All roads led to the Durban Beach front at the weekend. Thousands of devotees participated in the eagerly awaited Festival of Chariots which took place over the Easter weekend from March 25- 28 at the Old Durban Drive. The festival which was a huge success saw the young and old come together in a spirit of unity and prayer. Organised by the International Society for Krishna Consciousness, this iconic festival kicks off a year of celebrations that marks the 50th anniversary of ISKCON, and the organisers have pulled out all the stops to make this a most exciting and memorable festival.

Murder suspect arrested

The family of murdered Phoenix gran, Mari Moses, can finally breathe a sigh of relief after it was allegedly reported that the main suspect who was on the run for five months has been found. Sources close to the case have told the Phoenix Sun that Warren Ryan Krishna (22), former neighbour of the victim was traced to the area around Addington Hospital. It is believed that he may have been staying in the area at the time of his arrest.

The murder of the 80-year-old grandmother last year, sent shockwaves through the relatively quiet Birchmore Place in Stanmore, where she lived for over 30 years before her brutal death. The lifeless body of the much-respected grandmother was found in her two bedroom flat on November 4. Neighbours became suspicious after not seeing her carrying out her normal routine and when one of them went to investigate, she found the pensioner lying in a pool of blood.

The savagery used in her murder is something that her friends and neighbours are still struggling to come to terms with. The Phoenix Sun journalist spoke to neighbours and friends at the time of her murder and she was described as a woman who was a 'mother figure' to all who knew her. Moses had sustained stab wounds to her neck and breast as well as burns on her stomach during her brutal assault. Residents were unable to make sense of who would want to kill the beloved Moses and sources close to the investigation indicated that there was the strong possibility that her murder was linked to drug activity in the area. The suspect was eventually identified and went missing and a manhunt was launched. After nearly five months on the run, the man was traced to the Addington beachfront where he had been allegedly living since fleeing. He was arrested and was taken into court on Tuesday to be charged with murder. Station commander, Br Ndlovu would like to express his gratitude to Detective Nadasen for his amazing work that led to the arrest.

Phoenix beauty, Kajal Ramnarain, is about to fulfill the dream of most young women when she takes to the stage to represent her town in the upcoming Zee TV Miss South Africa India competition. The glitzy event will take place on April 9 in Durban when women from across the country will display their talents before a panel of highly respected judges in the hope of winning the crown.

Ramnarain is an audiologist who is a relative novice to the pageant industry and this is the first event of its kind that she has entered. She said that she was drawn to enter the competition because it enhance the necessary qualities such as confidence and self worth that are important for all women. She said, "The competition will offer an opportunity to showcase the acquired skills and if a woman can improve herself then she will be able to improve the lives of others."

The 25-year-old beauty believes that she has much to offer if she is lucky enough to be chosen. Ramnarain also maintains that the finest qualities a queen must possess are humility, a desire to hear others and accept guidance. "I think the title holders we had in the past are proof enough that they should be compassionate and empathetic as well as be humble and adaptable. Race, creed or religion should not be a barrier and the reigning title holder must have the confidence to make a difference in her community during her reign."

In recent years, the pageant industry has come under great scrutiny from global women's organisations that believe that the practice is outdated. Ramnarain believes that this is based on a misconception about the industry. She said, "Many believe that the focus will be on physical beauty rather than holistic beauty. The greatest challenge for me as the titleholder will be to shift the mindsets of individuals to see that this programme actually grooms and guides young women on the essence of being a woman."

The aspiring pageant contestant has a burning desire to perfect the art of Bharatanatyam and to acquire a masters degree in audiology. She hopes to be the lucky girl to walk away with the prestigious title so that she can continue the amazing journey that she is already on and become an influential role model for other young women.

Civilians injured during alleged cash-in-transit heist

Five people were shot and one is believed to be in a critical condition following an armed heist on an armored truck at the Checkstar Shopping Centre in Whitehouse, last week. Witnesses at the scene reported that the incident occurred at 9:30am. A gang of about five men carrying machine guns opened fire on the crowd, in an attempt to cease an armored truck that was turning into the centre. A witness said, "We suddenly saw people from Checkstar running in the direction of the centre and then there was the sound of a string of firecrackers going off everywhere. It was mayhem. We ran and took cover anywhere we could. It was traumatic."

The scene of the robbery outside Whitehouse Shopping centre.

It's alleged that the gang first robbed the supermarket before fleeing and stopping the armored truck. The tyre of the truck was shot and it then came off. Shots were fired at the driver to break the bulletproof windows. The driver of the armored vehicle survived the assault with minor injury to his arm. The gang shot another truck driver who was blocking their path and a female passenger of another vehicle.

According to KZN VIP spokesman, Gareth Naidoo, another victim was found near Glen Anil. He said, "We are not sure at present why or how this man was involved in the robbery. His car shows that it was heavily hit by gun fire and we know that he was near the scene. We also had reports that the robber tried to hijack another vehicle in their efforts to escape." The victim found in Glen Anil was rushed to hospital in a critical condition. There are no reports that any money was taken from the armored truck at the scene. No suspects have been arrested.

SAPS have more road blocks planned.

SAPS crackdown on illegal taxis

Phoenix SAPS held road blocks around Phoenix last week in preparation for the Easter break. The initiative paid special attention to taxi's and Avanzas. Twenty-two vehicles were suspended as part of the initiative and 45 were found to be in violation of the Road Transportation Act. Vehicles that were in violation of the act were impounded as they posed a considerable risk to the passengers. Phoenix police communications officer, Lt Louise Naidoo said, "We will not be lenient with these vehicles and we plan to be strict on this type of crime. There will be a special focus on drivers transporting passengers without a license and if they are using cars that are un-roadworthy."

Missing toddler reunited with family

Inanda SAPS police officer, Sgt Odayar, was applauded for his quick action after finding a toddler who went missing from his home in Lindelani for two days. The search for the 18-month-old was launched on March 19 after the child had allegedly wandered off from his home at 10am. The child's frantic parents immediately reported the child missing and a missing person's case was opened at Ntuzuma. K9 units were alerted and an immediate search of the area was conducted. On March 22, Sgt Odayar from the K9 Unit found the wandering tot about 200 metres from his home, sitting in a trench, covered by a bush and waiting for help. The child was immediately rushed to hospital for medical attention before being allowed to be reunited with his parents.

Staff of the municipality attends to the lights along the highway.

Highway lights finally fixed

For months, the issue about the lack of lighting on the Phoenix Highway and JG Champion (Northern Drive), has been a point of concern for many motorists. Concerned residents approached Cllr Tino Pillay about the issue and according to the councillor, he had a positive response after months of negotiations. He said, "Months of deliberation with emails, long conversations via cellphones and an onsite inspection has finally led to a positive note.

The street lights on the Phoenix Highway and JG Champion Drive has finally got the attention it deserves. Most of the faults experienced on the highway was due to cable theft."

The councillor is pleased that the matter is resolved but urges all residents to be vigilant and report any known cable theft. "I am appealing to all the residents of Phoenix to be vigilant in ensuring that we have street lights. Stolen cables affect us all so be a pro-active citizen and report any known incidents or culprits," added Pillay.

Superintendent of Lighting Works, Mr NI Mabuya, emphasised on the importance of reporting irregular or illegal activities to the tollfree (24 hrs) number 080-1313-111.

Crime round-up

Firearm warning

Members of the public are being warned not to carry or use unlicensed weapons that do not belong to them. This stern warning comes after a Phoenix man was found in possession of a firearm that did not belong to him and was sentenced to four years in the Verulam Court, recently. In another incident, crime prevention officers stopped and searched another 20-year-old man and discovered a handkerchief with five live rounds of bullets. The bullets apparently belong to a friend. He was charged and appeared in court last week. The Phoenix Crime Prevention Unit was patrolling the area on the evening of November 29, when the suspect was spotted. A search was conducted which revealed a 9mm gun which was later identified as belonging to another person. Lt Col Munien said, "These firearms are used in crimes such as murder and armed robberies and must be removed from our streets."

Robbed and beaten with a bat

A Phoenix resident was brutally assaulted with a baseball bat and stabbed, recently. The victim was at a friend's home in Chadvale when a known man approached him and asked to speak to his brother. According to police reports, the suspect immediately assaulted the complainant with a bat before stabbing him on his left arm and side of his back with a knife. The suspect eventually stopped and took both the victims' cellphones before fleeing the scene. A 36-year-old resident has been charged and appeared in court, recently.

Man hijacked

A motorist who stopped to urinate on the roadside on Aberdare Drive was hijacked, last week. The victim made the decision to stop to relieve himself. He left the car keys in the ignition while he went about his business when he suddenly heard someone hurling abuse at him. He then spotted an unknown man pointing a firearm at him and told him not to move. The complainant was tied with a rope and left at the scene, while the suspect drove off in his car in the direction of KwaMashu. A case of hijacking has been opened.

Attempted murder charge for road rage suspect

An 18-year-old Phoenix resident was charged with attempted murder after he allegedly shot at a stranger in an alleged road rage attack. This incident took place on Longbury Drive at 8:15pm, recently. A 24-year-old man made a purchase at a store along the road and was about to reverse on to the Phoenix

Highway when a green car drove by. A man inside the green car allegedly began hurling abuse at the complainant before taking out a gun and firing gun shots in the direction of the victim. The vehicle was slightly damaged but no other injuries were reported. The matter was reported to police who launched an investigation and tracked down the suspect, Delon Naidoo, 18. Naidoo appeared in court to face charges for attempted murder.

Hospital negligence cannot be condoned

Editor- The Department of Health must do some serious introspection and re-evaluate its function as the public healthcare provider. The untimely deaths of an innocent newborn and young woman warrants that the healthcare practitioners involved be suspended immediately pending the outcome of a full on investigation. We concede that mistakes happen, but these mistakes are far too expensive a price to pay. State facilities, particularly in the province of KZN, have been the subject of great controversy over many years. My own experiences, with my late mother, almost provoke me to condemn the system in entirety.

The outcome of almost every tragedy is that the department will never admit that it is failing our society and instead of making constructive changes, it seems to be finding more and more excuses.

The National Health Insurance (NHI) is said to be in its piloting stages in many parts of the country. It aims at somewhat nationalizing healthcare and creating uniformity so that persons who make use of public healthcare facilities are not disadvantaged by the fact that specialists and scarce skilled medics, seek the more lucrative route in the private sector. However, the motion is not welcomed on the ground by doctors. This attempt by the department is seen to be as a hostage situation and doctors are being held at ransom. This will in fact aggravate specialist and scarce skilled medics to make the great exodus out of SA. Hospital negligence is unacceptable and it is about time that the department acts and takes responsibility for the actions of its employees before there is unrest within the state's healthcare division.

Sterngrove's first aid kit upgraded

There is no question that every school is in need of first aid facilities to treat the various number of injuries that occur among boisterous children. Sterngrove Primary School's principal is a firm believer of having this facility and raised awareness on the pressing issue. Cllr Solly Singh said, "Injuries are a daily occurrence and it is essential that all schools' first aid kits are always well stocked. This is often something that parents can help out with."

Cllr Solly Singh and staff with the new and improved kit.

Woodmead Pharmacy management responded to the call for assistance by providing a complete supply of emergency medicines to the school. Whether it be a bruised knee or a bee sting, the school is equipped with the best medicine to treat the condition. The school would like to thank their sponsor for their generous contribution.

The Truro Seniors held a birthday bash for all members during the month of March. Seen is Ward 49 councillor, Tino Pillay, with the 'March babies' and the chairman of Truro Seniors, Aunty Yanum.

Councillor Patrick Pillay is seen with the Shastripark Senior Citizens Reading Club members led by the chairman, Bruce Chinniah and Shastripark librarian, Shiela Hirall.

Senior citizens launch reading club

Councillor Patrick Pillay heaped praises for the Shastripark Senior Citizens (SSC) Reading Club that was launched at the Shastripark Library. SSC chairman, Bruce Chinniah said, "The library does not cost us any money. It has all the necessary resources that is required and librarian

Shiela Hirall and her staff are also available to assist us." Maharaj is encouraging the community to utilise the technological facilities at the library. There are many reading resources that will make the visit to the library exciting for pupils and senior citizens."

Could this turmeric capsule be "SOLID GOLD"?

Curcumin's potential to fight cancer, arthritis, Alzheimers and other diseases excites researchers

Curcumin is the bioactive ingredient of Turmeric which is widely used in Ayurvedic Health Care. Today modern science is beginning to understand the healing activities of Curcumin. The University of Texas M.D Anderson Center for Cancer refers to Curcumin as "solid gold", in reference to its colour and its natural antioxidant, anti-inflammatory, antiviral, antibacterial and anti-fungal qualities. In the medical domain Curcumin is most widely researched for its benefits on cancer and arthritis.

Doctors are not declaring Curcumin as a magic cure-all and say they have much to learn, but are intrigued by its potential and natural healing abilities. Ayurveda has recognised that Turmeric has hundreds of molecular constituents, each with a variety of biological activities. There are at least 20 molecules that are anti-biotic, 14 that are cancer preventatives, 12 that are anti-tumor, 12 are anti-inflammatory and there are at least 10 different anti-oxidants (Source: California College of Ayurvedic). Today Curcumin has become the most popular herbal remedy endorsed by researchers in USA for its protective properties. More than 4,000 studies have been listed on the US National Library of Medicine.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Most synthetic drugs are mono targeted, meaning they are designed to turn off one specific function of a particular gene or pathway that is causing problems on a cellular level. But when a drug turns off one function, it can create an imbalance in another, which can cause a different and potential toxic problems.

In contrast, Curcumin is multi targeted, it addresses several problems at once, rebalancing functions without turning any off. In this way, it improves everything without toxicity. Dr Nic Bass, spokesman for UVL, says every single degenerative disease involves inflammation. Turmeric is one elite plant. In India it is considered standard anti-inflammatory.

"Turmeric has obviously stood the test of time for more than 4,000 years and today is still one of the most significant remedies in the prevention of serious disease and general afflictions of living." Extensive research is currently underway to prove scientifically what the ancient people of India have known for centuries; that turmeric is one of the most powerful plants in the planet.

UVL has recently launched the TURMERIC CAPSULE Curcumin Extract based on Ayurveda Health Care. This means that each vegetable capsule is encapsulated with 500mg pure Curcumin bioactive. Pepper extract is added to the capsule for maximum absorption abilities. There are no fillers or other additives. As an Ayurvedic supplement, take one 500mg capsule daily for protective health benefits, or two 500mg capsules if you are targeting other illnesses.

'Desi Girl' to take SA by storm

Sunidhi Chauhan.

With a string of hit songs such as Kamli, Dilli Wali Girlfriend, Be Intehaan, Punjabi Wedding Song, DJ, Piku, Kashmir Main Tu Kanyakumari, Chor Bazaari, Girls Like To Swing, and Halkat Jawani...The Times of India considered her to have the "liveliest voice in Bollywood."

Sunidhi Chauhan, the lady behind the hit evergreen numbers like 'Dhoom machale dhoom', 'Sheila ki jawaani', 'Beedi Jalaile' and many more, is the best female singer in Bollywood that remains unbeaten even after more than 15 years. Called as the Numero Uno singer of this generation ahead of her contemporaries by none other than Lata Mangeshkar, Sunidhi is definitely one of her kind, who can set the stage on fire with her live act and performance.

As a coach on television reality show, The Voice (currently broadcast on Zee TV in South Africa), Sunidhi is the most popular female Indian playback singer and performer today, best known for her Hindi film songs in Bollywood. Sunidhi has also recorded songs in several other Indian dialects and languages including Tamil, Telegu, Kannada, Marathi, Bhojpuri, Punjabi and of course English as she is currently busy with her western album. Chauhan is one of the most recorded voices in India today with over 3000 studio recordings and 50 million albums sold worldwide throughout her award-winning and illustrious career. She made her International debut with the song Heartbeat (Indian Mix), a collaboration with Enrique Iglesias. Sunidhi has been awarded with prestigious national awards on several occasions and has established herself as the strongest live performer and singer in India to date.

The Desi Girl...Sunidhi Chauhan has electrified

concert audiences all over the world. This talented songstress has just returned from the Global Citizen festival in New York where she was introduced by Hollywood A-listers Hugh Jackman and Salma Hayek and performed by sharing the stage with music's big names such as Beyonce, Ed Sheeran and Coldplay. Bollywood starlets look forward to performing to a Sunidhi track and she is the popular voice for stars like Priyanka Chopra, Deepika Padukone, Katrina Kaif, Parineeti Chopra, Anushka Sharma and many more.

Sunidhi Chauhan is not just one of the very few female singers who can rock a live concert, but she can also sing love ballads that are melodious...proving that she a one-of-a-kind all-rounder in the world of music. Chauhan, who has a special messages for her fans, "South Africa get ready for a mind-blowing concert like you have never seen before", is one of the most followed global Indian music icons with more Facebook fans and Twitter followers than any other female singer in Bollywood. She was voted as the number one female icon winning the Vuclips survey in 2012 over her contemporaries including Shreya Ghoshal. This concert will feature a first of its kind stage and set courtesy of Golden Events.

The promoters are bringing back good wholesome family entertainment to Westridge stadium in Durban with safe and secure parking and food stalls that will allow the family to enjoy the night out. Show dates are April 22, in Durban at the Westridge Tennis Stadium and April 23 in Johannesburg at Carnival City, Big Top. The Durban show will also include Indian Idol finalist Naushad Ali Kawa with the Bollywood Showband. The Johannesburg show will feature Avikar Melodies as the opening act. Tickets are available at Computicket (nationwide), Golden Jewellers (Gateway and Chatsworth Centre - 083 280 0088), Sunrise Fruiterers (Overport - 082 406 3116), Maharajs Prayer Goods (Gem City) and Video Razeena (Laudium - 082 638 7866).

Mercedes-AMG GT S

Gorgeous, graceful and gutsy

By Gavin Foster

So what could I possibly tell you about the Mercedes-AMG GT S? For a start, it's expensive. The Mercedes-Benz SA website lists the GT S at R2 142 600 with VAT but then adds, ominously, a rider stating that the price "excludes CO2 tax ... and additional costs necessary to your car".

The unavoidable carbon tax alone adds R10,158 to the price, to which was added a further R400,000 worth of optional extras on the test car, including ceramic brake discs at R123,000, an "Edition 1" trim pack at R211,000, a high-end Burmester surround-sound system at R18,000, keyless-go at R15,500, and a glass-fibre interior strut at R21,500.

Two versions of the new Mercedes-AMG GT two-seater sports car were unveiled at the Paris Motor Show in October 2014 - the GT and the even more powerful GT S featured here. The cars share a four-litre bi-turbo V8 petrol engine, with the GT delivering 350kW and 600 Nm compared with the 375kW and 650Nm of the tweaked GT S.

In the real world the performance difference isn't really significant, with the factory's claimed 3,8 second 0-100km/h time and top speed of 310km/h for the GT S being just 0.2 seconds and six km/h better than the GT figures, but, hey, if you have the money, why not? The "base" model, if you can call it that, sells at R1,776,000 before adding extras.

The car is absolutely gorgeous from the outside, with its wicked stance and sculpted body looking just the business for a supercar. It's long and wide, but not heavy because the chassis and bodywork are constructed mostly of aluminium and magnesium.

The long bonnet is impressive if not altogether necessary, because the engine is located well aft of the front axle, giving near-perfect 47/53 front and rear weight distribution.

The turbochargers are mounted between the two banks of cylinders for compactness, and the engine uses a dry-sump lubrication system to reduce height and allow low-down mounting with an improved centre of gravity.

The power is delivered to the rear wheels via a transaxle seven-speed dual-clutch transmission with an electronically controlled mechanical limited-slip-diff.

There are five drive modes to choose from - Individual, Comfort, Sport, Sport + and Race, that affect power delivery, transmission reaction and suspension damping, and the persona of the car can be appropriately modified at a whim.

The GT S comes standard with AMG's rorty performance exhaust system with electronically adjustable flaps to allow the driver to tweak the music it plays on demand, and in Sports + and Race modes there's a lot of snap, crackle and pop going on.

I carry a small digital voice recorder to make notes when I drive test vehicles, and transcribing my comments for this car took a lot longer than usual because I kept replaying the gorgeous aural delights whenever I got to an interesting section. The Burmester surround sound system? I don't think I even turned it on.

Unlike so many other supercars, the AMG's interior is beautifully constructed and laid out with black leather, solidly built switchgear and quality materials throughout. The view over the bonnet is awesome, but none of that really matters when you drop the hammer because the car is brutal at full throttle and the surge carries on and on until near the red line.

The ride is firm and handling superb, but it would be very stupid to drive somebody else's 500hp supercar at anything near its considerable limits on a public road so I sadly can't brighten up your day with any tales of derring-do.

The Mercedes-AMG GT S is a superb car that pushes all of my buttons. It looks great and goes better, and it's remarkably easy to live with in the real world.

Is it sensible? More so than many of its rivals. Is it quick? It's about as good as it gets. Is it worth R2 million plus? I've driven some lovely vehicles costing half the money that don't look or feel like half the car, so the AMG GT S in the running for one of my infrequent good value awards!

UNLOCK YOUR LIFE!
UNCLE S. P. ADAM MADE MY LIFE SUCCESSFUL
HE SHOWED ME MY ENEMIES ON WATER. NO MORE SUFFERING & PAIN. ALSO DETERMINED OUR AUNTS WIN WITH OLDIE RING AT SIBAYA CASINO.

I, Mrs Ali Mohammed (54 Years) from Durban I thought Mr and Mrs Moses was lying and exaggerating but it's true after all I saw Uncle S.P Adam. Truly I confessed, and I was challenged because I was very doubtful but suddenly, Uncle S.P Adam really works and he has spiritual power for any problems. Has changed my life and helped us as well. He made me win 10 million, my husband stopped drinking alcohol and our children stopped using drugs. My brother and his wife had failed to have children at the age of 46 years. Ibrahim and his wife Sofie after seeing Uncle S.P Adam and now have 5 children. We appreciate Adams I Ibrahim, 48 years Adams saved my marriage, my wife (46yrs) had gone away from home & imagine mother with 4 children. Cheating me with different men, eventually, I was bewitched by her other men regarding to my manhood from the right performance, power, erection, loss of my normal size to smallest. She was using alcohol & drugs after approaching Uncle Adams, now 5yrs no suffering at all. I married her & no more sex, drugs, alcohol & other abuses, she only listens & respects. Even if she goes to toilet lets me know. Uncle Adam charged me R105

SKISA GKC produces two KSA national medal winners

Dynamite comes in small packages as was proved by a petite lass of Greenbury Karate Club. At the recent Karate South Africa (KSA) National Tournament, Nikayla Moodley, the grade six pupil at Atholton Primary, put on a sterling performance to secure a silver medal in the girls '10/11 yrs under 35kg kumite division. She narrowly missed gold by losing 1-0 in the last seven seconds of the final round. Daena Naidoo, a grade 10 pupil at Greenbury Secondary is no stranger to victory. Her powerful punches earned her a bronze medal in the 14/15 yrs under 47kg kumite division. This is the second time that this Protea capped karateka has scooped a medal in the national tournament. The esteemed event, which was held at the UKZN's Old Mutual Sports Centre on Friday, March 18 and Saturday, March 19, saw the best of the best from all provinces in South Africa competing for national honours. These two girls now qualify to represent South Africa in the Zone 6 Africa Games to be held in Mozambique later this year. The parents of the Greenbury karatekas would like to place on record their sincere gratitude to Sensei Trevor Ganess and Protea coach, Sensei Brando Pillay for their excellent mentorship in preparing for the tournament. For more information on the achievements of Greenbury Karate Club, connect with them on www.facebook.com/GreenburyKarateClub or contact Sensei Trevor Ganess on 073-060-3457.
