Choose your cruise

With more vessels exploring the world's waterways than ever before, there is a cruise style and itinerary to suit all tastes.

Ocean cruising

Ocean cruises open the door to a world of possibilities, with itineraries visiting every continent and an extensive range of onshore excursions.

The vast array of cruise lines sailing the world's oceans means there is a ship to suit everyone from fun-loving singles and family groups of all ages to couples wishing to circumnavigate the globe in style.

Your tastebuds will also be taken on a global tour as you enjoy an array of cuisines at an amazing selection of dining venues, from casual buffets to specialty restaurants.

There's never a dull day spent at sea, with larger ships offering activities ranging from working out at the gym or indulging in a spa treatment to taking a cooking or cocktail-making class and more. The bigger the ship, the more options available, with some of the biggest offering everything from rock-climbing walls and ice-skating rinks to movies under the stars. From adults-only areas to kids clubs, there really is something for everyone.

Nor does the fun end when the sun goes down, as guests can enjoy world-class entertainment in the form of Broadway-style shows, casinos, live music and more.

While mid-size and smaller ships offer fewer activities and dining options than their larger counterparts, they boast more than enough to strike a happy balance between passenger numbers and available facilities. Often more luxurious, they offer an intimate ambience for those seeking a more refined ocean cruise experience.

Adventure & small-ship cruising

Adventure and small-ship cruises allow you to journey to some of the most remote regions of the world. Live life under billowing sails on a tall-ship, take part in expeditions to remote locales or enjoy unique cultural experiences.

Smaller ships are at an advantage as their size enables them to cruise more shallow or narrow waterways, gaining access to ports that larger ships cannot reach.

Onshore excursion options are plentiful and many ships have inflatable Zodiacs and other watercraft that offer passengers to explore their environment more closely. Paddling past spectacular icebergs and watching wildlife or snorkelling with sea lions in the Galapagos Islands are just a few of the options available.

Specialist guides are on hand to assist in making your cruise as wondrous as possible, with informative lectures, interactive classes and in-depth briefings all part of the inclusions.

Exploring out of the way places no longer means sacrificing life's creature comforts, as today's adventure ships are increasingly luxurious, with all the modern amenities and fine dining you could wish for.

With ship sizes ranging from 50 to about 500 passengers, this type of cruising often comes down to the choice of destination and the experiences you hope to have.

River cruising

Intimate, exciting and beautiful, exploring the world's great rivers and canals offers a spectacular way to see a country up close, especially as delightful towns and cities dot the edges of waterways.

River ships are smaller than their ocean-going sisters. Typically carrying 100 to 250 passengers, they offer intimacy and comfort. And with fewer guests it's easier to get to know your fellow travellers.

Covering considerable distances at a serene pace, river cruises glide through the heart of the regions they visit.

From the historic cities of Europe to the mighty Nile in Egypt, the sacred Ganges in India and the fascinating Mekong in Vietnam, river cruising is a great way to observe local life.

Docking in the centre of cities and towns makes river cruises a sightseer's dream, as you need only step ashore to immerse yourself in your surroundings.

Onboard chefs take great pride in using produce that's local to the area the ship is cruising in, so you can savour fine dining with local flavours throughout the voyage.

No other travel option allows you to explore so many different destinations in the heart of the countries you visit while only having to unpack once. And the hassle-free nature of river cruising doesn't end there. Border patrols are also taken care of, so all you have to do is enjoy the journey while someone else sees to the finer details.

Luxury cruising

Those who appreciate a first-class travel experience will undoubtedly enjoy cruising aboard a luxury cruise liner, where spacious surroundings, art collections, flawless personal service, extra stateroom amenities, quality linens and onboard enrichment programs are just a few of the value-added inclusions.

Cabins on a luxury cruise usually boasts more space and more features, with some ships offering all-suite or all-balcony accommodation. Some staterooms feature in-room spas, 24-hour butler service, laundry and pressing services, included mini bars and more.

Dining is an integral part of luxury cruising, so expect cuisine to be creative, with fine dining and connoisseur wines and premium spirits taking centre stage on luxury cruises. Celebrated chefs design innovative menus, while the attentive staff members cater to every whim.

Whether you are enjoying a first-class rail journey or sipping Chianti in Florence, luxury shore excursions are designed around comfort and service – just like your onboard experience.

Onboard facilities offer a refined experience with day spas, health clubs, pools, restaurants, lounges and entertainment catering to the demands of discerning guests.

Luxury vessels carry anywhere from 50 to 1,000 guests and offer a higher staff to guest ratio than other ships, ensuring personal service. Itineraries tend to favour locations desired by sophisticated travellers.

Choose your cruise companion

Just as there is a cruise style to suit all tastes, there are also cruise options to perfectly suit who you are planning to travel with.

Cruise on your own

Travelling solo can allow you to enjoy your destination your way - no compromises.

Many solo travellers choose to cruise. If you're looking for companionship, there is a wide range of group activities and public spaces like bars and cafes for socialising. Some cruise lines even organise social meets for those travelling alone.

On the flip side, if what you're really after is some peace and solitude, you'll always be able to find a quiet corner to yourself, too. Solo travellers come in all shapes, sizes and ages, just like cruise ships, so it's important to understand what type of experience you're after and chat with your travel adviser to find the right cruise for you.

Insider tip

"Ask about offers with reduced or no solo-supplements".

BRENDA HAYWARD
Noller & Turner Travel Associates, QLD

Cruise with your partner

All cruise lines cater to couples market. What will make a difference is the size of the ship you cruise on. Small luxury liners offer an intimate ambience and pay great attention to detail and service. With excellent dining options, every night will feel like date night.

Cruises can be as romantic as you'd like them to be. Have champagne and flowers delivered to your room, go for dinner in a fine restaurant, or sip cocktails as the sun melts into the sea.

With all the important things taken care of, like accommodation, food, transport and entertainment, you'll have all the time in the world to focus on the most important thing: each other.

Insider tip

"Let your adviser know if you're celebrating a special occasion".

CHRIS JAMES
Travel Associates Belconnen, ACT

Cruise with your kids

When cruising as a family, everything is taken care of. There is no need to move everyone and their luggage between cities and modes of transport. Even better, food is included - with something to satisfy everyone from fussy toddlers to hungry teens. Someone also miraculously cleans your cabin every day.

Most large cruise lines offer free onboard kids' club, with programs organised by age. Experienced carers look after the kids, and dedicated zones are well-equipped with toys, games and books, which means children will never be bored.

Every night they are sent a list of activities for the next day and they can choose what interests them. Usually there are also swimming pools, a sports deck and plenty of shows to see and games to take part in as a family too.

Insider tip

"Suite or interconnecting cabins are perfect for larger families".

DEBORAH GRIMA
Trendell & Turner Travel Associates,

Cruise with your family

Multi-generational cruises are increasingly popular, so almost every cruise ship has something on board that each generation will love to do, either on their own or with the rest of the family.

Ocean cruise ships in particular offer something for all generations; the children have kids' clubs, Mum and Dad can have some R&R and grandparents can enjoy the range of activities and classes.

This way, everyone can enjoy activities that suit their tastes during the day before meeting up to recount their adventures in the evening. Some river-cruise companies are now expanding their options to include families, and some luxury cruises are offering more sailings where children are welcome.

Insider tip

"Book shore excursions early so the whole family doesn't miss out."

CHRIS BELLMON
Travel Associates Rose Bay, NSW

Cruise with your friends

Book early so everyone has plenty of time to request leave and then you can all look forward to it together. Early booking also gives you the best chance to ensure that all your cabins are close together.

Younger, more active cruisers, will enjoy large resort ships that offer a multitude of activities, from skydiving at sea to rock climbing, waveriding simulators and waterslides.

For friends that like to party, the themed dress-up nights are always a hit and the onboard nightclubs keep the party going late into the night.

When you need a break from all the action, you can always find a quiet nook or sunbed where you can sit back and read a book.

Insider tip

"Choose the right ship for certain age groups."

TIM DUNLOP
Travel Associates Gympie, NSW

Celebration cruises

Going on a cruise has the effect of making you feel special. It's such a memorable, romantic experience, which makes it the perfect way to celebrate a milestone.

From special birthdays, anniversaries, honeymoons and family reunions to hen's parties and more, it removes the fuss of creating your own celebration at home. You can also get married at sea!

Cruise lines are happy to help you with special arrangements, such as flowers or chocolates, they can make and deliver a cake or fruit platter, have a bottle of champagne on hand and even decorate your cabin as a surprise for that special someone.

Your Travel Associates adviser will be happy to help you arrange these special surprises and depending on the number of guests, you may also qualify for a group booking discount.

Insider tip

"Celebrating with loved ones on a cruise makes the milestones even more magical."

DANNELLE TALVI
Travel Associates McMahon's Point, NSW

Choose your cabin

Once you've decided on your cruise style and companions, the only thing left to do is choose your perfect cabin.

Inside cabins

Inside cabins are the least expensive option and, on some ships, may even have windows looking into the atrium. These cabins are ideal if you intend to be out and about a lot and don't mind not having a view. However, it's worth bearing in mind that the price difference between inside and outside cabins can be quite small.

Outside cabins

Outside cabins are usually the same size as inside cabins, with the only difference being the inclusion of a window allowing natural light in. Most modern ships have large picture windows rather than portholes, but these windows do not open, so if you want a sea breeze, you'll need a balcony cabin.

Balcony cabins

Balcony cabins are similar in size to outside cabins, but with the added advantage of a sliding glass door and a private outdoor area that offers fresh air for your cabin and more space for you to sit and enjoy the view or dine in your room. Once again, the price difference between an outside cabin and a balcony cabin is smaller than you might expect.

Luxury suites

Most cruise ships offer a range of luxury accommodation options that offer much more space and additional amenities, such as free room service, laundry and evening canapes, depending on the cruise line. The more luxurious the suite the more additional inclusions such as priority check-in, seating in restaurants etc. These include suites, penthouses and villas.

Interconnecting Cabins

Most ocean cruise ships also offer interconnecting cabins for families or groups of friends. These are available in a range of configurations, including quad-quad, triple-quad, twin-quad, twin-triple and twin-twin.

Insider tip

"It's worth noting that not all ships, offer all options. For example, some expedition ships might not feature luxury cabins, while many river cruise ships only offer outside cabins and above. There are also a growing number of all-suite luxury ships. Your travel adviser will be happy to explain the options available on your chosen cruise."

Boasting a rich decor and comfortable seating, the warm ambiance on board provides the perfect setting in which to enjoy rousing musical revues and high-energy cabaret from the exceptional cast.

SMALLER PORTS

"A smaller ship means instead of mooring out to sea, you pull up right in the centre of town and get you amongst the sights faster and easier".

A LIGHTER FOOTPRINT

"Peregrine carbon offsets all their cruises using renewable energy initiatives. A smaller ship can cruise with a smaller environment footprint".

HOME AWAY FROM HOME

"The cabins are roomy and comfortable. There's air-conditioning, a guaranteed window, turndown twice a day, and a fully equipped laundry service".

The Peregrine Adventure Cruising Experience

Introducing Peregrine's newest way to discover the secrets of a destination – on a premium small-ship adventure cruise. Whether you've travelled with Peregrine on a small group tour or on a larger cruise ship, this is an exciting, immersive and alternative way to see some of the world's most beautiful beaches, coasts and islands.

Dining

The onboard meals reflect the area you're travelling in, and can be enjoyed in the spacious dining area or on deck. All trips include either half or full board, as well as an unforgettable 'local' night, where the ship's experienced chefs dish up a feast of exceptional regional fare. When on shore, your cruise director or local leader can provide you with tips on the best places to eat and drink in town.

Entertainment

No bowling alleys or nightclubs Peregrine doesn't even have a pool. Instead, the glittering waters of the Adriatic or Costa Rican coast are at the doorstep. These ships have a platform or ladder at the back of the boat allowing you to get into and out of the water with ease. Use the snorkelling equipment (some boats also have kayaks and canoes) or just relax with a drink from the bar and a good book.

Activities

While big ships need to anchor in deep water, Peregrine is able to dock in small ports, allowing you to walk onto and off the boats at your convenience – no security checks and no waiting in queues. From the cosmopolitan port of Mykonos and waterfalls in Iceland, to secluded coves and archaeological sites, you'll have ample time each day to truly immerse yourself.

This cruise experience is inspired by the tremendous compliments of Viking's river cruise passengers. Viking has crafted the ultimate kind of ocean cruise – one focused on destinations.

Dining

Food is an integral part of travel and few things say as much about a destination and culture as its cuisine. On a Viking cruise, you'll celebrate dining both on shore and on board. Three new ocean vessels put the spotlight on fine dining, from classics to regional specialties – often from the very places you're sailing.

Entertainment

Whether you seek to expand your palate, your knowledge or your circle of friends, you'll enjoy a unique onboard experience to ensure you can explore in comfort. Take part in enrichment lectures that breathe insight into your destination and cooking classes that bring forth the cuisine of the destinations you visit.

Activities

Travel should be so much more than just a trip and Viking believes the best way to understand a country is through enrichment. On a Viking cruise, you'll truly explore your destination – through its food, culture and customs. Perhaps you can accompany the ship's chef to a market, go behind the scenes at a theatre, or even view private collections at a museum.
