ALASKA AND CANADA CRUISE TOURS

2017 DESTINATION GUIDE

Resurrection Bay, Seward

A photograph of two brown bears in a lush green field. One bear is lying down on the left, and the other is sitting up on the right, leaning against a large piece of driftwood. In the background, there are rolling green hills and mountains under a blue sky with some clouds. The text "THE GREATNESS OF THE GREAT LAND" is overlaid in large white letters.

THE GREATNESS OF THE GREAT LAND

BIG, BOLD AND UNTAMED — ALASKA IS LIKE NO OTHER PLACE IN THE WORLD

The rugged south eastern coast represents some of nature's best work. The intricate waterways of the Inside Passage, dotted with thousands of islands, big and small. The high cliffs of Misty Fjords. The deep bays that welcome whales every summer. The towering blue ice of Hubbard Glacier. Where life is centred around the water, a cruise is the ideal choice.

But a journey into the interior reveals so much more. Mighty rivers fed by massive glaciers. Towns where moose stroll the streets. The vast taiga forests and rolling tundra of Denali National Park. And the Great One itself — Denali, the mountain standing tall over the rest of the snow-covered Alaska Range.

With a Royal Caribbean Cruisetour, you enjoy both. By combining a seven-night sailing along the south eastern coastline of Alaska, with a small-group tour into the breathtakingly beautiful inland destinations, it's a complete Alaska adventure.

Experience the authentic interior of Alaska in supreme comfort, with luxury transportation and accommodations in the finest lodges available. And with the personal attention and expertise of our Adventure Specialists, you'll explore the wild lands of the last frontier your way.

If you're going the distance, discover the best of Alaska by land and sea on a Royal Caribbean Cruisetour.

THE ROYAL
DIFFERENCE

MEET YOUR PARTNER IN ADVENTURE

OUR ADVENTURE SPECIALISTS WILL SHOW YOU THE ALASKA THEY KNOW AND LOVE

Local connections are the difference between a good trip and a truly memorable one. And only Royal Caribbean Cruisetours are guided by a local Adventure Specialist.

Outdoors enthusiast. Wildlife fan. Concierge. Teller of tall tales. Your Adventure Specialist is all this, and more.

Many of the Adventure Specialists are born and raised in Alaska. Others made their way north, drawn by the romance of a life under the midnight sun. These men and women are all proud to call the Frontier State home, and they are passionate about sharing its natural beauty, history and culture.

Your Adventure Specialist ensures that your travels are effortless, taking care of the small details like hotel check-in while you're out making memories.

Whether you're looking to go trailblazing solo for the day, to deepen your understanding of native Alaskan people or to try the state's best reindeer sausage, your specialist has you covered with thoughtful recommendations and insider knowledge that ensures you make the most of every destination.

Local expertise. Personalised attention. A seamless Alaskan adventure.

THE ROYAL

THE ALASKA TRAVEL EXPERIENCE

LODGING

Alaskan summer nights may be short but they should be restful. That's why Royal Caribbean has partnered with the best accommodation in the heart of every destination. Many locally owned, and all set in areas of great natural beauty, they allow for easy access both to the great outdoors and the communities where you can get a taste of local life.

Their quintessentially Alaskan ambience and comfortable rooms are perfect for socialising or relaxing after an adventure-filled day. Like at the Talkeetna Alaska Lodge, designed around its unrivalled views of the summit of Denali and the Alaska Range, located just minutes from the town's historic downtown.

You're surrounded by nature at Denali Park Village, its rustic buildings tucked into a forested 20-acre site along the banks of the Nenana River. Close to the park entrance, it's not uncommon to see wildlife strolling around.

The Alyeska Resort is Alaska at its most luxurious, with an elegant spa and upscale dining. In this lush valley, walking paths and trails connect you with the beauty of the Chugach range.

Wherever you stay with Royal Caribbean Cruisetours, the comfortable lodges represent base camp — at its finest — for your Alaskan explorations.

WILDERNESS EXPRESS RAIL CARS

A highlight of every Royal Caribbean Cruisetour is riding the deluxe railcars of the Wilderness Express®, a fantastic way to travel in Alaska. In the glass-domed upper level, sit back in comfortable leather chairs as you take in the unobstructed views of the changing landscape before you and the vast open skies above. In the lower level bistro, dine on fine cuisine in a setting both relaxed and refined. You're free to move about the railcar throughout the trip and to take in the views — and fresh air — from the outside platform.

Spanning some 500 miles of track, the Alaska Railroad links Seward on the coast with Anchorage, then extends north to Denali and Fairbanks on a route that reveals scenery not visible from the road. Select Royal Caribbean Cruisetours include multiple segments on the Wilderness Express.

MOTOR COACHES

To see Alaska in all its glory means covering great distances. Royal Caribbean employs the newest fleet of deluxe motor coaches on the interior byways. Each Cruisetour has an assigned coach and one designated driver, so you'll travel in supreme comfort with the same friendly service. Even when you're on the train, your driver is on the road in order to meet you at the station. With door-to-door service, including luggage delivery to your hotel room, it's a smooth ride every day of the trip.

THE ONBOARD
EXPERIENCE

IT'S A GREAT VIEW ALL AROUND

MEET THE SHIP DESIGNED FOR SCENIC CRUISING

Royal Caribbean Alaska Cruisetours feature a 7-night sailing onboard Radiance of the Seas®. With the glass-enclosed central atrium, ocean-facing glass lifts and floor-to-ceiling windows in many venues and public areas, the ship brings in the majestic scenery and late evening sun as she cruises along the ruggedly beautiful south eastern Alaskan coast. From discovering quaint coastal towns to enjoying a perfect day of maritime sightseeing while sailing through intricate waterways and remote bays, every day brings new adventures. Plus plenty of opportunities to play, relax and recharge onboard, too.

LET US ENTERTAIN YOU

Every night of your Royal Caribbean cruise, enjoy complimentary entertainment onboard, including original, West End-caliber productions in the main theatre, live musical acts, and movies under the Alaskan sky on the poolside screen.

Choose from more than a dozen bars, clubs and lounges, including a cozy pub, where you can take in the views over a quiet drink, toast with new friends or dance the night away. And you can try your luck at the elegant, Vegas-style Casino RoyaleSM, where you'll find an array of table games in addition to the slots.

THE ONBOARD
EXPERIENCE

EXPLORE FLAVOURS FAR AND WIDE

You'll have your pick of dining options onboard Radiance of the Seas. The main dining room serves multi-course meals at breakfast, lunch and dinner, with a changing menu throughout the cruise. You'll find casual options and ambience at the Park Café, Boardwalk Doghouse and Windjammer Café — all included with your cruise.

The ship's speciality restaurants are global affairs, with your choice of Izumi Japanese cuisine, Giovanni's Table for Italian, two steakhouses — the classically American Chops Grille and Brazilian — inspired Samba Grill — and Rita's Cantina for Mexican favourites.

NOT YOUR AVERAGE FAMILY HOLIDAY

There is something for everyone on a Radiance of the Seas cruise — and lots that the whole family can enjoy together. With the Alaskan coast as your scenic backdrop, your perfect day at sea can include shooting hoops at the basketball court, putting around on the mini-golf course and conquering the rock-climbing wall, as well as family-friendly games, contests and entertainment. Plus the complimentary youth programmes banish boredom and gives parents the freedom and flexibility to go off and play, too.

JUST FOR KIDS AND TEENS

Royal Caribbean's award-winning Adventure Ocean programming keeps kids engaged with organised, age-appropriate activities. High-quality team members supervise such fun as hands-on science experiments, scavenger hunts, and more. In the evening, parents can feed the kids early then drop them off while they have a romantic dinner or take in the show.

Tweens and teens have their own competitions, parties and movie nights, plus a dedicated club where they can hang out with new friends.

GROWN-UP RETREATS

From aromatic ocean wraps to soothing massages, the onboard Vitality SpaSM delivers the ultimate time-outs for adults. For an endorphin hit, the ship's state-of-the-art fitness centre offers yoga and group classes, plus everything you need — weight machines, cardio equipment and free weights — to work out on your own. And the pool and whirlpools inside the glass-enclosed Solarium are reserved for adults, perfect for a restorative soak afterwards.

CAPTIVATING COASTLINES

Experience the rugged beauty of southeast Alaska's glacier-carved seascapes and forested wilderness. See the marine life that thrives in the frosty seas. And discover quaint coastal towns rich in heritage, history, and indigenous culture.

Alaska's Inside Passage — A narrow waterway surrounded by 1,000-foot icy cliffs. You'll find water and wildlife mix nicely in the protected waterway.

Icy Strait Point — Indigenous Tlingit culture in a town nestled in old-growth forest.

Juneau — Alaska's capital sits at the base of Mount Juneau while the vast Tongass National Forest stretches away to the northeast. Surrounded by water, forest and mountain sights, Juneau is the access point to visit the Juneau Icefields and the immense Mendenhall Glacier.

Ketchikan — Experience the Granite Cliffs, 1,000-foot waterfalls, crystalline lakes and low hanging mists when exploring Misty Fjords National Monument.

Sitting on the shores of the Tongass Narrows, Ketchikan is also one of the best ports to for exploring the rich cultural sights of Native Alaskan nations like the Tlingit, Haida and Tsimshian.

Skagway — Flanked by the same snowcapped Coast Mountains that were once the ramparts to the goldfields of the Yukon, Skagway is the starting point for the Klondike gold rush. Ride the antique White Pass & Yukon narrow-gauge railway and see the original Klondike Trail worn into the rocks.

Vancouver, British Columbia — This cosmopolitan port city is blessed with stunning vistas and an exciting urban scene that offers excellent restaurants with a distinctively local flavour.

BLUE ICE WHITE THUNDER

Nature generally takes her time. Alaska's dramatic mountain ranges and ruggedly beautiful seascapes were carved out by glaciers over thousands of years. Today, most of these giant masses of ice are slowly receding, with one notable exception. The mighty Hubbard — the continent's biggest tidewater glacier — is growing larger by the day and moving quickly toward the Gulf of Alaska. Travelling by sea, cruisers experience the awe-inspiring sight of the towering frozen river of blue ice.

This phenomenon is one of nature's greatest spectacles, as chunks of melting ice the size of buildings break off and crash into the frozen waters of the bay. The sound of cracking ice is so loud, the native peoples called it "White Thunder," and the splash-down of the just-formed icebergs so forceful, the resulting waves may rock the bay and crash against the shoreline.

Onboard Radiance of the Seas, you can appreciate this wonder of nature from almost anywhere.

It's also a unique opportunity to witness the power of nature as Hubbard reshapes the region around Yakutat Bay.

Even by the standards of the Great Land, Hubbard is huge, covering 1,350 square miles. It stretches 76 miles from Canada's Yukon toward the sea until it meets Disenchantment Bay, where the river of blue ice stands some 350 feet tall and about seven miles across.

With Hubbard's relentless advance, at an astonishing 30 feet per day, comes constant calving.

The ship is designed for scenic sailing, with a glass-enclosed central atrium, lifts facing out to the sea, and floor-to-ceiling windows throughout in addition to the ample outdoor deck space. Plus the captain will slowly turn the ship around in the bay several times, to ensure that everyone has the chance to take in the great views. Joining the captain in the bridge is a National Park Ranger, who'll describe the action as it unfolds — and keep a trained eye out for the humpback and orca whales that often frolic in the surrounding coves.

CHOOSE YOUR MEMORIES

There is so much to see, do and explore in the Great Land. With our excursion programmes, you'll enjoy the best of Alaska in port and the inland towns. Our selection of adventures, explorations and tours are diverse, offering the experiences that you and your family will love, whether you're looking for high-flying thrills, history and culture, wildlife, outdoor challenges or a memorable meal on a glacial lake. And all our excursions are designed to complement the sailing and land tour, making your Royal Caribbean Alaska Cruisetour complete and totally unique to you. To inspire your Alaska holiday planning, here is a sampling from our programmes.

DISCOVER ALASKA WHALES (JUNEAU)

The hands-on science of marine biology meets scenic sightseeing on this whale-watching expedition from Juneau. While cruising Stephens Passage in a safari-style vessel, your guide leads you through activities that support local research organisations, such as monitoring for invasive species, collecting plankton samples, identifying humpback whales and observing other marine mammals. In addition to the pods of humpbacks, these waterways are home to orcas, Stellar sea lions, Dahl's porpoises, and harbor seals.

GREAT ALASKAN LUMBERJACK SHOW AND AXE CHALLENGE (KETCHIKAN)

Meet some of Alaska's famed woodsmen in the port of Ketchikan. It's man against tree — and each other — as lumberjacks compete to see who can chop, saw and climb the fastest. It takes some fancy footwork to be the last one standing while rolling a log. Then see if you've got what it takes when the timber pros invite the show attendees to participate in an axe-throwing contest.

DENALI FLYER (TALKEETNA)

Fly to the remote western end of Denali National Park for the best views of the three biggest mountains of the Alaska Range and the glacier that connects them. Kahiltna Glacier, the longest glacier in the range, begins on the Great One's southwest slope, at around 10,000 feet, and extends between Mount Foraker and Mount Hunter. The aerial tour takes you over the glacier's south fork, where climbers preparing to scale Denali set up base camp at 7,000 feet.

HUSKY HOMESTEAD (DENALI)

Jeff King knows what it takes to put together a winning team of sled dogs. The four-time champion of the Iditarod race opens his kennel to small groups of visitors for a personal tour. There you'll meet the canines who've led King to triumph and visit with the puppies that are being groomed for future competition. Training is year-round and intense, so you'll get to see the summer regimen in action.

INTO THE WILD

The Alaskan wilderness — rolling tundra and great forests, mighty rivers and pristine glacial lakes, and towering mountains covered in snow and ice — is made for adventure. Yet it is the people who make this state so distinct from the lower 48. From the cities to remote settlements, discover their strong sense of community and shared love of Alaska's incomparable wild beauty.

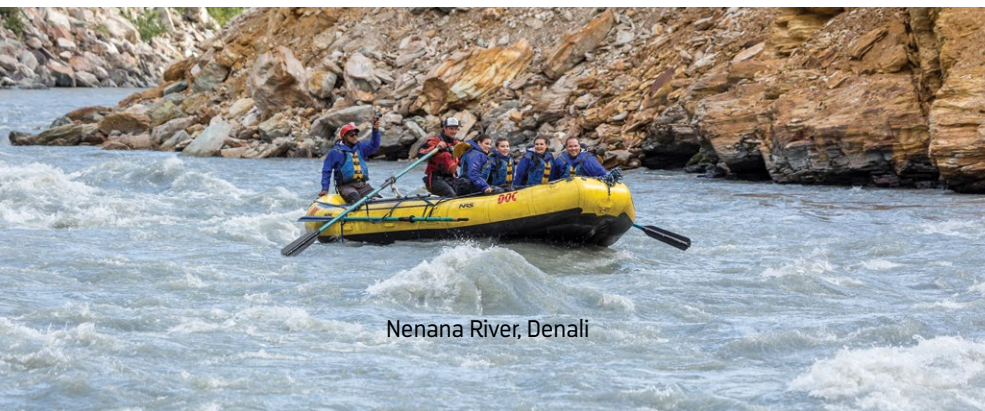

THE UNTAMED BEAUTY OF DENALI

In the centre of the Alaska Range, the alpine landscapes of taiga forest and vast tundra rise up to meet giant glaciers and rugged mountains covered in snow. Towering high above them all is Denali, North America's tallest peak at 20,310 feet. In the Athabaskan language, its name means "The Great One." Central to the cultural heritage of the native peoples who have lived here for thousands of years, the giant mountain is the ultimate symbol of the Alaskan wild. This is where the United States established the world's first park expressly designated for the conservation of wildlife. A century later, Denali National Park remains a wild kingdom, where animals, large and small, roam free.

The park's most famous residents are the Big Five: Dall sheep, wolves, caribou, moose and the mighty grizzly bear. But they are far from alone. More than 30 other mammals, the red fox and arctic squirrel among them, also live here. And come summer, they are joined by more than 160 species of migratory birds.

For the best chances at spotting wildlife, you'll travel along the park's lone road that stretches 92 miles into the backcountry. Journey through the lowland forests of spruce, poplar and hardy shrubs up to the river valleys dotted with wildflowers and onwards to wide-open tundra covered in mosses, ferns, grasses, and bushes of wild berries. It's a journey that showcases the beauty of Denali's distinct habitats.

Active outdoors adventures can be found in the park's front country. Dozens of walking, hiking and biking trails begin at the park entrance. River rafting, flightseeing, and sled-dog summer camps are close by. And no visit is complete without spending time at the Denali Park Visitor Centre. Staffed by welcoming park rangers, the centre does double-duty as a natural history museum. Its acclaimed exhibits vividly tell the story of Denali, from its emergence from the Ice Age to the subarctic environment of today.

Nenana River, Denali

TALKEETNA — SMALL TOWN BIG CHARM

Built at the junction of three glacial rivers, Talkeetna is one of Alaska's most unique spots, an eclectic, offbeat community set amid incomparable scenic beauty. When the skies are clear and clouds lift, panoramic vistas of Denali and the other snow-covered mountains of the Alaskan Range are revealed from different points all over town.

With a quaint main street lined with vintage clapboard buildings, pioneer heritage and an independent streak, this village of just 800 people has the same qualities as many other historic Alaskan towns. Yet tiny Talkeetna has an outsized reputation as the funkiest place in the state — it's residents include Stubbs, the cat that in 2016 marked 20 years as honorary mayor.

In the summer months, Talkeetna welcomes climbers from around the world seeking to conquer the rugged peaks. Other visitors opt to scale the summits by plane, which delivers the best views from on high and the opportunity to touch down on a nearby glacier.

Close to downtown, the Talkeetna, Susitna, and Chulitna rivers come together to form the Big Susitna. There you'll find rafting adventures, fishing, jet boat rides, and an enormous park where you can stroll down to the water's edge and walk along gravelly sand bars.

Locals and visitors alike gather, relax and recharge in the bars, restaurants and roadhouses of the historic downtown. You may share a local microbrew with a bush pilot, or an artist whose works are on display in a local gallery. Enjoy a friendly chat at the café with your coffee and fresh-baked treat. This frontier hospitality is part of Talkeetna's special charm.

ALASKA LAND
DESTINATIONS

ANCHORAGE — FRONTIER FLAIR IN THE BIG CITY

Set between the sparkling waters of Cook Inlet and the dramatic snow-capped Chugach Mountains, Anchorage is Alaska's biggest city. Nearly half of the state's estimated 738,000 human residents live here, along with sizeable populations of bears and moose. Few places in the world can match its appealing blend of metropolitan pursuits and outdoor living. Where else can you see office workers casting fishing lines at lunch time?

Anchorage is at its most exuberant during the summer, when locals make the most of the mild temperatures and long days to stay out late into the sunny night. Many restaurants and bars have patios and decks, so you can enjoy the evening light and lively ambiance. The big city also boasts Alaska's biggest and most diverse dining scene, from great burger joints and craft breweries to classic steakhouses and cosmopolitan cuisine.

The grid-based downtown is easy to navigate on foot, yet there's so much more to explore. Like historic Spenard, an artsy district with its own heritage and distinct personality. Or some of the 250 miles of trails within city limits, including the Tony Knowles Coastal Trail that extends from the city centre along the waterfront.

To experience Alaska's varied culture, Anchorage has you covered, too. The Alaska Native Heritage Centre is an acclaimed forum for storytellers, dancers and artisans dedicated to preserving and sharing the diverse traditions of Alaska's indigenous peoples. Bringing together art, history and science, the Anchorage Museum recently opened a planetarium that showcases the wonders of the Alaskan skies. And the Alaska Museum of Science and Nature is fun for kids of all ages, with many hands-on exhibits.

SEWARD — GATEWAY TO KENAI FJORDS

From the snow-capped peaks of the Chugach, the Kenai Peninsula extends from the mainland between the Cook Inlet and Prince William Sound, down to the Gulf of Alaska. Nicknamed Alaska's playground, the peninsula is remarkably diverse, encompassing wetlands and forest, rivers and lakes, a southern mountain range and an intricate coastline carved out by glaciers over thousands of years.

Perched at the head of Resurrection Bay, the picturesque seaport of Seward is the gateway to nearby Kenai Fjords National Park. Here the Ice Age maintains a cold grip: more than half of the park's landmass is a frozen expanse, covered by snow, glaciers and the massive Harding Icefield. Where the ice has retreated, the rainforest has taken hold, populated by land animals like brown bears, wolverines and mountain goats. And where mountains, ice and ocean meet, the rugged seascapes and frosty waters support all manner of marine life, from colonies of nesting seabirds to sea lions, seals and pods of humpback whales.

One of the oldest communities in the state, Seward has a quaint downtown where you can stroll, enjoy a meal fresh off a fisherman's boat or relax in a local watering hole. Seward is also where the land and sea portions of a Royal Caribbean Cruisetour intersect. At the crossroads of maritime and interior Alaska, where the century-old sea routes meet the Alaska Railroad and scenic Seward Highway, one set of adventures comes to an end and a new one begins.

DESTINATIONS

ALYESKA — SEVEN GLACIERS AND ONE ECLECTIC LITTLE TOWN

Girdwood is a popular getaway from Anchorage, a mere 38 miles away along the shores of the Turnagain Arm waterway on one of the most scenic stretches of the Seward Highway. Visitors are drawn to the town's majestic setting in a verdant valley, surrounded by the Chugach Mountains and seven hanging glaciers.

Unique among Alaska's resort towns, Girdwood is a destination for all seasons. It is home to a small, tight-knit, and decidedly eclectic community of year-round residents who include ski bums, artists, ardent environmentalists, judges, politicians and many a part-timer from the big city. The compact centre is dotted with coffee shops, casual eateries and fine restaurants where visitors and locals fuel up before and after their excursions into the Chugach Mountains and National Forest.

The Alyeska Resort is base camp at its most luxurious. Nestled into the forest at the foot of Mount Alyeska, it features such premium experiences as a full-service spa, elegant fine dining, and a saltwater pool with mountain views. Right outside the door, the great outdoors is yours to explore. A number of scenic strolls, mountain-biking trails and hikes begin on the resort's grounds.

For the most daring travelers, there are glaciers to climb. But no visit to Girdwood is complete without riding the aerial tram to the summit of Mount Alyeska. In a matter of minutes, you're transported to the best spot for picture-postcard views of the high, snow-capped peaks, down to the valley below and the shimmering waters of the Turnagain.

Chena River, Fairbanks

FAIRBANKS — ALASKA'S GOLDEN HEART CITY

Back in 1901, E.T. Barnette ran his riverboat aground in the shallows of the Chena. His fortunes would soon turn. The 1902 discovery of gold nearby transformed the captain's makeshift trading outpost into a boomtown. Fairbanks today remains a destination for adventure seekers, as the gateway to Alaska's northern wilds and some of its most isolated terrain.

In a valley crossed with rivers and streams, Fairbanks sits on the Chena, close to its juncture with the mighty Tanana. On clear days, the view south over the flats can extend to the Alaska Range. To the north, hills gradually rise up to meet the White Mountains. Winters mean frigid cold, long nights and the beauty of the Northern Lights. Summer brings balmy days, boundless sunshine and baseball under the midnight sun. In the warm months, the riverfront areas are abuzz, thanks to promenades, outdoor dining, kayaking, canoeing and old-fashioned sternwheelers slowly cruising by.

While home to just 32,000, it is the big city of the interior and cultural hub for the sparsely populated region. The University of Alaska Fairbanks is a top global centre for arctic and subarctic research. Its acclaimed Museum of the North showcases Alaska's geological, natural and cultural history through fascinating exhibits that include Blue Babe, the 36,000-year-old mummy of a steppe bison.

You can still go for the gold in Fairbanks, panning just like the early prospectors did. In the wilderness outside town, two intrepid miners founded the Chena Hot Springs resort whose warm, mineral-rich waters are still welcoming visitors more than a century later. Like Fairbanks itself, the historic resort combines pioneer heritage with a deep appreciation of the surrounding natural beauty.

GREAT ADVENTURES ALREADY INCLUDED

No two travellers are exactly alike which is why a Royal Caribbean Cruisetour features both included experiences and ample free time for you to do as much — or as little — as you'd like. The inclusive selection has been designed with tours and experiences that showcase the special qualities of every destination. And they are thoughtfully chosen to complement your independent explorations and discoveries for a complete and memorable Alaskan holiday that is all yours.

RIVERBOAT DISCOVERY (FAIRBANKS)

Take a journey into Fairbanks' pioneering past onboard a vintage-style sternwheeler as she gently churns along the waters of the Chena. More than a river cruise, the Riverboat Discovery includes memorable stops along the way. A guided tour of an Athabascan Indian village is your introduction to the everyday lives and enduring traditions of the people whose ancestors settled here thousands of years ago. The spirit of Iditarod champion Susan Butcher lives on at the Trailblazer Kennels, where you'll meet sled dogs in training, their handlers and some aspiring pups. And be enthralled at the sight of a bush plane touching down alongside the Discovery.

GOLD DREDGE 8 (FAIRBANKS)

The discovery of gold transformed Alaska, and the Gold Dredge 8 tour brings the state's gold rush history and mining heritage to life. Over three decades, the pan-like dredge extracted millions of ounces of gold outside downtown Fairbanks, reopening years later as a national historic district and popular attraction. You'll travel to the site onboard a replica narrow-gauge train whose conductor shares tales of the early prospectors. Then watch the giant mechanism — itself an engineering landmark — in action before getting hands-on, panning for gold the old-fashioned way. Explore the camp where the miners lived, then enjoy some cookies and hot coffee while your fortune is weighed. Fun for all ages

DENALI NATURAL HISTORY TOUR / TUNDRA WILDERNESS TOUR (DENALI)

Denali National Park is an exceptional place to connect with Alaskan nature. Only one road extends into the untamed wilds, cutting through evergreen forest, up into the higher elevations that open out onto tundra and river valleys extending up to the Alaska Range. Your sharp-eyed guide is the lookout for all the creatures, great and small, though sightings of the Big Five — moose, grizzly bears, caribou, wolves and Dall sheep — depend on luck and timing. The Denali Natural History Tour focuses on the park's natural and cultural history, travelling to Primrose Ridge (mile 17) with stops along the way. The Tundra Wilderness Tour goes deeper into the park — some 62 miles — featuring more diverse scenery, additional stops and, when the weather is clear, an amazing view of the great mountain.

ALYESKA AERIAL TRAM (ALYESKA)

Outside of a flightseeing tour, the Alyeska Aerial Tram in Girdwood delivers Alaska's best panoramic views in a matter of minutes. From the Alyeska Resort at the base of Mount Alyeska, you'll ascend 2,300 feet to the summit. From the tram, you can see for miles, with even more expansive vistas from the mountaintop observation deck. The panorama includes the seven hanging glaciers and the snow-capped peaks of the Chugach Mountains, the forested Chugach valley and out to the sparkling waters of the Turnagain Arm waterway. Be sure to look down, too, and you may see wildlife ambling across the mountain's slope.

ALASKA NATIVE HERITAGE CENTRE (ANCHORAGE)

Discover the diversity of Alaska's indigenous communities — Yup'ik, Cup'ik, Iñupiaq, Athabaskan, Tlingit, Alutiiq and more — at this acclaimed institution. More than a museum, the centre is a forum for the storytellers, dancers and artisans who are dedicated to sharing their heritage with fellow Alaskans and visitors and to preserving their languages and customs. The Welcome House is a celebration of contemporary Alaska Native cultures, while the outdoor facilities and sites on the centre's 26-acre wooded campus in northeast Anchorage allow you to explore ancient traditions, architectural styles and stories that have been passed down through the generations.

ALASKA WILDLIFE CONSERVATION CENTRE (ALYESKA)

Near the very end of the Turnagain Arm Waterway, along the scenic Seward Highway, this centre provides a sanctuary for native Alaskan animals in need. Here you can get up close to the orphaned, injured or displaced animals, under care in their natural habitats so that they can be reintroduced into the wild. The resident population varies by the season but can include caribou and moose calves, fawns, porcupines, birds, lynx and brown and black bears. The gift shop is a great place to look for souvenirs and unique wares created by Alaskan artisans, the proceeds of which all go to fund animal care.

RESURRECTION BAY WILDLIFE CRUISE (SEWARD)

The port of Seward sits at the head of the scenic bay that is surrounded by jagged cliffs and forested mountains, with views up to the surrounding glaciers. Where ocean, ice and mountains meet, a diverse variety of wildlife flourishes. Setting off from the picturesque small-boat harbour, enjoy a narrated tour as you cruise close to the rugged seascapes on the lookout for sea otters, sea lions and whales in the frosty waters, puffins and other seabirds sheltering in the cliffs and land animals like Dall sheep on shore. Stop at a small private island for an Alaskan buffet, a presentation by a park ranger and a chance to stroll along the "skipping stone" beach.

ALASKA SEALIFE CENTRE (SEWARD)

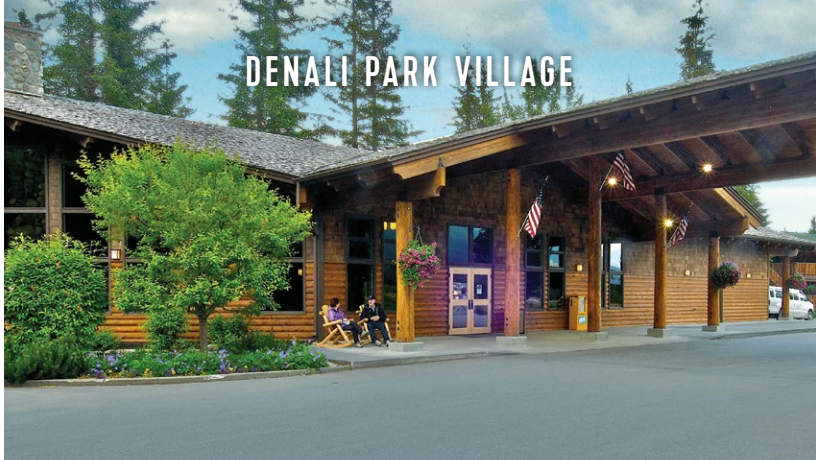

A marine-research institution and aquarium — and Alaska's only permanent rehabilitation facility dedicated to the care of marine mammals — is located in Seward. Dedicated to understanding and protecting the state's marine ecosystems, it allows visitors to explore the underwater world of the cold northern seas. You'll see a variety of native species: marine mammals like harbour seals, Stellar sea lions and sea otters; sea puffins, long-tailed ducks and other birds; fish like coho salmon and wolf eels and invertebrates such as the giant Pacific octopus and red king crab. Meet the people who care for these creatures and enjoy a close encounter at a feeding. A memorable experience for animal lovers of all ages.

FRONTIER HOSPITALITY IN THE WILD

FULL DAYS OF ADVENTURE, RESTFUL NIGHTS

From the big city to the wilderness of Denali, Royal Caribbean has partnered with the finest accommodation available in the heart of every destination featured on our Cruisetours. More than a comfortable place to spend the night, they are part of the Frontier State experience. Set amid great natural beauty, and close to both key attractions and local communities, these lodges and hotels deliver the best of Alaska right outside your door. And many are locally owned, with a distinct style and personality, for an authentically Alaskan stay.

Just outside the city of Seward, travel down the winding road to Exit Glacier and you'll find your retreat in the heart of the Kenai Peninsula, Seward Windsong Lodge. The towering mountains, fragrant spruce trees and the rush of the Resurrection River will awaken your senses on arrival. The Roadhouse Restaurant offers spectacular views of the Resurrection River Valley and cuisine that's certain to impress.

Close to the entrance of Denali National Park, Denali Park Village is the perfect base for exploring the greatest wilderness of the Alaskan interior. Its rustic-style buildings are nestled into 20 acres of forest along the Nenana River, where wildlife sightings are not uncommon. Hiking and interpretive paths cross the expansive site, and rafting trips begin right here, too. The main lodge has a coffee shop, saloon, casual restaurant and dinner theatre, plus a terrace where you can watch and listen to the rushing river waters.

Built atop a ridge outside this funky village, the Talkeetna Alaskan Lodge arguably has the most iconic scenery of any hotel in the state. On clear days, the lobby and restaurants enjoy panoramic vistas of Denali and the mountains of the Alaskan Range, their snow-covered peaks shimmering in the golden light late on summer evenings. The lodge is surrounded by walking and hiking trails and Talkeetna's three rivers beckon with adventures that range from laid-back float trips to jet boat thrills. In addition to casual and fine dining on site, the lodge is just minutes from the historic downtown's cafes, roadhouses, bars and food trucks.

Homesteader Lloyd Pike first built Pike's Landing on the banks of the Chena back in 1959 and it remains a family-run enterprise. True to the Alaskan spirit, Pike's has a style all its own, from its displays of original works by Alaskan artists, to the resident ducks and the greenhouse that supplies Pike's kitchen with fresh vegetables all summer long. You can play mini golf and bocce ball here, stroll the riverfront and enjoy drinks and dinner on the lively outdoor patio. And it's easy to explore, with attractions like the Museum of the North and downtown less than 15 minutes away.

INCLUDED EXPERIENCES

- Kenai Fjords National Park Cruise
- Alaska Native Heritage Centre
- Tundra Wilderness Tour
- Fairbanks City Tour
- Riverboat Discovery Cruise
- Rail Denali to Fairbanks

See more of great national parks on this 12-night holiday with premium tours in Kenai Fjords and Denali, plus two nights in Fairbanks.

DAY 1-8 - CRUISE | 7-night sailing from Vancouver to Seward

DAY 8 – FRIDAY | Seward

- Stroll Seward's historic downtown before embarking on the Kenai Fjords National Park Cruise. Your captain will take you to remote, otherwise inaccessible areas where mountains, giant glaciers and ocean meet to form sea and landscapes that support an array of wildlife.
- From 5:30 pm, Seward is yours to discover. Enjoy a meal fresh off a fisherman's boat or relax in a local watering hole.

DAY 9 – SATURDAY | Seward | Anchorage

- Travel along the scenic Seward Highway in the deluxe motor coach to Anchorage. There you'll visit the acclaimed Alaska Native Heritage Centre, a showcase for the state's diverse indigenous traditions.

- From 5:00 pm, Anchorage is yours to discover. Long summer days mean you'll experience urban culture — restaurants, live music, craft breweries, city trails and more — while basking in sunlight.

DAY 10 – SUNDAY | Anchorage | Denali

- Relax on the scenic drive from the big city into the interior, with a stop for lunch on your own in the funky village of Talkeetna.
- From 4:30 pm, Denali is yours to explore. Book an optional excursion, like fly-fishing in one of the many rivers or streams, or a guided ATV ride.

DAY 11 – MONDAY | Denali | Fairbanks

- Travel miles into the unspoiled forest and tundra of Denali National Park for the best chances at seeing wildlife on the ranger-led Tundra Wilderness Tour. Then you'll board the glass-domed cars of the Wilderness Express for a breathtaking journey north to Fairbanks.

- From 8:00 pm, Fairbanks is yours to discover. Take a stroll along the banks of the Chena river.

DAY 12 – TUESDAY | Fairbanks

- Experience local history and heritage as you cruise the Chena in a vintage-style sternwheeler, making stops at a native Alaskan village and sled-dog camp. Enjoy lunch on your own downtown before a city highlights tour.
- From 4:00 pm, your time in the Golden Heart City is your own. Your Adventure Specialist will have personalised recommendations and can book optional excursions like flights north into the remote lands of the Arctic Circle.

DAY 13 – WEDNESDAY | Fairbanks

Your Adventure Specialist will make sure you get to the airport on time.

Fjord and Tundra National Parks Explorer | Cruisetour 6B

This itinerary is conducted in reverse order of Tour 6A and offered as a pre-cruise option.

2017 DEPARTURES — May 21, June 4 & 18, July 2, 16 & 30, August 13 & 27

13-Night Alaska Wilderness Spectacular | Cruisetour 8A

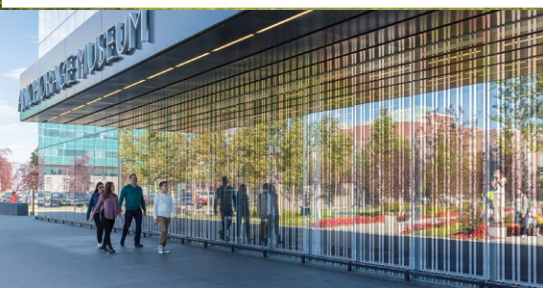

7-Night Northbound Alaska and Hubbard Glacier Cruise onboard Radiance of the Seas followed by a 6-Night post-cruise escorted land tour to Anchorage, Talkeetna, Denali (2 nights) and Fairbanks (2 nights).

2017 DEPARTURES — May 17*, June 2, 16 & 30, July 14 & 28, August 11 & 25

* Please note May 17 offers a 9-Night Cruise combined with a 6-Night post-cruise escorted land tour.

INCLUDED EXPERIENCES

- Alaska Native Heritage Centre
- Rail Anchorage to Talkeetna
- Rail Talkeetna to Denali
- Tundra Wilderness Tour
- Rail Denali to Fairbanks
- Fairbanks City Tour
- Riverboat Discovery Cruise
- Museum of the North

See more of Alaska's spectacular scenery in unrivalled comfort travelling the full length of the Alaska Railroad in the glass-domed railcars of The Wilderness Express.

DAY 1-8 - CRUISE | 7-night sailing from Vancouver to Seward.

DAY 8 – FRIDAY | Seward | Anchorage

- Travel by luxury motor coach on the scenic Seward Highway to Anchorage. Discover indigenous traditions from around the state on your guided visit to the Alaska Native Heritage Centre.
- From 3:30 pm, your time in Anchorage is your own. Visit the Anchorage Museum, which brings together history, art and science, or take a glacier flightseeing tour before exploring the big city by the light of the evening sun.

DAY 9 – SATURDAY | Anchorage | Talkeetna

- Relax and take in the views from the Wilderness Express on the morning rail journey to Talkeetna.

- From 11:00 am, the funky village Talkeetna is yours to discover. Your Adventure Specialist can recommend an optional outdoor excursion that still leaves plenty of time to hang out with the locals in the historic downtown.

DAY 10 – SUNDAY | Talkeetna | Denali

- Today features another journey by train, which offers the best views of the rivers, gulches and other landscapes on the way to Denali.
- From 3:30 pm, Denali is yours to explore. Take to the skies on a flightseeing tour for unrivalled views of the mountain and wilderness. Or enjoy the thrills of the rapids on a rafting excursion.

DAY 11 – MONDAY | Denali

- You'll go deep into the park on the lone road on the Tundra Wilderness Tour for the best chances of seeing wildlife.
- After your tour, your time in Denali is your own. There are biking and hiking trails that begin right near the park entrance.

DAY 12 – TUESDAY | Denali | Fairbanks

- Enjoy a free morning in Denali before boarding the Wilderness Express for the rail journey north to Alaska's Golden Heart City.
- From 8:00 pm, Fairbanks is yours to explore. Enjoy a stroll along the riverfront in the light of the midnight sun.

DAY 13 – WEDNESDAY | Fairbanks

- Explore local history and heritage on a full day featuring a city highlights tour, a visit to the acclaimed Museum of the North, and a cruise down the Chena River in a vintage sternwheeler.
- From 5:30 pm, your time is your own. Enjoy an optional visit to a traditional salmon bake and watch a theatre performance that tells the story of the gold rush through musical comedy.

DAY 14 – THURSDAY | Fairbanks

Your Adventure Specialist will make sure you get to the airport on time.

Alaska Wilderness Spectacular | Cruisetour 8B

This itinerary is conducted in reverse order of Tour 8A and offered as a pre-cruise option.

2017 DEPARTURES — May 20, June 3 & 17, July 1, 15 & 29, August 12 & 26

CANADA CRUISETOURS

ESCAPE
MOUNTAINS,
REVEL IN CITY LIFE

CANADA CRUISETOURS

Snow-capped ranges, emerald-hued glacier lakes, forested valleys and sophisticated cities together make for a grand tour of Western Canada. Combine these experiences with a 7-night Alaska sailing onboard Radiance of the Seas or Explorer of the Seas for one unforgettable Royal Caribbean adventure.

On the land portion of the Royal Caribbean Canadian Rockies Cruisetour, journey between Vancouver, the cosmopolitan city of the Pacific, to Calgary, the modern metro with a frontier heart tucked between the foothills and the prairies. Along the way, discover the wilderness and untamed beauty of Canada's greatest national parks. With overnight stays in Jasper, Banff and on the shores of Lake Louise, you'll be surrounded by spectacular scenery.

All Canadian Rockies Cruisetours are independent travel itineraries. They offer all the features of an organised group holiday with the freedom and flexibility to pursue your own interests and find your own style of adventure

Fairmont Hotels

The land tour is also an opportunity to experience Canada's golden age of trans-continental travel. As the nation began to move west, the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways drew on grand inspiration — a Loire Valley chateau, a Scottish baronial, a gentlemen's hunting lodge — to create distinctive mountain destinations and city hotels that were the ultimate in elegance. Most nights of the Canada land tour feature sumptuous stays at these iconic properties that are now part of Fairmont Hotels & Resorts. The hotelier has thoughtfully restored these landmarks to their original glory and carefully upgraded them, so you enjoy the finest accommodation, with all the modern experiences, along with the treasured traditions and heritage of the Victorian and Edwardian eras.

VIA Rail

You'll also get to relive, or enjoy for the first time, the romance of train travel on an overnight trip onboard VIA Rail's legendary train, The Canadian. VIA Rail has completely renovated the cars of the Sleeper Touring Class, maintaining their period style and mid-century flair. The trip includes both dinner and breakfast in the dining car, where fresh, fine cuisine is prepared to order onboard. The schedule and route between Jasper and Vancouver maximise your daylight views of the mountains, which you can take in from the airy domed cars, the parlour cars and your own private cabin for two. Before you retire, the dedicated attendant will have readied your cabin for a restful night.
