Furore over task team's disbanding

The Brakpan SAPS has disbanded its Anti-Hijacking Task Team - a decision that has many members of the community up in arms.

The task team, renowned for its policing successes, was informed of the decision by Brakpan Police Station management on Thursday last week.

Capt Joep Joubert, spokesperson for the Brakpan Police Station commander, initially told the Herald that the decision was made "in the interest of the employer and for better service delivery to the community".

The team comprised WO Jan Roos, WO Sonja Roos, Sgt Ockert Venter and Const Jacques Vivier, regarded by many as top cops.

It has since been alleged that members of the Brakpan CPF, a structure within the police service, laid complaints against the team, resulting in the disbanding.

These allegations were repeated during a community demonstration in protest of the decision, which was held on Monday morning outside the local police station.

While the gathering was peaceful, it was deemed illegal as the participants did not have permission.

About 50 residents were present and many blamed the CPF for the disbanding.

These residents also questioned the CPF's power in the community and claimed that CPF members "think they are police officers".

Police station management also came under fire.

The protesting residents held up placards reading 'Brakpan het die taakspan nodig', 'Top cops must stay' and 'Taakspan sukses'.

Numerous residents believe that crime will now spike as a result of the disbanding.

Asked to comment on the allegations, Brakpan police confirmed that a complaint has been lodged by members of the CPF against the task team members.

"The identity of the complainants cannot be disclosed for the safety of the individuals," said Joubert.

"The nature of the complaint can also not be said at this stage for the purpose of investigation; the disclosure can jeopardise the investigation."

Joubert explained the role of the CPF.

CPF and station management under fire for Brakpan Anti-Hijacking Task Team's disbanding.

"The CPF is a structure established under the Police Act and the function is to facilitate a mutual understanding between the SAPS and the public, to listen to the complaints of the public and liaise with the police to address the complaints," he said.

"On the other hand, the function is to liaise with the public on feedback from the SAPS and to convey concerns of the police to the public.

"This is an exercise of ensuring that there is a partnership between the police and the community with the view of preventing crime.

"Nothing prevents the CPF from being in the company of police in projects like crime awareness and addressing the youth about drugs.

"We all have responsibilities as police and the public in ensuring that there is order in society.

"The CPF members can be at a roadblock with police.

"What I can say in regards to some concerns from the public is that the CPF has no powers to hold a roadblock on their own and search people.

"Any person who takes the law into his or her hands will be investigated and arrested at some stage."

According to Joubert, the disbanded team members will be working relief duty and will still be helping the community.

Whether the members will be replaced and a new task team will patrol the streets of Brakpan, Joubert stated that this will be taken into consideration.

"If the team is replaced it will not be now or soon," he said.

Joubert reminded residents that the SAPS, like any other government department, has rules and regulations to run the administration.

"The rules and regulations are not applied in a mala fide (bad faith) practice as there are procedures," he said.

"These procedures need to be respected like in any company or department."

Security guard won't let sleeping dogs lie

An ambulance was called to a local bar on Friday morning, last week, after a security guard was kicked by an unruly patron.

The incident took place at an establishment in Dalpark shortly before 2am.

The woman, who allegedly received medical attention following the altercation, came to the aid of the bar's supervisor, who was escorting two men from the premises.

The pair had been asked to leave because they had two small dogs with them and the bar does not permit animals.

As the group approached the exit, it is alleged the two men became aggressive and one of them started kicking the guard on her right upper leg.

A case of common assault was opened at the Brakpan Police Station.

Five cases of common assault and five cases of assault with the intent to cause grievous bodily harm were registered at the local station over the weekend.

Lone armed hijacker strikes in driveway

A Brenthurst resident was hijacked in the driveway of his Tweedy Street home on Thursday, last week – the same day the Brakpan SAPS Anti-Hijacking Task Team was disbanded.

According to information received from Brakpan police, the resident was confronted by a man armed with a gun at about 9.45am, as he was leaving his house.

The hijacker threatened the man with the weapon and made him lie on the ground. The resident was searched and robbed of R300 and his wristwatch.

The hijacker fled in the resident's vehicle, a white Kia Cerato.

A case of carjacking has been opened.

Cyclist critical after being hit by taxi

A 30-year-old man is in a critical condition after he was struck by a taxi while cycling along Van Dyk Street, in Brakpan, on Tuesday morning.

The exact detail to the cause of the accident, which took place at about 7.30am, will remain a subject for police investigation and comment.

"When Netcare 911 paramedics arrived on the scene, we found the man to be in a critical condition," said Athlenda Mathe, media liaison officer for Netcare 911.

"After stabilising him, paramedics transported the man by ambulance to a nearby hospital for further medical care."

African Muslim Farmers Association donates to SPCA

Management of the Brakpan SPCA received a welcome donation from the African Muslim Farmers Association on Saturday. The organisation handed over a cheque to the value of R13 000. The SPCA recently suffered a break-in and the donation was welcomed by manager Ming Church (fourth from left).

Two hijacked vehicles recovered

Two hijacked vehicles were recovered by members of the Ekurhuleni Metropolitan Police Department (EMPD) over the weekend.

On Saturday, EMPD Equestrian Unit members recovered a white Ford Bantam bakkie that was hijacked in Brakpan the previous night.

The vehicle was found abandoned at around 11am.

"Through the assistance of a vehicle tracking system, the hijacked vehicle was recovered along Motlareng Street in KwaThema," said EMPD spokesperson Lieut-Col Wilfred Kgasago.

The vehicle was found intact with its original licence disc and registration plates untouched.

The owner of the vehicle was not harmed during the hijacking.

Once the forensics were completed, the vehicle was taken to SAPS Van Ryn Deep Pound in Benoni.

On Sunday morning, a hijacked white BMW 1 Series was recovered by members of the EMPD First Responder Unit.

The owner was hijacked of his vehicle along Mbhele Street in Langaville Extension Seven, in Tsakane, on Saturday night.

"The metro police came across the vehicle while patrolling the area and on enquiry received confirmation of the BMW being a hijacked vehicle.

"Fortunately, the owner was not harmed during the hijacking and was able to open a case at the Tsakane Police Station the same night," said Kgasago.

"The vehicle was found abandoned at 10am with minor damages.

"The owner was contacted and he brought along the vehicle's spare key for his recovered BMW to be driven to SAPS Van Ryn Deep Pound, once the forensics were completed."

Cachalia appalled by 'Plastic City'

The Democratic Alliance believes the Waste Department of Ekurhuleni is guilty of gross mismanagement and incompetence, which has resulted in failed refuse removal services, a filthy environment and shocking human conditions at the "Plastic City" squatter camp in Brakpan.

The litany of problems are self-inflicted, according to the DA's mayor-elect, Ghaleb Cachalia, who visited Plastic City, opposite the Weltevreden Landfill Site, on Tuesday, last week.

He was briefed by the party's spokesperson on waste, Clr Gary Scallan.

Scallan pointed out that, for the third consecutive quarter, no environmental audit has been conducted at any of the five landfill sites throughout Ekurhuleni.

In terms of Section 11.4 of the National Minimum Requirements for Waste Disposal by Landfill, including Weltevreden, audits should occur at three-month intervals for large sites such as those found in Ekurhuleni.

"Simply put, the waste department forgot to renew the tender for the auditors," said Scallan.

"This is in direct contravention of its own resolution that all tenders be advertised and filled three months prior to the expiry of existing contracts."

Scallan also stated the following as failed resolutions by the Waste Department:

- the conclusion of the rolling out of the 240l wheelie bins by the end of June 2016,
- the supply of blue plastic bags to all households to encourage recycling, and
- the development of an e-waste plan for the Ekurhuleni Metropolitan Municipality.

Scallan stated that the municipality has a record of barely enforcing any by-laws whatsoever, so it comes as no surprise that the Solid Waste By-Laws, clause 21.4, which specifically states "No person shall enter a landfill site or refuse transfer station or mini disposal site with the purpose of scavenging", is being completely ignored.

Cachalia is appalled that thousands of people living in Plastic City and suburban Brakpan have to endure and breathe the poisonous gasses emitted by the illegal burning of plastic and e-waste inside the squatter camp.

The DA reportedly warned that the people who had set up shacks would soon number thousands and prove difficult to move. This has come to pass, yet the governing party refuses to confront the problem by identifying suitable land, providing basic services and moving the Plastic City community.

"Even harder to grasp, is the governing party's utter contempt for the environment, even while it celebrates Africa Day with gusto and boasts about Ekurhuleni being a thriving aerotropolis that attracts investors," said Cachalia.

Scallan has submitted petitions to each sphere of government (Ekurhuleni Metropolitan Municipality, Gauteng Province and Parliament) to request an investigation of the legality of waste activities within the Weltevreden Landfill Site, which is in contravention of Sections 16 and 26 of the Waste Management Act.

The DA's mayor-elect, Ghaleb Cachalia, witnessed first-hand the shocking living and environmental conditions at Plastic City during a visit to the informal settlement on Tuesday, last week.

Three housebreakers sentenced to jail

The following cases were recently finalised in the Brakpan Regional Court:

• Angus Geyser (35) was sentenced to six years imprisonment for housebreaking and theft.

The break-in occurred at a residence along Hamilton Avenue, on December 4, 2012.

Two DVD players to the value of approximately R1 000 were stolen.

Fingerprints lifted by the Local Criminal Record Centre at the premises identified Geyser.

He was arrested on April 14, this year.

Two years of the sentence were suspended for five years, on condition that he is not convicted of housebreaking with the intent to steal, theft, or any other attempts thereof, during the period of suspension.

• Albert Mandkawe (27) was sentenced to six years imprisonment for housebreaking and theft.

Mandkawe was identified by his fingerprints, which were lifted from a residence in Naboom Street, in Dalpark Extension Six, following a break-in on March 7, 2012.

About R20 000 worth of electrical appliances were stolen.

At the time of the sentencing, Mandkawe, a Mozambican national, was already serving an eight-year jail term for housebreaking and theft.

The court ordered that three years of the sentence run concurrently with the sentence he is currently serving.

It was further recommended that when Mandkawe is due for release, his legality in South Africa be investigated and deportation considered.

• Fernando Mabuwa (36) was sentenced to six years imprisonment for housebreaking and theft, and four years for theft.

He was convicted on two separate cases and, at the time of sentencing, was already serving a 10-year prison term for housebreaking and theft.

The housebreaking took place between 10pm on October 15 and 6.30am on October 16, 2010.

A residence along Rangeview Road, in Dalpark Extension Six, was burgled of household appliances, a television set and a DVD player, to the value of about R15 000.

The following year, between 5pm on March 24 and 7.10am on March 25, a vehicle parked at a residence along Camelthorn Street, in Dalpark Extension Six, was broken into.

Two amplifiers, a radio and the vehicle's four wheels were stolen.

Mabuwa, a Mozambican national, was linked to both crimes by his fingerprints.

The court ordered that three years of the imprisonment run concurrently with the sentence he is currently serving.

It was also recommended that his legality in South Africa be investigated when he is due to be released, and deportation be considered.

All three cases were investigated by Det Const Selwyn Pieterse.

Roadside robbery

A family was robbed at gunpoint along Heidelberg Road, near Withok Estates, on Saturday night, last week, after they were stranded on the side of the road.

A man, who was travelling with his wife and child, was forced to pull over near Koot Street, at about 7.35pm because of a problem with his vehicle.

According to information received from Brakpan police, the man contacted his mother for assistance, and the woman, who was accompanied by her three daughters, arrived soon afterwards.

The man's mother and sisters were trying to help him with the car, when a purple Ford Fiesta suddenly pulled over.

Three men, all of whom were armed with guns, alighted the car and demanded the family's belongings.

The robbers made off with three cellphones, two bank cards and two sets of car keys.

Hijackers at large

A gang of four suspected hijackers are at large after shooting their way to freedom.

A shoot-out between the men and two employees from a car tracking company took place between 11pm and midnight on Thursday, last week, in Brakpan North.

Information received from Brakpan police indicates that the tracking personnel were following the men, who were travelling in a hijacked silver Volkswagen Polo.

The vehicle was spotted at the corner of Huntingdon Avenue and Craven Street.

After realising they were being followed, the men abandoned the car along Jansen Street, opening fire on their pursuers as they fled into the nearby veld.

The tracking personnel returned fire and their vehicle was damaged during the exchange of gunfire.

Police and EMPD members arrived on the scene, and a helicopter was dispatched to search for the men.

Despite all efforts, the men evaded capture. A computer tower was found in the hijacked Polo and was seized by police.

The Polo was also seized and taken to the SAPS Van Ryn Deep Pound in Benoni.

Vrou in Dalpark beroof

'n 43-Jarige vrou is verlede Woensdagoggend, in Dalpark, met 'n wapen gedreig en van haar handsak en selfoon beroof.

Die vrou het om 9vm in 'n veld naby Augrabiesstraat gestop, toe sy van agter deur drie mans ingehaal is.

Een van die mans het 'n voorwerp teen haar nek gedruk en haar beveel om haar handsak en selfoon te oorhandig.

Die vrou het dit gedoen, waarna die mans gemaak het dat hul wegom.

Dit is nie duidelik of die rowers 'n vuurwapen of ander tipe wapen teen die vrou se nek gedruk het nie.

Die saak word deur die SAPD ondersoek.

Genoeg is genoeg

Inwoner van Dalview skryf per e-pos:

Met verwysing na die brief in die Herald van 20 Mei (Gestremde wag wil werk).

Ek het waardering vir die man wat gestremd is en steeds bereid is om 'n inkomste te probeer verdien, maar die vraag is net: hoe kan 'n gestremde persoon opgewasse wees teen iemand wat 'n kar probeer steel?

Nietemin, indien ek daar parkeer sal ek wel die man ondersteun.

My volgende punt is net dat karwagte, smouse en bedelaars besig is om die dorp oor te neem. Daar is nie meer 'n verkeerslig waar daar nie iemand staan en bedel of goed probeer verkoop nie.

Gelukkig is dit nou winter, so die venster van my motor bly permanent opgedraai.

Ek is nie 'n suinige mens nie, maar genoeg is genoeg!

Hulle is goed. En hulle is orals deur die dag. Ek ry hulle gereeld raak (verby hulle). Hulle het gereelde arrestasies. Vandag se skelms is so 'wintie'; hulle kom helder oordag. Nou word hulle op skofte gesit. Dit is nonsens.

Nie eers 24 uur nadat die Anti-Hijackingspan ontbind is deur die Brakpan SAPD nie. Lyk my onse mense sal nou maar die gereg in eie hande moet vat, want dit sal nou net erger in Brakpan raak.

If "they" hadn't broken up our famous, successful Brakpan Anti-Hijacking Task Team the outcome would've been much different.

Besorgde inwoner skryf per e-pos:

My ma woon in die enkelwoning by Tweedy Park. Ek lees nou al vir 'n rukkie al die berigte in die Herald oor die inwoners se bekommernisse.

Die plek was 'n paar jaar gelede regtig waar 'n plek om op trots te wees. My ma bly nou maar eers drie jaar daar, maar ek het mense geken wat so paar jaar terug daar gebly het en ek het baie daar gaan kuier.

Die plek word nie meer na gekyk nie. Die meeste van die mense daar is oud en hulle kan nie meer tuinwerk en skoonmaakwerk doen nie.

Daar moet na die bestuur gekyk word, sodat dinge daar weer kan word soos dit was.

My ma sluit haarself dag en nag in die woonstel toe. Sy is te bang om bietjie rond te loop. Sy was eers gelukkig daar, maar nou is sy nie meer nie.

Sê ons wat dink jy

Wat is jou gunsteling kos om tydens wintertyd te eet?

Hanna Potgieter

Ek kom oorspronklik van Durban af so 'n lekker kerrie-en-rys is vir my die perfekte dis. Ek het darem geleer hoe om lekker kerrie te maak.

Jared Herbst

Definitief pizza. Veral saam met 'n bottel wyn werk dit perfek vir wanneer mens net lui-agtig in die huis wil bly en na flieks kyk.

Leon Viljoen

Ek is mal oor groentesop. Veral my ouma s'n is die lekkerste. Ek peusel darem nie te veel tydens die wintertyd nie.

Nick van der Merwe

'n Lekker bord kerrie-en-rys is altyd 'n wenner tydens winter. Dit is net iets wat die liggaam opbou en jou warm en versadig maak.

Yuanese Botha

Ek sal sê sop. Veral groentesop is my gunsteling. Dit maak jou lekker warm van binne af en dit is vir my lekker en gesond om te eet.

In die kollig

Danie Binneman (56) is die skakel-beampte van die Ekurhuleni Veerpyltjie Assosiasie (Ekurhuleni Darts Association). Hy is met Suzette Binneman (35) getroud en hy woon die afgelope 28 jaar in Brakpan.

Hoe lank is jy reeds die skakelbeampte van die Ekurhuleni Veerpyltjie Assosiasie?

Vir die afgelope drie jaar.

Wat behels jou pligte?

Ek is betrokke by die bemaking van veerpyltjies as 'n sport vir almal in Ekurhuleni. Ek reël ook fondsinsamelingsprojekte.

Ek werk hand-aan-hand met die huidige president, Hans Viljoen, om die sport bekostigbaar te hou sodat almal wat belangstel ook kan speel.

Wanneer het jy begin veerpyltjies speel?

So drie en 'n half jaar gelede.

•Neem jy self aan kompetisies deel en het jy al belangrike toernooie gewen?

Ek neem wel aan kompetisies deel en was gelukkig om Ekurhuleni in 2015 by die SA's toernooi te verteenwoordig. Ongelukkig ontwyk die grote my nog, maar soos hulle sê: "Practise makes perfect".

•Mense is geneig om die sport met 'n gedrinkery te assosieer. Hoe voel jy daaroor?

Ongelukkig is daar in alle sport soorte die faset van "kuiery". Maar waar daar streng dissipline toegepas word (in ons geval, afhangend van die toernooi direkteur) kry 'n mens gewoonlik positiewe resultate.

•Beoefen jou vrou ook die sport?

Ek dink ons twee kinders, Stefni (12) en Ruan (5), hou haar besig genoeg.

•Hoeveel stelle veerpyltjies besit jy?

Ek besit drie goeie stelle. Die stel waarmee ek 99 persent van die tyd speel is S500 Phil Taylor 26gram.

•Is dit 'n duur sportsoort om te beoefen?

Soos elke sport is daar 'n sekere finansiële uitleg wat gedoen moet word om te begin. Net soos daar duur veerpyltjies is, is daar ook goedkoop veerpyltjies vir die beginners. Ons probeer die kostes, om die sport te beoefen, so laag as moontlik hou.

•Het jy ander belangstellings?

Ek skilder, speel graag gholf en hou van kamp. Dit is vir my lekker om wandelroetes saam met my gesin te stap.

•Wie is jou gunsteling sportman of -vrou en waarom?

Ek moet se Phil Taylor (wêreldkampioen in veerpyltjies). Hy bly beskeie ongeag van sy prestasies en gaan uit om die sport te bevorder waar ookal hy speel.

•As jy enige land kan besoek, watter land sal dit wees en hoekom?

Definitief Japan. Die streng lewensstandaard en dissipline is noemenswaardig. Hul is ook gefokus in hul optrede. Die natuurskoon in die buitewyke is iets om te aanskou.

Danie Binneman.

Safety tip of the week

Carry a purse or bag close to your body, not dangling by the straps. Put your wallet in an inside coat pocket or front trouser pocket, not a back pocket.

Weekend Crime

According to information received, the following crimes were reported to Brakpan police over the weekend:

• Friday - A home in Pienaar Street, in Brenthurst, was burgled of three television sets, jewellery, two pillows and a shawl. A silver Volkswagen Microbus parked on the property was also stolen. A residence in Hamilton Avenue was burgled of a television set and DVD player. A cellphone was stolen during a break-in at a property along Voortrekker Road. Thieves stole speakers and other sound equipment from a car parked at an address along Gladstone Avenue. A toolbox was stolen from a vehicle parked along Voortrekker Road. • Saturday - Two cars were stolen. A white Toyota Corolla was stolen from the corner of Queen Avenue and High Street, and a white gold Land Rover was stolen from Heyns Street, in Brenthurst. Cellphones to the value of R120 000 were stolen during a burglary at a shop in Mall@Carnival. • Sunday - A silver Gomoto scooter was stolen from an address along Germaines Avenue. A car parked along Helmstok Road, in Dalpark, was broken into. A wallet, tools, a laptop and an external hard drive were stolen from the vehicle. Burglars stole a television set, laptops and other household items from a home along Kirkland Street, in Dalview. A cordless telephone was stolen from a business situated along Rangeview Road, in Dalpark.

Liefdadigheidswinkel benodig donasies

In 'n poging om fondse te genereer om tred te hou met die rekeninge en te verseker die deure bly oop, sal die Brakpan Dierbeskermingsvereniging (DBV) 'n liefdadigheidswinkel in die middestad oopmaak.

Die winkel, geleë by Voortrekkerweg 340, sal amptelik môre (Saterdag) oopmaak.

Die DBV het 'n beroep aan die publiek gerig vir skenkings van die volgende items: hangrakke vir klere op hangers, rakke vir gevoude klere, toonbank, kleinkas, kwitansieboek, rubberstempel met logo en inligting (sal voorsien word), stoom strykster en -plank, ketel, klerehangers, klein tafel en stoel.

Skenkings van meubels, tuingereedskap, ornamente, kinderspeelgoed, elektroniese items, kombuis items en selfs gordyne en lap is ook welkom.

Daar word gevra dat skenkings liefers na die nuwe liefdadigheidswinkel geneem moet word, en nie na Brakpan DBV se perseel nie.

Stuur 'n e-pos aan riette@rapidresponse.com vir meer inligting.

Skenk 'n kombors

Die Jabes Care Centre, wat onlangs gestig is, is 'n plek van veiligheid waar seuns tussen die ouderdomme van sewe en 13 jaar gehuisves word.

Die fasiliteit het reeds ses seuns ingeneem, wat versorg word.

Omdat dit 'n plek van veiligheid is, kan die spesifieke ligging daarvan nie bekend gemaak word nie, maar dit is wel in Brakpan-sentraal geleë.

Mona Loubser, een van die stigters van die plek, het gesê dat hul planne goed verloop.

“Ons het egter net 'n dringende tekort aan kombors. Die winter is op ons en ons wil graag hê dat die kinders lekker warm moet slaap,” het Loubser gesê.

Sy het bygevoeg dat enige skenking van kos ook welkom sal wees.

Loubser kan gekontak word by 073 209 9622.

CPF meeting

Brakpan police and the Community Policing Forum (CPF) will meet with residents of Sector Two, on Tuesday, June 7, to discuss crime problems and suggestions.

The meeting will take place at 7pm, at the Volle Evangelie Kerk van God, which is situated at the corner of Victoria Avenue and Curry Street.

Sector Two comprises Brakpan Central, Dalview, Denneoord, Kenleaf, Larrendale, Dalpark, Dalpark Extension Five, Minnebron, Rand Collieries, Sunair Park, Sonneveld, Van Eck Park Extension Two and Sallies Extensions Three and Four.

Contact Madelyn van Tonder on 060 627 5284 for more information.

Almal welkom by fees

Die Bobbies Feesdag wat môre (Saterdag) op die Bosman Stadion sou plaasvind, gaan steeds voort, maar word nou op die gronde van die Springs Rugbyklub aangebied.

Die hekke open om 8vm en talle aktiwiteite word deur die loop van die dag beplan.

Verskeie rugbywedstryde sal gespeel word en 'n vertoning deur die honde-eenheid van die Metro Polisie sal om 11vm plaasvind.

Almal is welkom.

Caxton Instameet with Ekurhuleni

Journalists from Caxton East Rand and members from the municipality went on an exciting tour through the City of Ekurhuleni on Wednesday, last week.

The journalists, representing Brakpan Herald, Boksburg Advertiser, Benoni City Times, Springs Advertiser and Germiston City News, spent the day travelling through the City of Ekurhuleni; taking photos of landmarks and interesting places throughout Ekurhuleni.

- Places that were visited by the team:
- Ekurhuleni Business Facilitation Network (Kempton Park)
- Chris Hani's house and grave (Boksburg)
- OR Tambo Narrative Centre and memorial (Wattville)
- Actonville Temple (Benoni)
- Tsakane Clinic (Tsakane)

Ekurhuleni Business Facilitation Network (EBFN) in Kempton Park was the first stop of the tour. Dumsani Hlatshwayo (left) explained that the EBFN was built to house core economic development activities, to help with creating job opportunities and encourage entrepreneurship. Seen here with him is spokesperson for the City of Ekurhuleni Themba Gadebe, who also joined the tour.

Geotab Just Wheels Motorskou 'n treffer

Die Geotab Just Wheels Motorskou, wat Saterdag by Muriel Brand Skool gehou is, is deur honderde mense bygewoon en het, soos in die verlede, nie teleurgestel nie. Die reuse verskeidenheid motors wat geskou is, was beslis die grootste trekpleister, maar daar was genoeg ander vermaak om oud en jonk aan die gang te hou.

Meer fotos op ons webwerf gaan na www.brakpanherald.co.za

Alles het darem nie net oor motors gegaan nie. Daar was ook oorgenoeg te eet en te drink. Die reuse spookasem was 'n treffer. Eduan Visagie (17) het al die pad van Kempton Park gekom om die motorskou te geniet.

Collin du Preez (8) en sy ouboet JP (11), van Boksburg, het hul verkyk aan al die voertuie.

Bruce Douglas-Hall en sy dogter Erin (7) het die ou Ford, wat nog in 'n puik kondisie is, van nader bekyk.

'n Boere-orkees tree elke jaar by die motorskou op en vanjaar was geen uitsondering nie.

SCHOOLS URGED TO TAKE PART IN SCHOOL SLEEPOUT

With the 2016 Sun International CEO SleepOut in Braamfontein coming up, schools across the country are challenged to take part in the global drive to raise funds for charity.

The SleepOut will take place at the Nelson Mandela Bridge on 28 July and will see schools, companies and tertiary institutions invited to participate in the initiative by hosting their own support SleepOut events at their premises.

The School SleepOut is also set to take place on 28 July and pupils, parents and teachers are encouraged to spend a cold night outside to raise funds for a needy school of their choice.

Graeme Stephens, chief executive officer at Sun International, expressed excitement at, once again being part of the successful event and highlighted the need for the initiative to extend beyond just involving business leaders.

"We need to make it broader and include senior corporates and future leaders of the country [through the support SleepOuts taking place]," he said.

Schools interested in taking part in the School SleepOut can visit the website to register, and also need to identify an outreach school in need, learn about the items they need most, and commit to gathering and delivering those items, making a real difference to those in need.

The CEO SleepOut, now in its second year, will see business leaders spend the night outside, along with a colleague, a student and a matriculant with notable leadership qualities, all in aid of education.

MAMA RAISA
IS A HOLISTIC HEALER WITH SUPER NATURAL POWERS GUIDING ALL SPIRITS.
Mama Raisa is really God sent. For years I was suffering with a tokoloshe. I could not stay with my husband and children happily. I visited priests and spirituals but only wasted time and money. I met a woman whose son mama had saved his marriage, his wife was cheating & they had disagreements and fought each other all the time. She gave me her number and I paid R200 consultation. Mama covered me and my son with a white cloth and washed our hands in a bowl. She told us the origin of my problems. She really is amazing and honest. Mama can help to solve women problems. for love issues, broken marriages cheating husbands/wives. Muthi for attraction, get pregnant. With men she helps business problems, like promotions at work, business boosters, win tenders, manhood enlargement power pills & creams, win gambling and court-cases all solved with ancestral powers. There is no other that I can thank Mama but to tell my story. I am now happily married with my children & also got better work. GOD BLESS

Brakpan head into the Top Six with momentum

Brakpan Rugby Club's first XV will head into the Top Six stage of the Valke Peregrine League in prime position, after a 68-22 victory over Kempton Wolves, at the Barnard Stadium, on Saturday, May 28, despite a stuttering start.

Brakpan have amassed a total haul of 40 points in nine matches and have scored a mammoth 591 points overall (a points difference of 447) including 87 tries.

On Saturday, the men in the green jerseys were slow out of the blocks and found themselves a little shell-shocked after going 14-0 down against their less-fancied opponents.

The "Panne" were forced to dig deep in the first 40 minutes, and they did just that to go into the break 35-14 up.

Skipper Francois "Bones" Robbertse added another 33 points to the scoreboard in the second half.

New scrumhalf Tiaan Ramat received all the plaudits with a hat-trick of five-pointers, while winger Juanrich Botha also found himself celebrating three tries.

His hat-trick means that he is now the Peregrine League's top-scorer, with 18 tries.

The Top Six stage of the competition will kick-off on Saturday, June 11.

Point scorers versus Kempton were: Tiaan Ramat (three), Juanrich Botha (three), Pierre Foordt, Vernon du Preez, Tom Ueckermann and Tobie Strydom. Conversions: Ashley Buchler (nine).

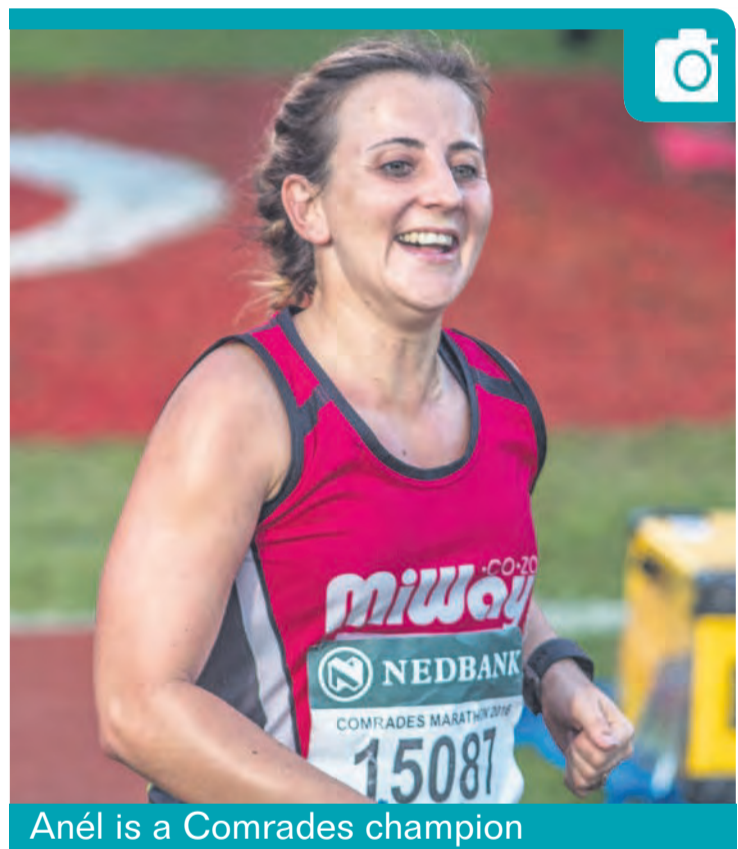

The top try-scorer in the Valke Peregrine League is Brakpan winger Juanrich Botha (right). He is seen with Ronwin Roets.

Mayor Gungubele does it again

The executive mayor of Ekurhuleni Clr Mondli Gungubele is an accomplished Comrades runner.

Ekurhuleni's executive mayor Clr Mondli Gungubele is over the moon after maintaining his 100 per cent record in the Comrades Marathon.

Gungubele managed to finish this year's edition of the Comrades with seven minutes to spare of the cut-off time of 12 hours.

"I am quite excited," he said.

"This was a tough race and as I was approaching Durban all I could think of was another medal.

"I had a niggling knee injury coming to this race and I was worried about it bothering me as I ran, but fortunately there was very little discomfort.

"I am just over the moon for having annexed seven medals out of seven races," Gungubele added.

"There are runners who have participated in this marathon more than 10 times yet could not get as many medals, so I am fortunate for this 100 per cent record."

Gungubele said he will soon be starting preparations for next year's race because, he said, "I plan to run this race for as long as I feel strong".

Carnival's Comrades conquerors

Logan Green
 lgreen@caxton.co.za

Seventeen of the contingent of 20 Carnival Runners who made the journey to Pietermaritzburg for this year's edition of the famous Comrades Marathon managed to complete the mighty 89km race. "Izokuthoba – It Will Humble You" was the slogan of this year's event and the Carnival Runners' Lucky Seopele is spotted by the Herald near Camperdown (about 25km in) during the 2016 Comrades Marathon on Sunday, May 29.

Brakpan runners who took on the imposing challenge were left more than humbled by the down run. Some runners, however, could not handle the demanding nature of this year's Comrades and either fell out of the race, or missed the 12-hour cut-off or other cut-off times along the route.

Carnival's Petros Mbokasi narrowly missed out on a silver medal (for finishers with a time between six hours to sub seven hours and 30 minutes).

The 45-year-old crossed the finish line with a gross time of seven hours, 32 minutes and 29 seconds missing out on the silver by mere minutes to receive a Bill Rowan (for finishers with a time between seven hours and 30 minutes to sub nine hours).

He placed 666th of 16 807 Comrades starters.

Lucky Seopele was the next best Carnival runner. He crossed the finish line at Kingsmead Cricket Stadium in Durban with a gross time of seven hours, 38 minutes and 24 seconds to also have a Bill Rowan Medal around his neck.

The 34-year-old placed 725th overall.

Sipho Dumakude rounded off the Top Three for the Brakpan-based club with a gross time of eight hours, eight minutes and six seconds to earn his Bill Rowan Medal while Xolani Bavuma (a silver medal winner from 2015's version of the race) didn't quite match that feat as he earned a Bill Rowan with a gross finish time of eight hours, 25 minutes and nine seconds.

David Mthimunya (eight hours, 25 minutes and 56 seconds) and Zamani Eric Mbuyisa (eight hours, 28 minutes and 29 seconds) were the last Carnival Runners to win Bill Rowans.

Bronze medals (nine hours to sub 11 hours) were achieved by Tseko Joseph Tsotetsi (who just missed out on a Bill Rowan by a minute and 22 seconds), Nzima Zikhali, Donovan De Leeuw, Meredith Marlow (who was the club's first female finisher with a gross time of 10 hours, 14 seconds and seven seconds), Sandile Makeleni and Muzi Fakude.

Zakes Phasha, Stuurman Mngqobani, Sam Mokgotho, Marsha Davids and Magda Botha (the final Carnival runner to make the 12-hour cut-off) achieved Vic Clapham medals (11 hours to sub 12 hours).

Chairman of Carnival Runners Coenie van Heerden said: "Our runners did awesome, it's a pity that three didn't make it to the end, but otherwise the rest did extremely well and we are proud of them."

Carnival Runners' Stuurman Mngqobani pushes on towards the Comrades finish in Durban on the N3 Highway just outside Kloof.

Zamani Eric Mbuyisa of Carnival Runners caught the eye of the Herald as he comes through Camperdown during Sunday's Comrades Marathon.

BMW's X5 goes green

> SEAN NURSE

IT'S not often that two competitor products enter the local market within a week of one another. Then again, the past two weeks have been an exception. Recently we've seen two plug-in hybrid SUVs enter South Africa; first, the Volvo XC90 T8 and now the BMW X5 xDrive40e, which I had a go in this past week.

→ IT'S A HYBRID

The X5 hybrid is very much like the other hybrid vehicles that we've seen on sale in the local market for years. It makes use of a small turbocharged petrol engine, supplemented by an electric motor. Both the electric powertrain and petrol engine can be used independently or in combination, depending on the driving conditions and of course, how much battery life remains.

→ GOING GREEN

The 2.0-litre turbocharged motor produces 180kW/350Nm, while the electric motor provides 55kW/250Nm. Combined, the vehicle - according to BMW - produces 230kW/450Nm, which

I can believe, having driven the vehicle with both powertrains active. The acceleration and performance on offer is impressive when both units are working in tandem with the eight-speed automatic gearbox. It will get from 0-100km/h in 6.8 seconds, which should keep the budding X5 driver happy.

→ BENEFITS

It's claimed that the new model consumes 3.4 - 3.3 litres/100 kilometres and a combined electricity consumption of 15.4 - 15.3 kWh/100km while being exempt from CO₂ emissions tax. The consumption is impressive. The test route saw journalists drive a total of around 300km throughout the day and by the time we were done, the X5 still had three quarters of a tank of fuel left.

→ THE MODES

In terms of the hybrid drive system, there are several options the user can engage. The "MAX eDrive" means the car will run on electric power only, for up to 31km when fully charged. You can also activate the "SAVE Battery" which engages the petrol motor only and allows the electric motor to be charged while you drive. Then there's

"AUTO eDrive" which makes use of both motors to provide as much combined output as possible.

→ HOW DO I CHARGE THE THING?

The battery pack is housed under the luggage compartment of the car and uses a lithium-ion unit. It can be recharged by connecting to any standard domestic power socket or a BMW iWallbox, or the limited number of BMW charging stations around the country. I must warn potential owners that the iWallbox - which allows for a three-or-so hour charge - will set you back R25 000 while using a standard wall socket, will take up to twelve hours.

→ PRACTICALITY REMAINS?

The loading space has been somewhat compromised; the standard X5 boasts between 650 to 1 870 litres of luggage space while the hybrid model provides between 500 to 1 720 litres of luggage space.

The rest of the interior remains as one would expect from an X5, plus materials, ample space for occupants and very little in the way of Eco regalia. There are a few hints here and there that this is the hybrid X5 yet still remains pretty much a standard X5 inside, which isn't a bad thing.

→ WHAT'S IT LIKE TO DRIVE?

Driving the hybrid is like any other X5 really, despite the fact that it doesn't make quite the same noise. If anything, it reminded me of how good a product the X5 is. There's an elephant in the room though. The Volvo XC90 T8, which I drove last week, has got a few trump cards in response to the X5. The first is the fact that the cost is similar but does offer a bit more. For example, the Volvo can seat seven, whereas the BMW seats five. The Volvo is also faster than the BMW and doesn't sacrifice any of its loading space to accommodate the battery pack.

→ VERDICT

It is admirable what BMW has done with the X5 eDrive hybrid model, then again, if you have your heart set on an X5, for around R200 000 less, you could have the xDrive25d, which will have a bigger boot and provide similar real-world consumption.

The empire strikes back, with a Honda

> JUSTIN JACOBS

@Thejustbin @thejustbin

WE ARE living in a time where many performance hatchbacks strike fear into some sports cars. We have four-wheel-drive pit bulls roaming our streets looking for a brawl. Think of the Volkswagen Golf R, Audi RS3, the Mercedes-AMG A45 and the imminent Ford Focus RS, just to name a few. These hyper hatches have been designed to attack a track and to put a smile on your face. Honda has long been a silent whisper and the wait was well worth it. Finally, the latest Type R is here and I got behind the wheel.

The Honda faces stiff competition in the segment with many of the customers driving off in the Golf R and A45 AMG. The Honda is not all-wheel, yet it does offer something else, which is pure driving thrill; something the keen driving enthusiast will appreciate. If it's quarter-mile times you're after then look away, if it's one of the best handling performance cars for around R600 000 that you're after then this Honda is it!

Let me elaborate on this by starting with the looks of the car. It looks purposeful, thanks to an array of wings, spoilers and flared wheel-arches. I'm pretty sure the clay model was sculptured with a katana instead of the usual tools. There is function to this form and that is aerodynamics. Everything on the car serves the purpose of keeping it glued to the road. It looks great, menacing even. At the rear there are large quad tailpipes protruding from the lower bumper however it's the rear wing that attracts most of the attention. If I had to fault the overall look I'd say the wheels tend to look small and this is because the wheel-arches are so big. Honda should have put some spacers in, just to give the car a wider stance.

On the inside, the car is finished in red and black. There's a touch screen, which controls all the multimedia functions. This, along with the climate control system, is angled towards the driver. The steering wheel is small, fat and feels good when gripped. However, it's the bucket seats that inspired me the most. I've had the privilege - many times - to sit in the driver's seat of a race car and the Type R comes closest to that feeling. The gear lever is short with a rounded silver ball on top; it's also a short throw stick so changes are lightning fast. There are seats at the back and this time you don't have to be a gymnast to get into them as the Type R is now a four-door. Some things that made me raise an eyebrow are the materials (not the best of quality compared to those found in other cars) and the infotainment system is a laugh. The buttons are so small and after a week I still didn't know how to change the radio station, but that's not the point of this car so I'll stop complaining and tell you what it's like to drive. Powering the Honda is a new 2.0-litre V-Tec turbo engine, which develops around 228kW and 400Nm of torque. Power is sent to the front wheels via a six-speed manual gearbox and 100km/h is reached in 5.7 seconds.

Honda has also made use of a helical limited slip differential. This type of differential aids strong cornering traction, even during hard cornering. The technology, when compared to a traditional differential, reduces the Type R's lap time by five seconds per lap around the Nürburgring Nordschleife. It achieved a time of seven minutes, 51:42 seconds, which is impressive for a hatchback. Stopping power comes courtesy of powerful Brembo brakes. Push the +R mode button and a number of visual changes occur. The floating dial surrounds in the instrument binnacle change from glowing white to glowing red. A +R logo is displayed to the left of the rev indicator and the idling Stop system is disabled. With +R mode selected, several dynamic changes are activated within the Civic Type R's powertrain and dynamics systems. Engine responsiveness is heightened, with torque-mapping changed to a more aggressive and performance-focused setting allowing more of the available torque to be unleashed at lower engine speeds. Forget any burps, grunts and bangs from the exhaust - all you hear is that turbo, whistling and dumping. Okay, one last complaint before I end this, in +R mode the ride quality becomes incredibly harsh, hard and uncomfortable. Drive over a coin and you can just about tell whether it's an R5 or R2. The problem with this is, when driving on our poor quality roads, the car tends to bounce from undulation to undulation. It takes a lot of work keeping it sorted but you know what... that's the beauty of this car.

It's not perfect when compared to the Germans; it's not the fastest or most powerful, but as far as driving goes, this car, at R600 900 (base price) ticks all the right boxes.

It's a hardcore driving machine, a tool and it's about time we got something like this, something that focuses on the task of being a performance car and not a combination of three different things at once. • ad

AUTO LETTER OF THE WEEK

A TALE OF LUBRICATION

Dear Editor

I TRULY enjoy the act of driving a motor vehicle, almost any vehicle, and the more "driveable" the better. I try, as much as possible to drive safely but the very act of driving is in itself a risk.

Good to refresh with technical detail from Neville Frewin, and thank you Wilbert Oscar Baya for your positive note and for the plea from "Sick to death" in the week of 20th May.

Our difficulty is that this column is preaching to the converted. Road safety is everyone's responsibility! Obey the traffic rules and signs - to the letters

Ha! Ha! Sorry for that sick joke. No one actually stops at a stop sign! No one adheres to the direction arrows on the road! Pedestrians of all ages traditionally have no knowledge of the fact that there are road rules, the reason being, they've never been taught with the result that the most vulnerable are the children.

When I was young - (now exposing my age when 10 cars a day was your quota) - every school exercise book had basic road rules inside the front and back covers and the first lesson of the day on a Monday was to affirm and discuss these basic road rules. Keep left, cross the street after looking left, right and left again, give way to traffic on the road, keep to the pavement or verge, obey the road signs, treat the amber light as a tentative "Stop," as a duty to yourself and others, understand that a car cannot manoeuvre or stop as easily or quickly as a pedestrian. Respect everyone!

Is there any point in suggesting another task group, study group, committee or high level delegation to talk, talk, talk, have fancy meals in expensive venues and hotels reached by expensive aeroplanes?

As for distracted driving... what about car radio, cigarette, cell phone, fatigue, impatience, lack of respect, narcotics, alcohol, oncoming traffic lights, insufficient or no driver training for the driver's licence?

Godfrey Kerr.

AUTHORITIES TAKE NOTE

Dear Editor

I WRITE in the hope that someone with authority in traffic signals (right-turning arrows) will read this letter. The right-turning arrows all over towns just flash two or three times for cars to move and then stop again - resulting in no assistance for the traffic flow. Why can the time of the right-turning arrows not be lengthened to assist with the traffic flow - maybe 10 to 20 times?

At least the traffic will then start to flow and not pile up at all the intersections as is currently happening. If the driver of the first vehicle in front is asleep - no one can move as the signals change again. Hope someone can take note and implement.

Coffee with a difference: The Red Carnival Day 2016

“The idea being driven home (if you’ll excuse the pun) is the fact that the small contribution by a local community will make an enormous difference in the lives of these children.”

- Sean Nurse

BEING part of many local papers and websites throughout the country, we, at Autodealer, understand the value of local content, which is why whenever we get a chance to represent ourselves at an event, especially for charity, we jump at the opportunity. This past weekend the generous people over at Ford loaned me a red Mustang, not to write about, but rather to attend a Charity Day at Craft Restaurant in Parkhurst. The event was called the Red Carnival Day (hence the red Mustang) and took place on 22nd May. The fundraiser was in aid of the Children of Fire Charity, which is a great cause if I’ve ever heard of one. Alongside my attentiongarnering Mustang was a couple of classic MGs, old Mercedes-Benz SLs, a few Ferraris and a variety of other red automobiles. Further down Fourth Avenue, I spotted a whole host of Ducatis and a few classic Italian cars that had me snapping away like crazy with my camera. The aim is to make this event an annual activity, once a year from 9am until 2pm. I think I can easily set aside that amount of time once a year for such a great cause. If you’d like to participate in one of these events, bring your vehicle along (preferably a red one) and pay the small fee required to park along the road. The fee of course will go to charity. If you’d like to participate in another way, there will be clowns outside each participating restaurant tasked with selling red balloons to raise funds on behalf of the charity set up to help young survivors of burn injuries (whether by fire, chemicals, electricity or hot liquids) and to help and educate the communities in which they live, providing both prevention and cure. For more about the great charitable organisation visit: www.childrenoffire.org

The idea being driven home (if you’ll excuse the pun) is the fact that the small contribution by a local community will make an enormous difference in the lives of these children. The organisation is in desperate need of funds and is currently under tremendous pressure to provide for the burn victims. In retrospect, it was great to spend the day with folks in Johannesburg. The passersby were all willing to contribute; many even stopped past and chatted to me about cars, which was fantastic. The restaurant was packed, the atmosphere jolly and the sense of community strong. As for the Mustang, well, despite my ramblings during my road test with the vehicle I feel that I finally understand what its purpose is. A sunny Sunday morning with the top down in an affluent neighbourhood, the red pony-car started to make sense. Its lack of aural delight welcomed as it didn’t disrupt while its rather gorgeous facade attracted looks from everywhere. I felt more at peace with the car, perhaps because the task fitted its purpose.

If you have a community event or car show in your locality, send us a mail, or Inbox us on Facebook or Twitter. If it’s car-related we’ll do our best to attend and support our local communities. • ad

It’s always great to get involved in community projects. The fact that I had another go in a Mustang was just a bonus.
