Trane rol oor dogter se dood

Corlia Kruger

Trane het stil oor die wange gerol van familieleden by die roudiens vir 'n sesjarige dogter wat verlede week tydens 'n speletjie raakgery is.

Die diens vir Avani Shiloh Jacobs is Dinsdagoggend by die United Pentecostal-kerk in Eersterust gehou.

Shiloh, die enigste kind van Danielle Jacobs, is onthou as 'n "energieke bondeltjie vreugde" wat diep in die harte van haar familie ingeklim het.

"Sy was vol lewe en het altyd iets gehad om te sê," vertel Shiloh se ouma, Agatha Jacobs.

Shiloh is verlede week Woensdag in haar arms dood voor hul huis, na die swaar wiele van 'n Jeep bo-oor haar klein lyfie gery het.

"Dis nog baie seer... Een minuut het sy nog verby my gehardloop en die volgende oomblik is weg," het Jacobs emosioneel vertel. "Sy sal baie gemis word...vreeslik baie."

Die gebeure van die voorval waar Shiloh haar lewe verloor het is met hartseer herleef.

"Die klomp kinders, seker altesaam nege, het almal hier buite die huis gespeel," vertel Jacobs se man Kenneth. Oupa Kenneth sê hy het buite gestaan en met 'n vriend gesels voor die voorval.

"Die bestuurder in die Jeep het om die hoek gekom en die man was so besig op sy selfoon dat hy nie die kinders in die straat sien speel het nie."

Die kinders het glo 'n speletjie gespeel waar een van hulle doodstil moet sit of lê totdat een van die ander kinders aan hom of haar raak.

"Toe die Jeep aankom het die kinders uit die pad gehardloop, maar Shiloh het te laat opgespring en is toe omgestamp," het hy die gebeure herroep.

Jacobs, wat in die kombuis gestaan het tydens die voorval, het gehoor hoe die ander kinders haar roep.

Sy het haar na die bebloede lyfie van haar kleinkind gehaas. 'n Inwoner en dokter van die omgewing het op die toneel afgekom en die familie te hulp gesnel.

"Hy het Shiloh se pols gevoel en gesê sy leef nog, maar dat dit nie goed lyk nie."

Die dokter het sy selfoon aan die naaste omstander gegee om die ambulans te bel terwyl hy die sesjarige ondersoek het.

"Daar was net soveel bloed, ons kon nie sien waar dit alles vandaan kom nie," vertel Jacobs. "Dis toe die dokter haar kop ophig dat hy die wond sien."

Jacobs meen dat een van die Jeep se wiele oor haar kleinkind se kop is.

"Die dokter het 'n handdoek uit sy kar gekry en om haar kop gebind om die bloeding te keer."

Jacobs het gehelp om die handdoek teen haar kleinkind se kop te hou.

Terwyl die familie vir 'n ambulans wag, nadat hulle 'n noodnommer twee keer moes skakel, het die bloed uit die sesjarige se mond en neus gestroom.

"Ek kon sien sy het seer...sy het gesukkel om asem te haal," sê Jacobs.

Shiloh het na 'n ruk stil geraak. Sy het haar laaste asem uitgeblaas in haar ouma se arms. "Die bestuurder het rou betoon na hy Shiloh gestamp het, ons kan hom nie blameer nie, want dit was net 'n ongeluk," het Oupa Kenneth gesê.

No drug dealer safe

Corlia Kruger

Eersterust police arrested a 19-year-old man last week for the possession of and dealing in drugs.

The young dealer was apparently caught after a second run-in with police. Two weeks ago (Wednesday, 2 September), prior to his latest arrest, the man had been caught in possession of drugs.

Police spokesperson Constable Sam Shibambo said the man was dealing in drugs along with two other accomplices, aged 19 and 56. "Police received a tip-off that the suspect was back in his business selling drugs. His brazen behaviour caused community members to call the police and report him," said Shibambo.

The police responded to the call at Moses Avenue, where the dealer and his accomplices were discovered previously. "On arrival they found the suspect standing outside the premises," Shibambo said.

"The suspect was searched and a total of eleven packets were found concealed in his pockets containing CAT with a street value of R1 100."

The drugs were confiscated and the man was arrested. "The suspect will appear in the Hatfield Court soon on charges of possession of and dealing in drugs."

Shibambo thanked the community for their involvement in helping to catch one of the drug dealers in Eersterust.

After the presidential Imbizo, Eersterust was identified as an area with one of the biggest drug problems in the country.

Police were especially grateful to residents who wanted to help root out drugs and clean the streets of dealers.

Lyk in spruit gevind

Die lyk van 'n jong vrou is Vrydag in 'n spruit in Nantes, Eersterust gekry. "Ons vermoed die vrou was tussen 20 tot 25 jaar oud en die polisie stel ondersoek in," sê Sinoville se polisiewoordvoerder, Mirna von Benecke. Geskotte inwoners en omstanders het op die toneel saamgedrom waar die polisie die lyk uit die vlak spruit verwyder het. Daar word vermoed dat die vrou se lyk deur iemand in die spruit gegooi is. Nog 'n gissing is dat sy voor haar dood verkrag is. Von Benecke sê geen bewyse hiervoor is tot dusver gekry nie. "Slegs 'n geregtelike doodsondersoek sal kan vasstel wat gebeur het," sê von Benecke.

Another young suicide

A young man has hanged himself with an electric cord in Eersterust.

Tshepo Lucky Mashego (25) was found last Tuesday by his uncle, Hilman Cave, who lives with the family.

"I was sitting in the living room when I decided to go and wake Lucky up to do some work for me," he said.

"When I got to his room, I knocked twice. I didn't receive any response. The door was stuck and I went outside to check through the window what was going on. That was when I saw the cable Lucky had used to hang himself."

A shocked Cave tried to break down the door and struggled to get it open. He called his wife and they alerted the police.

Mashego was unemployed and was known as a reserved individual. He only completed grade 10.

Cave said the family was distraught, no one knew why Mashego took his own life. "My heart is very, very sore."

"He could have told us what the problem was and perhaps we could have tried to stop him from doing this. We don't know why he did this."

Mashego was scheduled to be buried on Sunday (13 September).

Stamp out bullying

Corlia Kruger

After another video of violence on school grounds surfaced on social media, the Gauteng education department said such conduct should be stamped out.

"The department is aware of the matter and views it in a very serious light," said education spokesperson Phumla Sekhonyane. "Investigations are currently underway to determine appropriate action. The department would like to reiterate that bullying has no place in our schools and whenever it rears its ugly head, it is dealt with immediately."

The video sent to Rekord on Monday shows Derdepoort Primary School pupils fighting. It was apparently taken by another pupil. Two girls appeared to be arguing, before the scene escalated into violence. Classmates appeared to be egging on the confrontation while others recorded it on their cellphones.

Sekhonyane said the department would dispatch officials to the school to investigate. She said the department was running a staff development programme for teachers to help them deal with problems such as bullying and drug abuse.

"The department conducts advocacy and awareness programmes. In 2011, we rolled a pledge in Hammanskraal, for pupils that they remain drug-free throughout their schooling career," Sekhonyane said.

"We also participate and support the national Ke Moja campaigns that raise awareness on drug abuse, violence and bullying among pupils in and around schools communities."

Last week, reports of school bullying also surfaced in the north of Pretoria after parents posted what they claimed to be proof of bullying on social media.

A parent of a pupil posted a picture of a bruise on the side of her son's face, saying he had been beaten up and bullied by other pupils. Mad Rage against Child Abuse, a non-profit organisation, organised a meeting at the school last Friday to discuss bullying.

"The meeting was between the parents, chairperson of the governing body, the lawyer for the school and the principal," said Sekhonyane. "The principal explained the disciplinary action taken thus far against the pupils involved and the parents were satisfied with the school's action."

The truth about bullying

Three types of bullying:

Physical bullying:

Physical bullying includes hitting, kicking, threatening or pushing someone and also stealing, hiding, or destroying a person's belongings. Harassment is more common and also forcing someone do things he or she doesn't want to do.

Verbal bullying:

Verbal bullying includes name-calling, teasing, taunting, insulting or otherwise verbally abusing someone.

Relationship bullying:

Relationship bullying is common with children, it includes refusing to talk to someone, excluding someone from groups or activities, spreading lies or rumors about someone and also hazing, harassment and humiliation.

Tips for bullying victims

Reach out to someone, tell a parent or teacher

Stay calm and confident in the moment

Ignore the bully

Try not to fight back - it can make the bullying worse

Do not show the bully that you are sad or mad

Practise what to say to a bully next time with your friends, parents or teachers

Tell your friends about it, there is safety in numbers

ANCYL marches in a protest over services

Andrew Ngozi

The DA expressed disappointment at the conduct of ANC youth league members during a protest march in Lindo Park (Ward 84) last Wednesday.

Party chief whip for Tshwane, Councillor Marietha Aucamp called the protest a cheap political stunt.

"They [the league] wanted to create an illusion of relevance. They could have addressed their issues in a much more civil manner as had been offered by DA councillor for ward 84, Roelof Fourie," she said.

“Addressing the failures and shortfalls of municipal governance will not be fixed by destructive actions.”

Aucamp said the DA was only informed of the protest on 30 August when the group wanted to know if Fourie would be available to receive a memorandum.

She said Fourie told the group's frontman, Puseletso Nkatane, it was unnecessary to organise a march to communicate with him as he was more than willing to meet with any group regarding whatever issue or matter they wanted to raise.

"It is regrettable that his offer was not accepted."

"We remain of the opinion that it is much more productive and effective to have amicable civil conversations regarding issues than to start off on an aggressive note like a protest march," Aucamp said.

Aucamp said neither Fourie nor her party had received the memorandum, in which the league demanded jobs, services and information sharing. Therefore she could not respond to it.

She emphasised that Fourie and the DA were committed to engage directly in a civil manner with any aggrieved person.

"Addressing the failures and shortfalls of municipal governance will not be fixed by destructive actions, but by constructive engagement," she said.

In Fourie's absence the memorandum was handed to ANC councillor for Ward 84, Selejane Moses Phasha.

He promised a speedy and effective resolution to the grievances. He also commended protesters on their peaceful march, without the customary accompanying damage to property.

Rotary Family Health Days

Big in every sense of the word

This year's Rotary Family Health Days campaign in South Africa will be big in every sense of the word. It spans three Rotary Districts, 9400, 9370 and 9350. It brings together many volunteers and healthcare workers across the private and public sector. It is also a formal partnership with national government, which has included Rotary Family Health Days on its national calendar. This is a first! Inspired by U.S. Rotarian Marion Bunch, this will be the third Rotary Family Health Day campaign in South Africa, and the biggest ever. From 7-9 October, the organisers aim to provide free health screenings and immunisations to up to 75,000 community members at an estimated 140 sites around the country. (This campaign is also being held in Uganda, Nigeria and Ghana.) Rotary Family Health Days 2015 is an example of public-private partnership at its best. Public-private partnerships are essential for solving the challenges faced by society. Neither government nor the private sector can tackle these on their own. The logistics for the sites will be provided by the National Department of Health with support from Rotary volunteers, while sponsorship is provided by the MTN South Africa Foundation. Media support for awareness of the campaign is vital; this will come from the SABC, the national public broadcaster, along with Caxton and Independent Newspapers, publishers that own many local newspapers around the country. Rotarians for Family Health & Aids Prevention (RFHA) is the convener and managing partner of the program. A project on this scale cannot happen without commitment and sacrifice from many individuals. "It is through the dedication and hard work of all partners but particularly the volunteer aspect of many Rotarians on the ground that has made this campaign such a huge success," says Sue Paget, Southern Africa Programme Director of Rotary Family Health Days. The effects of the campaign will be felt long after the last volunteers go home. In bringing together so many South Africans from all walks of life to work as one, Rotary Family Health Days contributes to building a legacy of social cohesion that will ultimately improve the quality of life for everyone. "It's hard work," says DG 9400 David Grant. "But it is absolutely worth it." The Rotary Theme for 2015 is: Be a gift to the world. The Rotary Family Health Days have brought this to life in the most meaningful way possible.

Vrou se stryd na chaos tydens Mahem-botsing

Corlia Kruger

'n Stryd van tussen ses en nege maande lê voor vir 'n vrou wat in die onlangse chaos by Mahem-renbaan, wes van Pretoria beseer is.

Karlien Purves (45) is in 'n kettingbotsing tussen twee voertuie vasgepen en met 'n gebroke pelvis en heup hospitaal toe geëts.

Purves vertel hierdie week dat dit tussen ses en nege maande sal duur vir haar om te herstel.

"Die vier skroewe in haar pelvis en heup-been bly dan nog daar tot en met die dag van my dood," sê Purves.

Purves is een van ses mense wat beseer is in die chaos by die renbaan toe drie indringers moles gemaak het.

Die voertuig waarin hulle voet in die wind probeer slaan het, het in die toeskouergebied buite beheer geraak.

Purves sê: "Ons was die aand, na die verrigtinge, op pad terug na die bakkie en het vir die kinders gestaan en wag toe dit gebeur."

Purves onthou goed hoe sy en haar seun se vriendin, Amelia Wilke, langs die voertuig gestaan het voor die kettingbotsing.

"Ek het 'n groot geraas 'n paar motors verder gehoor. Toe sien ek 'n voertuig aangejaag kom, sonder ligte en met sy deur nog wawyd oop," vertel sy.

"Hy moes seker nog mense in die pad gestamp het en die volgende oomblik stamp hy die kar wat voor ons parkeer het."

Die bestuurder van die silwer Toyota Yaris het glo beheer verloor oor sy voertuig wat toe die kettingbotsing veroorsaak het. Verskeie voertuie is beskadig.

'n Toyota Camry langs die bakkie is getref wat Purves en haar vriendin vasgepen het. Purves se man Stuart sê duike is in die metaal sigbaar waar hulle getref is.

"Met die impak, met my vrou en Amelia tussen-in, het die bakkie nog boonop teen 'n kar langs ook gebots."

Na twee weke herstel Wilkes goed van haar beserings. "Die spiere in my been was geskeur en daar was inwendige bloeding," vertel sy.

Purves het nog baie pyn na haar vyf-uur lange operasie dieselfde aand.

Sy het het hulp nodig om op te staan en beweeg stadig met die gebruik van twee krukke.

Die Hercules-polisiekantoor ondersoek klagtes van eiendom-beskadiging, aanranding asook roekelose en nalatige bestuur.

'n Duik in die bakkie waar Purves vasgepen was.

Faith never passive

Faith is an active principle – faith can never be passive. James 2:14 says: "What good is it, dear brothers and sisters, if you say you have faith, but don't show it by your actions? Can that kind of faith save anyone?"

Intellectual assent can be an agreement with a set of Christian teachings, but until faith has been put into action, it is merely incomplete faith.

True faith with active patterns will transform your life.

Faith pleases God; faith comes by hearing God's Word, and then acting on what you have heard.

I want to suggest the following regular faith actions (let them become a pattern in your life – an established lifestyle):

- Decide to be a thermostat - change the atmosphere and the environment with your presence.

- If you are just a thermometer, you don't have an 'environmental impact'.

- Believe that you can endure to the end. God is called the 'Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End.'

- So if you focus on what you want to achieve, or what you want to become, you'll always have hope, and hope is a door to faith.

- Do not get your priorities mixed up. Focus on the majors and not on the minors.

- In life there are important things, and less important things.

- Believe you can win, that you can be victorious regardless of the situation.

- 2 Corinthians 2:14 says: "Now thanks be to God who always leads us in triumph in Christ, and through us diffuses the fragrance of His knowledge in every place."

- Find agreement, find mutual ground in working and living together.

- Amos 3:3: "Can two walk together lest they agreed?"

- To inspire people, be an encourager and a motivator, and treat all people with true respect.

- God shows no partiality, neither should we. (Acts 10:34).

- Unfairness will kill motivation and we all need motivation. So be a motivator, and you will reap what you sow.

- "Until faith has been put into action, it is incomplete faith..."

Facebook reaction to a video on social media showing a pupil at Randfontein Laerskool being bullied by fellow pupils.

Shaleen Theresa Parmenter McLaren Absolutely disgraceful & shocking. What kind of children are they? Where are the teachers? There were always teachers present on the school fields during break times. I hope they identify the voice of the boy who was screaming all the time with the most disgusting language. With modern technology these bullies will be exposed. The principal will have some serious questions to answer.

Marleen Townsend The principal must ensure the childrens' safety by making sure his staff is on break duty. Teachers should do their job!!!! And this is also a result of parents neglecting their duty as adults! Who allows their children to carry on like that?!! Disgraceful!!!!

Tasia Manikas Disgusting. Our society is suffering hugely from moral decay. Where are these children's parents and what are they teaching them! They should all be caned, then expelled. The headmaster apparently did nothing too (seen on the original post). He should also be fired.

Frenchman clinches Pta title in Red Bull FMX

Andrew Ngozi

SA Red Bull X-Fighters Moto-cross favourite Thomas Pagés emerged as the winner of the 405th stop of the tour to beat Clinton Moore in a tough competition at the Union Buildings on Saturday.

The 30-year-old Frenchman gave his competitors a run for their money at the final showdown as he pulled stunt after stunt unmatched in the history of the competition.

The 2014 winner of the competition, Josh Sheehan said Pagés deserved to win.

"He is an innovator. I did what I could but I just could not beat Tom," said the Australian.

Even before the final showdown between Pagés and Moore, Sheehan said Pagés had the edge to clinch it because he had unique tricks, unmatched by anyone.

It was the battle of the season between Pagés and Moore, said Red Bull TV commentators.

"We are not taking anything away from all the other contenders, but these two not only deserved to be in the final showdown, but they put in the most work.

"They both kept it clean and solid," they said.

Pagés could not get any better in the final showdown as he pulled a surprise 360 flip when it was least expected.

As soon as he knew that the battle was his to lose, he went to thank the crowd of the spectators.

"The crowd was just amazing. When I saw my name on many placards I realised I had to do this for them," he said.

Third-placed Taka Higashimo said he was up against worthy opponents.

"I wanted to win this so badly, but it was too tough. Tom and Clinton were better than me. I will have to work a lot harder if I am to beat these two," he said.

From South Africa the tour heads to Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates, where Pagés and Moore will face each other again as well as other freestylers from across the world in the final tour showdown.

Winners of the Red Bull X-Fighters event at the Union Buildings are Clinton Moore (second place), Tom Pagés (first place) and Taka Higashimo (third place).

Have a blessed day

Please send me any general report. I will spin and spew at AfriForum in one paragraph.

Yolanda Barnard

It is a Wednesday morning, it is a grey world – the world of government officials.

"Where is room D29?" The front desk lady, wearing a perm, nudges me to the left.

Long passages. No colour. Only grey. Grey people watching the clock. Grey files and forms.

Ahh! Room D29. I knock on the door. Two secretaries stuffed tightly together in a small office. Files neatly labelled – Media Events and Media Briefings – cluttered their desks. It is the municipal office in Lyttleton, Centurion.

Inside room D29, another door leading to a separate office – the boss' office. Blessing Yassir Manale is the mouth, mayor Kgosientso Ramokgopa's spokesperson and director of communications.

Golden words drip from the 41-year old's mouth, most carefully crafted to spin his principal and the city to peachy light.

He sits behind his polished wooden desk dressed in formal suit, moustache neatly trimmed. Some people refer to him as the city's Clark Gable.

"Coffee?" Blessing asks. "Champagne, please," I reply. His moustache twitches as he smiles: "Sorry, this is not Nkandla. Fortunately we have Nescafé." I accept.

The phone rings. "It is for you, Mr Manale," the secretary, as petite and refined as an African Barbie, says as she peeps into the office; "a journalist from Mail & Guardian is on the line." He waves his hand... "Tell him I will phone back, please," he says.

Will you, Mr. Manale? I wonder to myself... Blessing is well-known for his jovial personality and cunning, but not for keeping to deadlines. Sometimes he doesn't return calls, yet others he will just ignore the endless list of questions from journalists.

Blessing, could you please come back to me as soon as possible? Blessing, what is going on with the water pipes in Waterkloof? Blessing, why did...? Blessing, Blessing, Blessing...

A never-ending stream of emails to his computer, never-ending phone calls from journalist asking questions that he does not have answers to...not easy to be a mayoral spokesperson for the third biggest metropolis in the world...

"I sometimes do not reply to questions as I do not want to lie to the media. The mayor is a difficult, difficult man. I want to be his advisor, but he is doing his own thing.

"He [the mayor] is a hard worker, but he is not a cut and paste person. And when he is angry, all hell breaks loose."

Yes, it is not an easy job to be the mayoral spokesperson...

"I want to be his eyes and ears. I need to supply the media his speech – but he keeps on changing his speeches," he says.

And then there's the endless flak from the citizens as well. Some despise the mayor. And there is also the daily pomposity of DA members to deal with.

And as if he does not have enough on his already full plate, he made – sometime last year – the famous foot in the mouth blunder that kept his face red for weeks...

An email inadvertently sent out in which he promises to fob off a journalist and attack the civil rights organisation AfriForum. He had received a set of questions from a journalist to which he commented: "Please send me any general report. I will spin and spew at AfriForum in one paragraph."

But instead of forwarding to colleagues, it appears AfriForum became the recipient. Blunder!

And then there was the Bronwynn Engelbrecht-saga. The mayor had been rude to her at a council meeting. Engelbrecht flipped. The DA flipped and Blessing had to put out the fires.

"I did not know what to tell the media... it was the mayor's personal opinion."

The media still awaits his "spin and spew" on that one too.

He is just human, after all.

Blessing was born into a Muslim family in Limpopo, a stone's throw from the University of Limpopo. As the little nine-year-old, he would look at the university thinking: "I want to be a doctor one day – but a doctor without a medical degree." Maths was not one of his strongest subjects, but this boytie was clever – he skipped a grade – and he could spin stories from left to right so he decided to study law.

He obtained his LLB-degree and then high-profile jobs followed: special advisor to Vice-Chancellor of the University of Western Cape, deputy director of communications, director for international co-operation, chief director of environmental planning and cooperation.

But the bug bit so he later chose to stay with communications.

Though Blessing is a loyal member of the ANC, he is tired of Nkandla, tired of the Gupta-scandals and tired of corruption that's bringing the country to its knees.

He loves Afrikaners – he can speak, read and write Afrikaans fluently. After all, he stays in Elardus Park, a very Afrikaans neighbourhood in the east of Pretoria.

Blessing believes the ANC will win the municipal election next year.

"Where is the DA going to get votes [from]?" he asks

"I love Pretoria. It is the first bastion of the democratic country."

Did he just use that dreaded word, Pretoria?

"Pretoria is youthful and vibrant and the city should be inclusive," he says, switching to golden words. "Pretoria is the best city in South Africa and people must realise this is the capital city – not Johannesburg or Cape Town."

In the evenings, when he is done chastising annoying journalists and advising the mayor, he goes home to his wife and three children.

Already a holder of a master's degree, maybe that "doctor without a medical degree" is still possible.

"Well, have a blessed day, Blessing," I say as I walk out.

Blessing Manale – the man with the golden words.

Tickets for Dark Places with Charlize

South African born Oscar-winner Charlize Theron continues to impress with powerful roles that defy the norms and limits set for actresses in the past.

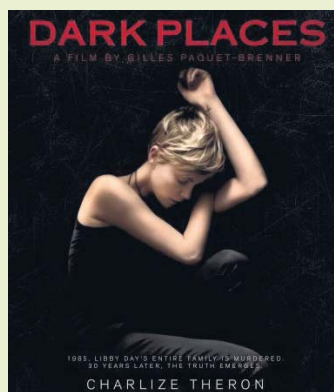

After making jaws drop with her role in the cutting-edge apocalyptic action thriller Mad Max earlier this year, she is back on the big screen in Dark Places.

This dramatic new mystery thriller is now showing at Nu Metro Menlyn Park and other cinemas nationwide.

Libby Day (Charlize Theron) was only seven years old when her mother and two sisters were brutally murdered in their rural Kansas farmhouse.

In court, the traumatised child pointed the finger at her brother, Ben, and her testimony put the troubled 16-year-old in prison for life.

Twenty-five years later, a broke and desperate Libby has run through donations from a sympathetic public and royalties from her sensational autobiography, without ever moving past the events of that night.

When Libby accepts a fee to appear at a gathering of true-crime aficionados led by Lyle Wirth, she is shocked to learn most of them believe Ben is innocent and the real killer is still at large.

Needing money, she reluctantly agrees to help them re-examine the crime by revisiting the worst moments of her life.

But, as Libby and Lyle dig deeper into the circumstances surrounding the murders, her recollections start to unravel and she is forced to question exactly what she saw – or didn't see.

As long-buried memories resurface, Libby begins to confront the wrenching truths that led to that horrific night.

The film is based on the book Dark Places by Gillian Flynn – the bestselling author of Gone Girl.

Rekord and Nu Metro have two double tickets to give away. To enter the competition, visit Rekord's websites.

Cupcakes to build hope

Dominique du Plessis

Childhood cancer is devastating and sadly something many in South Africa and across the capital city are dealing with.

Cupcakes of HOPE, a non-profit company that aims to raise awareness and money for families in need of medical assistance, is spreading the love through their love of cupcakes.

It hosts several events throughout the year, but the main event is National Cupcake Day 4 Kids with Cancer, which is set to be held on 26 September this year.

This is an entirely community-driven project and an amazing event that brings the public together for a great cause – fighting childhood cancer and, of course, enjoying cupcakes.

There are a number of ways to become involved.

Schools could register to support the cause and host their own Party of Hope.

Pretoria malls involved are: Atterbury Value Mart, Kolonnade Retail Park, Kolonnade shopping centre, The Grove and Woodlands Boulevard.

Non-bakers can also get involved by volunteering, or by donating products towards the day's event.

You can participate simply by buying a few of the cupcakes.

Last year's event, the third annual Cupcake Day 4 Kids with Cancer, took place at a whopping 55 malls across the country, raising R1,2 million for children with cancer.

Follow us on social media and check out our websites for more information on this great cause and as cupcake recipes, tales of brave little cancer survivors, and to find out how you can get involved.

Property ownership hinges on your savings

Statistics from the SA Savings Institute show the average household debt to disposable income ratio last year, is around 78.3%.

This means a majority of consumers are unable to put money aside for savings because of indebtedness.

Adrian Goslett, regional director and CEO of RE/MAX Southern Africa, says compared to other emerging markets, South Africa is considered to have a low savings rate.

"The result of a low savings culture among consumers is few have the cash reserves to make large purchases and will therefore be forced to rely on financial institutions to loan them the money.

"This once again pushes up their debt-to-income ratio and will mean they are viewed by lenders as less creditworthy.

"A consumer with high debt is classified by lenders as higher risk and therefore, will be charged a higher interest rate on their bond, if it is approved at all."

Those who do not currently have savings but would like to purchase a property in the future, will need to make some financial adjustments to start putting money aside.

"With electricity tariffs and the general cost of living rising, it is becoming increasingly difficult for potential buyers to prepare for purchasing a property which will include lowering their debt and saving for additional costs not covered by the lender. This highlights the extreme importance of personal financial planning."

Since the introduction of the National Credit Act in 2007, affordability has been a key focus for potential buyers.

While it was commonplace for buyers to secure home loan finances without some form of a deposit pre-2007, in today's market most buyers will need to show they have a portion of the home's purchase price saved up in cash.

Ideally buyers should have about 10% to 30% of the purchase price saved up, along with the other costs associated with a property purchase such as transfer duty and attorney fees.

During 2007, the bond approval rate was around 70%, however this dropped to approximately 28% the following year.

Over the last seven years, consumers have grown more accustomed to bond approval requirements.

Bond origination group, BetterLife Home Loans, says only 29% of home loan applications submitted to lenders in the first quarter of this year, were declined outright.

This is an improvement from the 32% a year ago, and 38% during the first quarter of 2013.

"It must be noted, however, while there has been an improvement in bond approval statistics, it does not mean banks have eased up on lending requirements."

Lending criteria remains stringent with banks placing a high emphasis on a buyer's affordability.

When assessing a bond application, the overall picture of the client's credit history is taken into account, including aspects such as the total amount of credit outstanding as well as the applicant's ability to pay off debt.

There are several ways in which consumers can show higher levels of affordability:

- Seek the expertise of a professional financial adviser and planner, who can assist with a personal finance plan,
- Create a budget which includes savings and stick to it,
- Avoid buying luxury or unnecessary items,
- Shop around, comparing prices to find the best value,
- Stay away from credit, rather pay cash whenever possible,
- Review all policies and medical aids annually to ensure you are getting the best possible deal,
- Go green to save on electricity and water costs.

"Those who are able to cut down on their spending and reduce their household debt-to-income levels will be in a far better position to show the required affordability level to purchase a home.

Although it requires discipline and may be difficult at first, consumers will need to initiate a finance plan that works for them to keep their homeownership dreams alive," Goslett says.

Beware of buying the wrong house

You can return most things you buy if you discover it does not fit or does not work. But if you buy the wrong home, chances are that you will be stuck with it for several years – or have to pay quite a price to correct your mistake.

However, says Richard Gray, CEO of Harcourts Real Estate, there are some tried-and-tested preventative measures for what is known in the real estate industry as "buyer's remorse" and it is worth running through these before you go house-hunting.

"A recent study in the UK revealed about one new buyer in 10 regrets their choice to some degree, with the most common cause of their dissatisfaction being the feeling they could perhaps have got a better deal if they had taken more time to choose.

"We agree, you really should not buy the first house you see – or at least not until you have had time to think about it and compare it to several others.

"You need to feel confident the home you are buying is good value and will meet your needs at this time of your life.

"Getting caught up in a bidding war early on in your home search can also lead to emotional decisions."

He says other reasons buyers may suffer remorse include not liking the new neighbours, finding their new home is too small, finding their new home requires more work than they expected and finding their bond payments put them under financial strain.

With this in mind, Harcourts has the following advice for prospective buyers:

- Think carefully about what you need from a property, and may need five or 10 years from now.
- Double check your finances to make sure you can comfortably afford the bond payment and the ongoing costs of homeownership.
- Research the area you are considering.
- Visit the home you are considering to buy at different times of the day.
- Stay focused on your priorities. "Don't let a lovely entertainment area blind you to a floor plan that won't suit you," Gray advises.
- "Try to find the home that most closely matches your original wishlist, within your budget.
- "It is not worth buying a home you can't afford as it will very likely prevent you from reaching other financial goals."

Lions beat the Titans to lift eKasi

Eliot Mahlase

The Unlimited Titans, led by former Proteas all-rounder Albie Morkel, lost to the Bizhub Highveld Lions at the Mamelodi cricket oval on Wednesday.

The Bizhub Highveld Lions won the ODI match by four wickets thanks to a brilliant knock from Qaasim Adams.

The Titans opened the innings looking for a good start, but Aiden Markram's run-out in the fifth over put the Titans on 10-1. Next to follow was Theunis de Bruyn, he was bowled LBW by Sean Jamison on 6.

Henry Davids, who looked superb for the Titans was outdone by a brilliant Eddie Leie delivery as he failed to connect. Davids was bowled for 34 with the Titans on 59-3 in the 18th over.

The Titans innings was restored by Adams and Albie Morkel as they saw the Titans over 200 in the 44th over. Adams, however, was unable to get to his 93 as Shaylen Pillay bowled him out with a perfect yorker.

Titans eventually finished on 244 in their 50 overs, setting the Lions up with a 245 target to win.

The Lions started like a house on fire with both Stephen Cook and Rassie van der Dussen hitting boundaries left, right and centre. They put together a partnership of 64 before Van der Dussen was sent packing by the bowling of Lungi Ngidi, caught by Mangaliso Mosehle. Cook went on to reach his half-century but was caught later on 61 when he tried to pull Ehy Mhlati.

The Lions continued to build on the momentum and in the end wicketkeeper batsman Thami Tsolekile saw the team over the line with his unbeaten 44.

The win ensured the Lions holding on to the eKasi challenge trophy for the third time.

Aaron Phangiso of the Lions said the game was fantastic and thanked the spectators for coming in numbers to support the event.

Teams win big in the 2015 national champs

Koos Venter

The Pretoria Military Volleyball Club has again given a good account of themselves at the recent annual South African National Defence Force 2015 Volleyball Championships.

This event was held in Cape Town and the club sent three teams to represent Gauteng.

In the women's divisions, the Gauteng team won the bronze medal after ending in third place.

Both the master's men team and the senior men team achieved first position and received gold medals.

This was the fourth year in a row that the senior men's team has won a gold medal.

These men played against the team of the Northern Cape in the final match.

Their opponents took the first two sets and were leading in the third set eight points to two points.

Slowly the team from Gauteng started to fire on all cylinders and started taking back the lead and finally managed to win in a nail-biter three sets against two.

The team from Gauteng was appointed as the best-dressed team, looking and playing like professionals, thanks to a sponsorship from McCarthy General Motors in Silverton.

Six players of the team were selected for the different National Defence Force teams afterwards.

Coach Billy Coetzee was selected as the national team coach and Rudolph du Plessis as manager.

Four individual trophies were also won by the following players:

- Pine Pienaar - best blocker senior division.
- Albert Mashele - best spiker senior division.
- Naresh Lalla - best setter master division.
- Bion van Rooyen - best blocker master division.

The senior men team of the Pretoria Military Volleyball Club won the gold medal in their division at the recent South African National Defence Force Volleyball Championships. In front, from left, are Francois Cilliers, Lyndon Dace, Thabo Tholwe and Eddy Molwantwa. In the back, from left are: Billy Coetzee (coach), Pine Pienaar (vice-captain), Tyson Njomo, KC Moshe, Sbo Phungula, Albert Mashele (captain) and Rudolph du Plessis (manager).

Connie du Toit (links) hou die baber vas wat sy vrou, Celia (regs), uitgetrek het by die Irene Country Lodge-dam. Hulle het deelgeneem aan die Ramcat-hengelkompetisie vir gestremdes. Dit was Celia se tweede vis van die dag.

Blink lywe by die dosyne

Koos Venter

Elke hengelaar het sy eie geheime resep vir aas saamgebring, maar verlede Saterdag was die karp en katvisse (babers) skynbaar uitgehonger in die dam van die Irene Country Lodge en hulle het sommer enige aas gevat.

Ten neges-uur die oggend het deelnemers aan Ramcat se hengelkompetisie vir gestremdes gesamentlik meer as 50 visse uitgetrek en oral was daar steeds uitrope van "ek het hom!" of "kom help, ek het 'n byt!"

Dan moes die gestremde hengelaars seelpers bontstaan om die visse aan wal te bring, want veral die babers was moeilike kalante wat lekker baklei het.

Rekord was net betyds om te sien hoe Celia du Toit haar tweede baber van die dag uittrek.

Sy was baie opgewonde toe die vis haar lyn vat, maar toe hul helper dit vir haar wou aangee om daarmee vir 'n foto te poseer, wou Celia niks weet nie.

"Nee wat, hy is 'n bietjie grilliger," was haar kommentaar.

Celia en haar man Connie, is albei aan rolstoel gekluister, maar dit keer hulle nie om die lewe te geniet nie.

Behalwe vir hul uitstap na die viswa-ters het hulle ook al saam tennis en basketbal gespeel. Die egpaar is van Rietvalleirand.

Gerard Smal, hooforganiseerder van die kompetisie, het aan Rekord gesê die kompetisie groei jaarliks in gewildheid.

Meer as 80 gestremdes soos die Du Toit-egpaar het Saterdag vanoor die hele Gauteng en ook van ander provinsies saamgetrek om deel te neem aan die jaarlikse kompetisie wat Ramcat spesiaal vir gestremdes reël.

Die rolstoel het in 'n lang tou aan die suidekant van Irene Country Lodge se dam gestaan en oral is daar heerlijk gekuier.

Sommige helpers het spesiaal opgedaag net om die dag vir die gestremde hengelaars so maklik en gerieflik as moontlik te maak.

Almal is deur die dag getraakteer met heerlike kos uit die lodge se kombuis, terwyl kelniers ook drankies en versnaperinge aangedra het.

Uiteindelik was dit onbelangrik oor wie die kompetisie gewen het, hoewel daar vroeg reeds 'n 5kg karp uitgetrek is.

Byna almal het iets gevang en dit was boonop weer 'n geleentheid vir ou vriende om te kuier, terwyl nuwe vriendskappe gesmee is.

Verskeie pryse was beskikbaar, nadat die borge weer ruim bygedra het.

Gholfavonturier slaan balle vanaf warmlugballon

Koos Venter

Pretoria se bekende gholf-avonturier het verlede week by Hartbeespoortdam waarskynlik sy waaghalsigste avontuur tot dusver aangepak in 'n poging om nóg 'n wêreldrekord agter sy naam te skryf.

Heinrich du Preez het op 'n piepklein houtplatform aan die buitekant van 'n warmlugballon gestaan toe hy op 'n hoogte van 1 000 voet gholfballe met sy ses-yster na die Pecanwoodgholfbaan onder hom geslaan het.

Du Preez is bekend as 'n avonturier wat in die verlede al baie waaghalsige en opwindende dinge gedoen het om sy meer as 30 gholf-verwante wêreld-rekords op te stel.

Verskeie van hierdie rekords word amptelik deur die Guinness book of records erken.

Sy jongste avontuur was egter 'n waagstuk wat vergelyk kan word met dinge wat professionele waaghalse sou doen.

In samewerking met Conrad van

Wyk en sy span van Life Ballooning in Hartbeespoort, het Du Preez 'n platform van hout ontwerp wat aan die buitekant van een van dié maatskappye se warmlugballon-mandjies vasgeheg is.

Dié platform was net groot genoeg vir Du Preez om daarop te staan, terwyl 'n klein strokie kunstras voorop geplak is waar hy die gholfballe kon plaas om dit vanuit die lugruim te slaan.

Du Preez is met 'n harnas aan die lugballon se mandjie vasgemaak, terwyl hy op die platform gaan staan het voordat dit sou opstyg.

Ses mediaverteenwoordigers was in die lugballon-mandjie om die skouspel te dokumenteer, waaronder 'n joernalis van Rekord, asook 'n lid van Du Preez se ondersteuningspersoneel, sy vrou Megan, en die vlieënier, Van Wyk.

Van Wyk het die lugballon tot op 'n hoogte van 1 000 voet laat styg, vanwaar Du Preez verskeie balle met sy ses-yster geslaan het om sodoende die eerste persoon ter wêreld te word wat dit kon regkry.

Ná 'n vlug van sowat 30 minute bokant die Hartbeespoortdam-omgewing het Van Wyk die lugballon weer veilig op moeder aarde geland.

Intussen het die res van sy personeel gereed gestaan met vonkelwyn om die prestasie te vier.

Soos al Du Preez se rekordopgavings, was hierdie waaghalsige toertjie weer nie net ter wille van homself nie.

Met hierdie avontuur is sy veldtog, 'Golfing for Teddy', van stapel gestuur.

Verskeie bekende persoonlikhede sal in hierdie veldtog met Du Preez saamwerk, terwyl hy voor Desember vanjaar in al nege die provinsies 'n rondte gholf gaan speel om geld in te samel vir die projek.

Aan die einde van die projek sal honderde spesiale 'pratende' teddiebears aangeskaf word.

Dis speelgoed sal dan tydens die Kersseisoen aan kinders en ander hospitaalspasiente regoor die land uitgedeel word.

Op 1 000 voet (sowat 300 meter) bo die grond en met die wolke wat onder die warmlugballon hang, maak Heinrich du Preez gereed om gholfballe van sy spesiale platform af te slaan.

Oud-Pretorianer speel vir Roemenië in RWB

Koos Venter

In 2005 was Johan van Heerden vir die rugby-owerhede in Pretoria maar net nog 'n matrikseun.

Hy is nie eens goed genoeg geag om na die Cravenweek-proewe genooi te word nie.

Hy was in 'n skool waar sy kanse byna nul sou wees om ooit deur een van die 'kenners' raakgesien te word.

Die afgelope naweek het Johan saam met die nasionale span van Roemenië op 'n vliegtuig geklim, onderweg na die rugby-wêreldbekertoernooi (RWB).

Hy het 'n week gelede teen Tonga in sy eerste toets vir dié land gespeel en word tans beskou as die beste slot in Roemenië.

Dié land is tans 17e op die Internasionale Rugbyraad se ranglys en word beskou as die sewende beste rugbyland in Europa.

Van Heerden se rugbyloopbaan-storie is die soort materiaal wat Hollywood-skywers inspireer, maar dit is ook 'n les aan elke rugbyspeler wat weens verskeie redes in die Suid-Afrikaanse opset nooit 'n regverdige kans gekry het nie.

Van Heerden se verhaal gee hoop aan elkeen wat bereid is om in homself te glo, op te offer en hard te werk om sy doelwitte te bereik.

Dié reus van 1.96 meter, wat 115kg weeg, moes as matrikseun tevrede wees om by die AVS se Bokkieweek uit te draf, aangesien hy as leerling van Hoërskool Hercules nooit regtig 'n kans gehad het om deur die Bloubul-skolekeurders raakgesien te word nie.

Neels Grobler, wat destyds nog by die Tukkies-rugbyakademie betrokke was, het hom egter gesien speel en reëlins getref dat hy die volgende jaar by dié akademie aansluit.

Vanuit die Tukkies rugbyakademie het

“Iewers sal daar vir jou 'n deur oopgaan en dan moet jy jou kans met albei hande aangryp.”

Van Heerden die geleentheid gekry om aan die Pumas se 0.21 proewe deel te neem, wat hy met albei hande aangegryp het.

Hy het twee jaar vir die Pumas se juniors uitgedraf en in die tweede jaar as 20-jarige ook 'n paar wedstryde vir hul Curriebeker-span onder die afrigting van Jimmy Stonehouse gespeel.

In 2008 het Stonehouse hom 'n senior kontrak aangebied, maar na een seisoen het 'n ernstige besering sy loopbaan bedreig.

Nadat hy byna 'n hele seisoen op die kantlyn deurgebring het, is Van Heerden vir die Griffons (Welkom) geleen, waar hy uiteindelik twee frustrerende seisoene deurgebring het.

Van Heerden het egter groter gedroom en hy het sy rugby-CV aan 'n agent gestuur in die hoop om iewers in Europa 'n kans te kry.

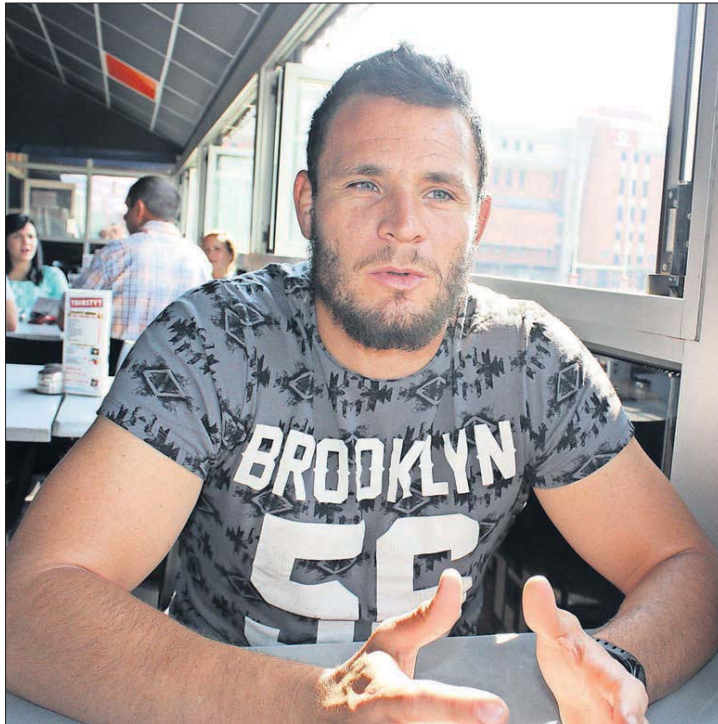

Al wat die agent beskikbaar gehad het, was 'n kans om vir die Baia Mare-klub in die noorde van Roemenië te gaan speel.

Dit is een van die twee groot klubs in hierdie Oos-Europese land, wat eers onlangs aan professionele wedstryde begin deelneem het.

Hy het die kans aangegryp en 'n kontrak met Baia Mare geteken. Kort voor lank is hy ook gekies vir die Buchrest Wolfes, 'n streekspan wat deelneem aan die European Challenge Cup, waar hy teen topklubs uit Engeland, Frankryk, Skotland, Ierland, Wallis en Italië gespeel het.

In dié liga het Van Heerden die afgelope drie jaar nie net gereeld teen Springbokke gespeel nie, maar hy kon ook sy eie vermoë toets teen sommige van die wêreld se beste spelers.

Hy het só goed van homself rekenskap gegee in Roemenië se plaaslike rugby, asook in die European Challenge Cup, dat die nasionale rugbysowerhede onmiddellik voelers begin uitsteek het om hom langer in die land te laat bly toe hulle uitvind dat hy 'n paar weke voor die wêreldbekertoernooi sou kwalifiseer om vir Roemenië te kan speel.

Johan van Heerden het met Rekord gesels kort nadat hy gehoor het hy is gekies om Roemenië in die rugby-wêreldbekertoernooi te verteenwoordig.

Intussen is Van Heerden met sy Suid-Afrikaanse verlooofde getroud en in Baia Mare gevestig.

Hy het ook die unieke taal van Roemenië aangeleer en deesdae is hy danksy sy kookwater spel op die rugbyveld 'n nasionale held in dié land.

Hy was op skool ook 'n goeie atleet, wat beteken dat hy een van die vinnigste voor- en agter- en flankers was. Daarom speel hy soms ook flank, maar vanweë sy uitstekende lynstanspel word hy in die nasionale span as slot beskou.

Hy het al verskeie bekende slotte opge-dreun in die European Challenge Cup-wedstryde.

Van Heerden sê dat hy baie gelukkig in Roemenië is en dat hy een van sy kinderdrome sal bewaarheid om vanjaar in die wêreldbekertoernooi uit te draf.

Roemenië speel boonop in dieselfde afdeling as Frankryk, Ierland en Italië, wat beteken dat hy teen topslotte te staan sal kom.

Hy wil sy spel by die wêreldbeker aan sy ma opdra, wat dood is enkele dae voor hy gehoor het hy is vir Roemenië gekies.

Hoewel hy nie beplan om gou te skuif nie, sal hy seker oorweging skenk aan een van die ryk klubs in Engeland of Frankryk hom 'n kontrak aanbied.

Johan van Heerden, oudleerling van Hoërskool Hercules, op die oefenveld in Roemenië.

Vir Van Heerden gaan sy rugbyloopbaan oor baie meer as geld.

Hy glo hy het iets bewys deur dit wat hy reggekry het.

Van Heerden sou graag 'n ambassadeur wou wees vir elke jong seun wat in Suid-Afrika die slagoffer is van die stelsel, waar rugbyspelers uit klein skole en sekere gebiede nie ernstig opgeneem word deur die manne met die baadjies en die dasse nie.

Sy raad aan elke jong seun is dus om in homself te glo en aan te hou om hard te werk wat ookal sy agtergrond.

“Iewers sal daar vir jou 'n deur oopgaan en dan moet jy jou kans met albei hande aangryp...”

Bulle leer waardevolle lesse

Koos Venter

Ná die afgelope naweek se nederlaag van 28-36 teen die Goue Leeus is daar heelwat Bloubul-ondersteuners wat skielik weer in sak en as sit oor die vertoning van hul span.

Dit is egter nodig om perspektief te kry oor die afgelope naweek se gebeure en om dan die situasie in geheel te beskou voordat die sambokke somer weer uitgehaal word.

Weke gelede het die Blou Bulle se af-rigter, Nollis Marais reeds openlik en eerlik aan die media gesê dat hy aanvaar dat sy spelers gaan foute maak in die proses waarin hulle 'n nuwe spelstyl onder die knie kry.

Hy het ook duidelik gesê hy aanvaar dat hulle op pad na sukses ook wedstryde sal verloor, maar sy voorwaarde was dat sy spelers lesse moet leer uit hul foute en dat daar 'n verbetering in hul spelkurwe moet wees.

Marais het Saterdag na die wedstryd geen geheim daarvan gemaak nie dat hy teleurgesteld is in die span se vertoning tydens daardie ramspoedige eerste helfte.

Hy het gepraat oor akkuraatheid en fokus wat nie op standaard was nie.

Marais was egter nie misnoedig nie. Hy het gesê dat hierdie nederlaag waarskynlik 'n tydige waarskuwing is dat probleemgebiede in die span se mondering nou reggestel moet word.

Hy het dit baie duidelik gemaak dat die vaste skrumms besig is om 'n krisis vir die spanbestuur te word en daarom kan drastiese stappe in sy spankeuses in dié afdeling vermag word.

Ten spyte van Marais se duidelike teleurstelling, was daar tog ook 'n mate van selfvertroue by hom te bespeur. Op die keper beskou kan dit ook verstaan word.

Marais besef waarskynlik die een feit wat baie ondersteuners miskyk – as hierdie jong span só kan terugveg nadat hulle vyf minute voor rustyd 30-0 agter was teen die guns-

Die rateltaai Springbok-flank van die Blou Bulle, Deon Stegmann, het Saterdag gewys dat niemand hom durf afskryf as "oor die muur" nie. Stegmann se spel was 'n opening toe hy in die laaste halfuur op die veld gekom het en byna man-alleen die Leeus by die afbreekpunte verniel het.

tellinge om vanjaar die Curriebeker te wen, skuil daar waarskynlik potensiaal in die Blou Bulle van 2015 wat 'n nuwe goue era op Loftus Versfeld kan inlui.

In perspektief gesien het die Leeus ná Saterdag se wedstryd waarskynlik meer om oor bekommerd te wees as die Bulle.

Al moet 'n mens erken dat hulle met enorme intensiteit gespeel het in daardie eerste 35 minute, sal selfs die grootste ondersteuner van Johan Ackermann se span moet erken dat hulle ook 'n mate van geluk aan hul kant gehad het.

Gehalte spelers soos Marcel van der Merwe en Dries Swanepoel sal waarskynlik nie elke Saterdag die amateuragtige foute maak soos dié wat tot Franco Mostert en Ruan Combrinck se drie gelei het nie.

Dan sal enige kenner ook kan getuig dat Marius van der Westhuizen se hantering van die wedstryd soms baie vreemd was.

Veral sy beslissings by die vaste skrumms in die eerste twintig minute van die wedstryd en die wyse waarop hy die Leeus se agterlyn met moord laat weggom het op die onkantlyn, was ooglopend.

Die Blou Bulle het aanvanklik ook baie beter gelyk in die vaste skrumms, maar Van der Westhuizen het waarskynlik vooraf besluit dat die Leeus se sterk skrum die geveg sou wen en daarom het hy die Bulle soms op vreemde wyse daár gestraf.

Dat die Blou Bulle wel sukkel in die vaste skrumms, is 'n feit.

Dit lyk egter al hoe meer na 'n probleem wat met die vaste vyf as geheel uitgesorteer moet word.

Daar sal egter wel dringend gekyk moet word na meer diepte in die voorry.
