe vera is also excellent for treating animals, including arthritis, stiffness and constipation. Skin ailments are soothed by the direct application of the cut edge of a leaf, and a little gel can be added to the animal's food daily. Horses too can have the gel added to their food, especially ailing and elderly ones.

Warning: at high dosages, the bitter properties are laxative. The yellow liquid in the outer casings of the leaves contains anthraquinones and can be dangerously laxative. Use only pharmaceutically processed aloe vera internally in the form of juice.

Uses for Aloe Vera

1. Pamper yourself to a soothing body rub. Slice aloe leaves lengthwise and use the inner sides as a biodegradable body scrub in the shower.
2. Treat burns from minor mishaps in the kitchen—from grease splatters or hot utensils.
3. For more major kitchen mishaps like a scald, mix some aloe gel and vitamin E oil into a little jar for a homemade burn healer.
4. Banish black and blue bruises by swapping on the good goo.
5. Soothe and heal sunburns the feel-good way. Aloe contains cooling properties similar to menthol.
6. Take the sting or itch out of insect bites.
7. Reduce tissue damage from frostbite.
8. Alleviate mysterious rashes.
9. Make feet baby soft with an exfoliating foot mask by mixing together a half cup of oatmeal, a half cup of corn meal, four tbsps. of aloe vera gel and a half cup of unscented body lotion.
10. Help heal herpes outbreaks.
11. Fight athlete's foot.
12. Swab over blisters for quick relief.
13. Use as an antidote to allergic skin reactions.
14. Replace creams and lotions as a general moisturizer for dry skin. Aloe is fast absorbing!
15. Prevent pesky pimples and treat acne.
16. Soothe psoriasis.
17. Prevent scarring and stretch marks.
18. Help rid of rosacea.
19. Shrink warts.
20. Reverse signs of aging skin and wrinkles. Cleopatra did!

The big M in a woman's life

by Dr Clarice van Vreden

Many women dread the big M - menopause. This is a natural part of a woman's life and although it means the end of fertility, there is no reason that you can't continue to thrive in all other aspects of life, especially with our modern understanding of menopause and the treatment options for its pesky symptoms like hot flushes, night sweats, mood swings, weight gain, "foggy brain", hair loss, dry skin, palpitations and an overall "unwell" feeling. For years, doctors were very cautious about prescribing hormone replacement therapy (HRT) due to the risk of breast cancer and heart diseases, but with the newest long-term studies it shows that these risks were overstated. HRT's benefits, when started before the age of 60, or within 10 years of the onset of menopause, outweigh its risks. The health benefits for taking HRT includes: relief of hot flushes, night sweats, relief from vaginal dryness and painful intercourse and regular bladder infections. It also improves bone density and prevents osteoporosis. There is also good evidence of lowering heart-disease risks if taken early in menopause, as well as the risk of colon cancer. Some studies also show that starting HRT's early on in menopause lowers the risk of developing dementia and improves cholesterol levels. So what about the risk of breast cancer? HRT is one of the many factors that can increase the risk of breast cancer post-menopausally, but has less effect than the other risk factors like obesity, regularly consuming big amounts of alcohol or never having borne children does. Recent studies show that less than five years' use of HRT has no effect on the risk for developing breast cancer; HRT used for up to 15 years by patients who had a hysterectomy and are on estrogen-alone therapy showed no risks, but if combined HRT is used for longer than five years, the risk of breast cancer can start increasing. If you have menopausal symptoms that are worrisome to you, are at risk of osteoporosis or had premature menopause or ovarian failure, speak to your doctor or gynaecologist for appropriate HRT that fits your health profile. Aging healthy and gracefully is every woman's dream and within her reach...

The Magalies Monster is known under local cyclists as one of the toughest mountain bike races. Six brave cyclists of the Hartbeespoort Cycling Club recently successfully competed in this race. Rinus van Ende (4:59), Jannie Fourie (5:44), Nicole Dippenaar (in the front in the photo, 5:50) and David Purnell (6:31) completed the 80 km distance, while Gordon Harvey and Kez Whyte took part in the shorter, but equally challenging 45 km distance. Pam Golding scoops two top national awards Operating in Hartbeespoort and Brits and having doubled sales volumes ie units sold over the past three years, even amid challenging economic trading conditions, Pam Golding Properties scooped two top awards at the Pam Golding Property Group's (PGP) national awards held recently on the Wild Coast.

Says Erika van der Westhuizen, PGP's area principal: "We were proud to receive the award for National Franchise of the Year for medium-size offices for the second year in succession. Furthermore, our highly successful real estate agent Sharen Byren, won Top National Franchise Agent of the Year and was also a nominee for top PGP National Agent of the Year, while another agent, Naomi Rossouw, qualified for the group's national Gold Club status."

The coveted Gold Club status is awarded to those agents in the PGP group who achieve the highest standards of professionalism and ethics, coupled with high sales over a given period.

Commenting on the achievements, Erika says the residential property market in Hartbeespoort and Brits is currently very buoyant in regard to both sales and rentals. With homes in high demand, the market in general is characterised by a low supply of stock across all areas. "In fact, today our sales volumes are 20 times greater than they were before we acquired this PGP franchise in 2010. Purchasers - many of whom pay cash or have a high cash component - are combination of investment and leisure buyers as well as those seeking a permanent residence. And as we have a high calibre of buyer, nearly all of our buyers who require mortgage finance are able to qualify for loans. "At present we are experiencing an influx of those relocating from areas with high crime levels as well as those looking for a change in lifestyle within a more appealing environment — particularly as we are so well positioned close to Lanseria Airport and easily accessible to Pretoria, Johannesburg, Brits and Rustenberg. Another attraction is the excellent schooling available in our area, making this an ideal option for families. Of interest is that we are also seeing international buyers acquiring property here, which attests to the desirability of the location."

For further information, contact Pam Golding Properties on 082 902 2054.

What is Frozen Shoulder?

Diagnosis and physiotherapy treatment of the condition

Frozen shoulder, or medically known as 'Adhesive Capsulitis', is a disorder which involves the connective tissue surrounding the shoulder, the capsule.

The shoulder capsule is just an envelope of tissue that surrounds the shoulder joint. This shoulder joint capsule can become inflamed, which can result in tightening and scarring of the shoulder joint capsule which gives rise to 'frozen shoulder'.

Frozen shoulder is synonymous with a stiff shoulder and a reduction in shoulder range of motion. However it is commonly misdiagnosed. Healthcare practitioners often diagnose a stiff shoulder as frozen, despite it not always being the case.

What happens during frozen shoulder?
True frozen shoulder usually occurs in people between 40 to 60 years of age and is idiopathic; that means it usually comes on spontaneously.

It tends to be more common in women and also in people who have diabetes. There has also been a link with thyroid disorders and the drugs that are used for their treatment. Despite these links, a direct cause for frozen shoulder is still unknown.

The pathology is generally split into three distinct stages:

1. Freezing — This is the painful stage and mostly when you will present to a healthcare practitioner for accurate diagnosis. The shoulder becomes stiff and painful and you slowly start to lose the range of motion in your shoulder (Can last up to six months).
2. Frozen — This stage is characterised by a decrease in pain (slow), coupled with a more significant restriction in the shoulder (can last four to 12 months).
3. Thawing — In this stage the shoulders slowly starts to recover. The shoulder becomes looser and movement gradually returns (it can last four to 12 months).

Common symptoms of frozen shoulder

The symptoms occur gradually over time. As highlighted earlier, an initial sign is stiffness in the shoulder. However, there are many shoulder pathologies that also present with a stiff shoulder, therefore that cannot be used to rule in or out a diagnosis. A strong, dull ache within the shoulder joint is common, with pain usually increased with movement of the joint. Patients will present with difficulty to do task such as putting on a jacket, hooking up a bra, washing their hair, putting on a belt or any other overhead movements first. As the pathology worsens, the level of restriction will increase and normal daily activities can become increasingly difficult and painful.

Physiotherapy diagnosis

An accurate diagnosis of frozen shoulder can be made by your physiotherapist with a comprehensive subjective history and thorough examination.

As stated above, most cases of true frozen shoulder will take a number of months to recover. Others may take even longer, depending on how quick the thawing stage can commence.

Treating the condition

The management of frozen shoulder can be greatly assisted by your physiotherapist.

Your physio can use various techniques to help manage pain and restriction, help decrease the effect on your daily life and effectively monitor any progression or advancement into different stages of the condition.

It is important to note however that physiotherapy cannot 'cure' the condition, treatment is widely focused at maintaining as much shoulder movement as possible, managing the pain and when in the thawing stage ensuring a speedy recovery and return to normal shoulder movements.

In severe cases, surgery can also be indicated, an arthroscopic capsule release has been shown to have a good effect at restoring motion and relieving pain, where the tight capsule is released surgically.

The nature of this condition is different to others where you generally have to wait until the condition wears itself before it resolves.

This does not mean you can do nothing to help it though; there are plenty of exercises and management techniques that your physiotherapist can assist with to ensure this nasty condition does not have too large an impact on your life.

Europe, here we come! Doxa Deo tests estate dams

Pecanwood College celebrates its top academic achievers' excellence by inviting them on a tour to Europe. This group will spend 12 days in Germany, Austria, Switzerland and France in August this year. Traveling is the university of life.... In the back from left are Clifford Thompson, Jordan Muller, Thomas Corke, Matthew Berry, Brendan Holmes and Carlos Kwengwe. Second row from left are Chloe Craig, Kgothatso Seele, Gia Byren, Chase Barclay, Wian Meyer and Aubrey Molefe. In the third row from left are Carmen van der Merwe, Monique Grace, Jaryd Ivins, Caleigh Goncalves, Zazi Gumede and Dylan Steencamp. Bottom row from left are Julienne Nestler, Megan Brink, Adrienne and Madelyn Nestler, Kayla Rouse, and Mrs and Mr Nainar.

Doxa Deo Hartbeespoort, a registered eco school, teamed up with the adjacent Xanadu Nature Estate and neighbouring schools to provide the pupils with exciting learning opportunities. The most recent focus was the water quality of the Xanadu dams. The pupils collected water samples and tested it with a field-kit supplied by Bigen Africa, which was very interesting as it showed that the wetland is in fact cleaning the water. A field trip to the CSIR's water laboratory was the highlight of this term's programme, which taught the children about biodiversity in wetlands, water, plants and animals.

Wiskundekampioen!

Alizee Evans, 'n graad 3-leerling van Doxa Deo Hartbeespoort het aan die 9de C-Maths Nasionale Kampioenskappe in Midrand deelgeneem en die toekenning "Champions of Champions" ontvang as algehele wenner van hierdie kategorie in Suid-Afrika. Leerlinge moes drie vraestelle van drie minute, en drie vraestelle van een minuut doen wat bestaan het uit optel- en aftreksomme. Hulle is getoets vir akkuraatheid en spoed. Om vir dié kampioenskap te kwalifiseer, moes deelnemers eerste of tweede plekke in hulle onderskeie provinsies behaal het.

Muscles galore at Throwdown

Last weekend, it was the battle of the fittest of the fittests when athletes from Gauteng, North West and Limpopo assembled for the annual Hartbeespoort CrossFit Birthday Throwdown. This year, the competition was held at the Village Mall. Martie van Vreden (left) and Kirsten Venter were two of the competitors who did deadlifts in a workout called the "Pain Pyramid".

Athletes were pushed to the limit and their skills in various disciplines, such as gymnastics and weightlifting, strength, speed, stamina and cardiovascular endurance over a number of workouts were tested.

Teams of two (one male plus one female) competed in one of three divisions (beginner, intermediate and elite - each varying in levels of skill, strength and agility.
